Once Taught In One-Room School

Mrs. Anna Myers Passes Away At 85

Services for Mrs. Anna Christine Myers, Dallas, were held Monday afternoon from the Williams Funeral Home, Rev. William H. Heapps officiating. Burial was in Forty Fort Cemetery. Pallbearers were Merle and Elwood Conden, Basil Lord, William Evans, Dr. William Myers, and Gerald Frantz.

Mrs. Myers, 85, died at the Hillcrest Home Thursday morning after an illness of three years. Six years ago she moved from her former home in Kingston to live with her daughter, Mrs. Nelson R. Thompson, Shrine Acres.

Mrs. Myers taught in the one-room schoolhouse in Dallas Township at the time her father and mother, the late A. Henry and Minerva Robinson Dudley, lived on a farm in the Old Fair Ground area. She was born in Wolcott, N. Y., graduated from Wyoming Seminary, and attended Syracuse University where she studied art for two years. Last year she received the Golden Certificate from her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mrs. Myers always treasured the old school bell with which she summoned pupils from their play, and a larger hand-bell used by her mother when she taught in the West. Another prized possession was an original photograph of Abraham Lincoln, and a small painting of George Washington and his wife.

Her husband, the late Fred Madison Myers, Kingston architect, died in 1950.

In addition to her daughter, supervisor of thread-drawing at Natona Mills, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, of Kingston, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Ella Hazlett Dies Aged 84

Mrs. Ella Hazlett, Sweet Valley, was buried Monday afternoon in Maple Grove Cemetery, following services conducted by Rev. Ira Button from the home. Pallbearers were Arlo Davenport, Ralph Naugle, Arden and Kenneth Hunter, R. Davenport, and Harold Culver.

Mrs. Hazlett, 84, died Friday night in her own home. She was born in Sweet Valley, daughter of the late Alonzo and Martha Post Davenport, and spent most of her life there.

She belonged to the Church of Christ.

She is survived by her husband, Frank, now 87; a daughter, Mrs. Luther Hunter, Sweet Valley; a son, Harold Freeman, Hunlock Creek; grandchildren: Mrs. Harold Culver, Bloomingdale; Mrs. Harold Cornell, Pikes Creek; Kenneth Hunter, Dallas; Sgt. Arden Hunter, Fort Devens, Mass.; five great grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Anna Hoover, Sweet Valley, also a member of the Eighty-Plus Club.

Harold O. Hogg Buried Monday

Formerly Master Of London Station

Harold O. Hogg, Huntsville, was buried in Huntsville Cemetery Monday afternoon. Rev. Thomas Hughes, First Welsh Baptist Church, Edwardsville, officiated at services held from the Williams Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Thomas Jones, William R. Lewis, William Laity, George Reimiller, Owen Williams, and Spurgeon Handley.

Mr. Hogg, 55, passed away Friday morning at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Fielding, Follies Road, after four months of increasing illness.

A native of London, Mr. Hogg was master of Euston Station, one of the largest railway stations in London at the time he left England for the United States three years ago. For the sake of reuniting the Fielding family in this country, he sacrificed a career while at the top, and took a position as lace operator at Natona Mills. His wife is the former Janet Fielding.

As a young man Mr. Hogg was assistant at a small railway station in Wales, where he boarded with the Fielding family and met his future wife.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fielding came to this country in 1930 with eight of their nine children. Mr. Fielding died a few months after settling in the Back Mountain. The Fielding family is well known and closely knit. John Fielding is a Jackson Township school director, Ed Fielding proprietor of a Beauty Shop in Trucksville. Others are Sydney, Ronald, Fred, Mrs. Charles Lawson, Mrs. David Rogers, Mrs. Kenneth Jones. Mrs. Hogg plans to remain with her mother.

There are two children, William, 27, and Mary Evelyn, 14, a student at Lehman.

Stanley Davies, Dallas, Loses Sister In Death

Stanley B. Davies, Church Street, lost his sister in the death of Mrs. Ward Davenport of Wilkes-Barre. Mrs. Davenport, widow of a former superintendent of Plymouth Spring Brook Water Company, died at Marshall Square Sanitarium, West Chester.

Funeral services were held from the Davies home on Parsonage Street Monday afternoon. Dr. Straw, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Plymouth, of which Mrs. Davenport was a lifelong member, officiated.

Center Moreland Native Dies In Newark Aged 69

Jesse R. Berlew, 69, native of Center Moreland, died at his home in Newark, N. J. of a sudden heart attack on Tuesday. He will be buried today in Eaton Cemetery, following services at the funeral home at 509 Wyoming Avenue, West Pittston.

Mr. Berlew was the son of the late David and Mary Winters Berlew. Employed by the Standard Oil Company, he resided in California before moving to Newark in 1940. He retired two years ago.
