Admiral Harris Is Guest Here

Pensacola Commander Visits Classmates

Admiral Dale Harris, commanding officer of the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Florida, was the guest Wednesday of two of his former Wyoming Seminary classmates, Dr. John Kulp, Wilkes-Barre dentist, and his roommate, Howard Risley,

A former Laceyville, Wyoming County, boy, Admiral Harris is a veteran aviator having been engaged in Naval aviation ever since his graduation from Annapolis after completing Wyoming Seminary in

He has commanded several carriers and served four periods on the administrative staff at Pensacola, the most recent as commanding officer, which he calls: "One of the finest assignments the Navy has to offer." Then he added "I get tremendous satisfaction out of working with these youngsters-boys with a minimum of two years college training-who are on their way toward becoming Naval aviators. One of my greatest pleasures has been pinning wings on 1,600 of them. I meet them, now and then, here, there and all over the world."

Admiral Harris will return to sea duty on Monday taking command of one of the Navy's largest carriers at Norfolk, Virginia. After touching Philadelphia and New York early this fall, he will take the carrier to the Mediterranean.

Of his Wyoming Seminary days when he was a star of the basketball and baseball teams, he had this to say: "I learned more trigonometry from Sherm Schooley than from any of the instructors. He was a great guy with a good brain and he showed me the way."

A close, personal friend of Arthur Godfrey whom he has frequently visited at his Virginia farm, Admiral Harris signed the leave that permitted Julius LaRosa to leave his ship for a try-out with Godfrey in New York.

Harris said he was thrilled last fall to find eight Wyoming Seminary graduates on the Naval Academy football team-"and we had a good team last year you'll have to
