

Martha Smith To Head PSEA

Area 6 Plans For Dinner At Castle

New officers for Area 6 PSEA elected at the March 21 meeting held at Dallas-Franklin-Monroe High School were: Martha Smith, Lake-Noxen, president; Edward Edwards, Lehman-Jackson-Ross, vice president; Barbara Clark, Westmoreland, treasurer; Ooe Austin, Dallas area, secretary.

Officers names were presented by Hannah Culp, chairman of the nominating committee. They will assume their duties as of July 1. Mrs. Smith succeeds Edgar Hughes as president.

Reports were given by George McCutcheon, on teachers' welfare; Anthony Marchakitus, new legislation; Robert Dolbear, public relations; John Carpenter, membership of PSEA and NEA; Mrs. Thelma Lamoreux, professional standards; John Miles, salaries. Mr. Dolbear gave a special report on the July 2 NEA convention in Philadelphia, saying that if there is sufficient demand from this area, a bus can be arranged for.

Ethel Schultz reported on the new constitution, which was accepted by the membership.

Lucy Valero, Pennsylvania State PSEA vice president, will speak at the annual dinner, scheduled for April 25 at The Castle. Miss Valero will take as her topic teacher relations throughout the world, and report on her recent world tour.

Beaumont Cub Scouts Act Out Indian Lore

Parents and friends of Beaumont Cub Scout Pack 555 enjoyed an interesting history lesson Saturday night when Indians from six tribes invaded the Beaumont School, built a campfire on the stage, and took paleface Douglas King, captive.

Taking part in the early evening raid were David Downs, a stalwart Iriquois; mighty Sioux hunters, Bobby Bellas and Alpha Hilbert; Paul Nulton 3rd, a wealthy Chinook; lightfooted Herbert Downs; merry-eyed Bobby Johnson, and black braided Danny Klamovich of the Maidu, Pueblo and Navajo tribes.

After a brief pow wow, accompanied by the sharing of cookies, the prisoner was released and presented with a belt of wampum. Then all smoked the peace pipe of friendship.

Herbert Downs is Cub Scout Master.

would rather use the money saved by the elimination of automobile accidents to improve the nation.

For example, say you wanted to solve the problem of our jammed schools. According to estimates of the United States government, more than 995,000 classrooms, costing a total of $16 billion, must be built within the next four years. Considering that it costs approximately $30,000 to build one schoolroom, the job of relieving our crowded schools is a staggeringly expensive one.

Yet, if automobile accidents were eliminated, the money saved would build all the classrooms necessary, and money for approximately 620,000 extra classrooms would be available.

Other things could be done with the money. For example, cancer research could be conducted forever with the money saved in just one year by the elimination of automobile accidents. Invested at normal interest rates, the $6,500,000,000 savings in one year would return twice as much as the amount now spent annually for all cancer research.

But no magic solution to the highway accident problem has been devised. More than $18,000,000 a day continues to be lost as speeding cars crash together all over the United States. And safety experts quietly concede that the crowded highways will continue to cost Americans billions of wasted dollars a year. About the only way you can save money is by devising ways for you to avoid accidents.
