Toppling Drill Lacerates Head

Lehman Shop Student Needs Six Stitches

Wardan Wesley, ninth grade student at Lehman-Jackson-Ross, sustained a deep head laceration Monday morning when a high-speed drill in the shop toppled and threw him against a table. Dr. H. A. Brown used six sutures in closing the wound at the back of the head.

Wardan and another ninth grade vocational agriculture student, Josiah Harrison, attempted to move the drill in the course of a volunteer cleaning campaign. The drill, rocked from side to side, fell on its apron. Wardan escaped being pinned to the floor by the half ton mechanism.

In the absence of Fred Schobert, instructor, ill at home, Lester Squier, supervising principal, had taken the precaution of disconnecting all electrical connections.

Of the six school children of Mr. and Mrs. George Wesley, Sweet Valley, only two have student insurance. Wardan was not protected by insurance.

Anthony Macri On Dean's List

Will Raise Herefords Upon Graduation

Anthony C. Macri, Jr., has made the Dean's List at Pennsylvania State University for the fourth time. A senior in animal husbandry, he expects upon graduation in June to make a life work of raising white-faced Hereford cattle on the family place on Route 115, half way between Pikes Creek and Ricketts Glen.

ANTHONY C. MACRI, JR.

Several years ago he and his father, Anthony Macri, Sr., started with two animals, purchased a registered bull calf from the Shawnee Hereford herd, and now have eight brood cows which will calve this spring. A family project was damming the creek, and building an outdoor shelter for the sturdy short-legged stock which prefer rugged weather to shelter in a barn.

The 125 acres, purchased in 1951 for summer occupancy, is now the permanent family home. The roof of the big stone house was raised, and a second story constructed of California Redwood by Whitesell Brothers.

Lois, the younger sister, now a student at Coughlin from which Anthony graduated four years ago with straight A's, and Ruth Ann, in training at Nesbitt Hospital, are delighted with the cattle raising project. Mrs. Macri tosses hay to the gentle bull in between feedings, and the entire family is enthusiastic about exchanging city life for the country.

Mr. Macri, Sr., a trucking contractor for the Acme Stores, expects eventually to abandon that employment and go in for full time farming.

On the first day of April there will be the first of a series of five onion-snows, each more unwelcome than the last, and on April 30 there will be a hard frost. Local goose-bone prophets may take it from there.

Steering Wheel Crushes Chest In Car Smash

On Critical List At Nesbitt After Skidding On Snow

Mrs. Leona Dodson, 40, Hunlock Creek RD, was seriously injured yesterday morning at 8 when her car struck a patch of ice at the concrete bridge at Forest Hills and crashed into a maple tree. Mrs. Dodson's chest was crushed by the steering wheel. She is on the critical list at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital.

The engine was forced back toward the driver's seat, and the windshield smashed. Doors, jammed by the collision, had to be pried open with crowbars to reach the victim. Mrs. Dodson was semi-conscious when rescued, suffering deeply from shock. She was taken to Kingston by the Bronson ambulance.

Senator Newell Wood, Mrs. Dodson's employer, vacationing in Florida, was informed by telephone, and her husband Glenn, employed at the Corning Glass Works, sent for. A daughter Beverly, boarding student at Wilkes College, went immediately to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Torrence Naugle heard the crash, investigated, and summoned Dr. Lewis Thomas and Alfred Bronson. Robert Morris was quickly on the scene, and Mrs. Joe Kipp. Assisting in the rescue was Peter Wolfe, Jr.

Mrs. Naugle accompanied Mrs. Dodson in the ambulance.

The Chevrolet sedan was completely wrecked.

Dana at Pole 51, Harveys Lake, escaped serious damage Wednesday morning at 10, when a plumber, working with carpenters at remodeling the summer home for year-round occupancy, climbed to the attic with a sink, and saw flames eating into the roof around the chimney. Carpenters who had stacked the huge fireplace with debris and set it alight, brought ladders and extinguished the fire with the garden hose. Primaries Promise To Be Interesting As Candidates Circulate Petitions

Seven Will Seek Tax Collector Job In Lehman Township Held By Mrs. Elston

George Jacobs Elected To Fill Board Vacancy

Succeeds Mrs. Eberle, Will Run For Office In May Primaries

GEORGE M. JACOBS

George M. Jacobs, Pioneer Avenue, Shavertown, was elected Monday night to fill the vacancy on the Kingston Township School Board caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Eberle.

Mr. Jacobs will be officially installed at a special meeting of the board in advance of the Dallas Area School Board meeting Tuesday night at Dallas-Franklin-Monroe Township school.

Mrs. Eberle, who would normally have run again for office, resigned because of an impending move to St. Louis April 15, when her husband will assume the assistant management of the St. Louis Branch of Building Products, Johns Manville Corporation. This is an important promotion for Mr. Eberle, who has been Northeast District Sales Representative for Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Eberle was elected in February, 1954, upon the resignation of Daniel Shaver, whose term would have expired November 31, 1957.

Mr. Jacobs, long interested in schools, is circulating a petition for election along with Charles Manner, whose term also expires, prior to the May primaries.

Mr. Jacobs, a native of Forty Fort and a graduate of Fort Fort High School, was in the first class of Bucknell Junior College in 1935, years before it attained four-year college status as Wilkes College. Later, he attended Bucknell University in Lewisburg.

He is sales manager for R. B. Wall Company, handling electrical and electronic products and parts.

Mr. Jacobs is a trustee of Shavertown Methodist Church, and serves on the official board. He is a member of George M. Dallas Lodge F. & A. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs moved to Shavertown twelve years ago. They have one boy, George H. Jacobs, in the eighth grade at Westmoreland High School.

Mrs. Jacobs, the former Irma Hewitt, of Forty Fort, graduated from Pratt Library Institute in Brooklyn, and served as a librarian in New York Public Library, and later at Osterhout in Wilkes-Barre. She, with her husband, is much interested in the Back Mountain schools and development of the culture of the community.

With the resignation of Mrs. Alice Elston, Lehman Tax Collector, to take effect May 1, a year before her term expires, many candidates are throwing their hats in the ring.

Some of whom have already circulated petitions, are Gilbert Tough, Hayfield Farm; Mrs. John Sponseller, Lehman; Mrs. Albert Ide; Mrs. Richard Morgan, home-bound teacher from Lake Silkworth; Mrs. William Simms, employed at Harveys Lake Light Company; William Casterline and Sheldon Cave, Idetown merchant.

Atty. Charles Miner, solicitor for the School Board, says the Court will have to appoint a tax-collector for the interim, but that names may be submitted by the School Board and the Township Supervisors to fill the unexpired term.

Samuel Rhoads and Dean Shaver will run again for Lehman School Board.

Dallas Borough

In Dallas Borough where two councilmen, two school directors, a tax collector and an auditor are to be elected, Republican petitions are in circulation for Council; Warden Kunkle, seeking reelection, Fred Welsh, seeking reelection, Elmer Williams and Ray Daring; for School Director, L. L. Richardson and Dr. Robert M. Bodycomb, both seeking reelection; for Tax Collector Arthur Dungey, seeking reelection; for Auditor Robert Moore, seeking reelection; for Burgess Nort Bert.

There are presently no Democratic positions in circulation although a full slate is expected for the Primaries. There is also a strong likelihood that there will also be other Republican candidates for the offices of Burgess and Council, where three are to be elected. Joseph Jewell, whose term on Council expires this year, will not seek reelection.

Dallas Township

In Dallas Township the terms of School Directors Philip Cheney and Thomas Moore expire. Mr. Cheney will seek reelection but Mr. Moore will retire to throw his hat in the ring for Tax Collector, a post held for the past sixteen years by Wilson Ryman. Mr. Ryman is undecided at the moment whether or not he will seek reelection.

The term of Justice of the Peace George Prater will also expire. Mr. Prater is undecided whether to seek reelection.

Philip Kunkle, the only supervisor whose term expires, will seek reelection.

Lake Township

Walter Hoover, supervisor, will seek reelection.

Frank Bialogowicz, whose appointment from Governor Leader to fill the unexpired term of the late Ralph Davis, will run for reelection on the Democratic ticket. On the Republican ticket, Harry Jones will oppose him.

Wilfred Ide and Charles Williams will seek reelection to the school board.

Calvin McHose, elected for two terms as tax collector and filling an unexpired term by appointment, will be opposed by Arthur Engler of Ruggles.

Kingston Township

In Kingston Township Tax Collector Theodore Poad will be opposed for the Republican nomination by Henry G. Kahnn of Trucksville. Supervisor Ralph Sands, seeking reelection will be opposed by Leroy Ziegler of Carverton Road.

Republican candidates for school director are to date: Charles Manner, William Davis, and George Jacobs.

Jackson Township

Terms of Jackson Township school directors Vernon Cease and Laing Coolbaugh will expire. Charles Frantz is circulating a petition for school director.

Wanted: Pictures Of Old Grist-Mill And Dam Construction At Huntsville

Mr. Kozemchak has a project, to reproduce old photographs of the area and make of them a book for the Back Mountain Memorial Library.

If response is sufficient, there may be a number of such books, which would preserve for future generations the early days of the Back Mountain. Interested residents who have deep-rooted foundations in the area might sponsor a volume, and dedicate it to a member of the family who had the interests of the community at heart, or who was closely identified with its early days.

The possibilities are almost unlimited. Mr. Kozemchak is willing to make up the books at cost, for the sake of preserving Americana of this region.

Pictures may be delivered to the Dallas Post. Each picture should have the name of the owner printed on its reverse side, and if possible a description or identification of people appearing in it. The pictures will not be harmed, and will be kept on file for return to owners. Not all pictures will be suitable, and there will inevitably be duplicates, but the wider the selection, the more interesting the volumes will be.
