Oak Hill

Hello, friends. Never again will we mention the weather—after today. One word from us about the advent of Spring and we practically have a blizzard!

One thing the bad weather cannot do is to prevent our taking a weekly Sunday ride about the Back Mountain area. One day, for instance, on a stretch of lonely country road, we noticed some rather large bear tracks in the newly fallen snow. That, of course, sharpened our interest and we began hunting for the owner of the tracks as we travelled along, ready at a moment's notice to leave the scene, should one such Bruin appear.

Last Sunday our ride proved quite productive, since we returned with a small bowl containing not one, but two, goldfish—Evan's Drug Store's best for 27c, complete with water plant and pebbles. The first choice of names was Daddy and Mommy, but since that did not seem to be appropriate, the final choice was George and Pete. And speaking of George, we wonder whatever happened to George Rabbit. Perhaps, should warm weather ever come, he will be warming up in our back yard for that game of tag so eagerly awaited by our young'un.

Notes of Interest
