CANCER LIFE-LINE

Throughout the nation, Americans are learning vital facts about cancer. Through films, pamphlets, posters, exhibits and lectures, via newspapers, magazines, radio and television, the life-line of cancer education is reaching more and more men and women.

All of us are concerned with the major threat which cancer poses. Today, thousands of lives are being saved each year, but many more would be saved if people went to their doctors in time. This, and many other facts of life about cancer, are part of the education program which the American Cancer Society offers—at your community center or club, your church or school, your office or factory. For additional information, call the American Cancer Society office nearest you, or write to "Cancer" in care of your local Post Office.
