Auction Dinner Thursday Night

Big Crowd Expected At Jackson Fire Hall

The eleventh annual Library Auction is beginning to roll toward its climax on July 5 and 6 according to Raymon Hedden, chairman of this year's big event.

The Barn is filling up with new and used merchandise brought in by the transportation committee under the supervision of Col. H. H. Butler, chairman and John Landis, co-chairman.

Those having used goods to be picked up early should call the Commonwealth Telephone Company operators Dallas 4-1211. Col. Butler said, and give them specific information on the size, number and kinds of articles and where they can be picked up. He asked that contributors allow at least five days for the transportation workers to pick up the items and in no case to call them for items that have no value or use for resale.

John Landis said the policy of the Auction this year is to pick up only items of value and not to cart away materials that properly should go to the dump.

Auction Dinner

William Wright, chairman of the Auction Kick-Off Dinner at Jackson Fire Hall next Thursday evening, June 6 announced this week that tickets are now available and that an ambitious program has been arranged. The turkey dinner will be served by the Women's Auxiliary of Jackson Volunteer Fire Company. Because the dinner is less than a week away, Mr. Wright said tickets should be obtained immediately. They are available at the Library, at The Dallas Post, or from members of a large committee.

Ambassador Of Ireland Speaks At Misericordia Graduation

Five local women were among the 155 who received degrees from College Misericordia Monday night at impressive ceremonies at Irem Temple. They were: Grace M. Fleming and Augustine M. Haradem, of Dallas; Marian Stephanie Maceiko, Harveys Lake; Theresa L. Burnat, Trucksville; and Joyce C. Martin, Sweet Valley.

Out of regard for His Excellency, John Joseph Hearne, Ambassador to the United States from Ireland, the "Soldiers' Song", National Anthem of Ireland, was played for the academic procession, followed by the National Anthem of the United States of America.

Ambassador Hearne spoke of the contribution Ireland has made to western culture and scholarship, and charged the graduating class with the responsibility of keeping this quest for knowledge and the moral code alive as a bulwark against the crowding inroads of foes of true freedom.

"You have been taught to stand for justice, peace and freedom. Truth makes us free. Faith makes us whole."

The Rev. John P. Walsh, LL.B. College Misericordia, presented the candidates for degrees to the Most Reverend Jerome D. Hanna, D.D., Bishop of Scranton, who conferred degrees, honors and awards.

The student body rose for the always colorful ceremony of changing of the tassels on the academic caps to the strains of Pas des Fleurs by Delibes.

Following the charge to the graduates by the Bishop, the orchestra under direction of Louis Savitt played the recessional, and graduates and student body filed out while the audience remained seated.

The vast Irem Temple was thronged with guests, the entire center section reserved for students in academic cap and gown, their stark simplicity contrasting with spring pastels and festive hats.

Graduates were seated on the stage, while Misericordia faculty occupied the two front rows in the balcony.

The Baccalaureate mass was celebrated Sunday morning at St. Mary's Church of the Immaculate Conception, with Rev. William A. Loftus from the Catholic University of America giving the address.

Knights of Columbus formed the honor guard for students at both Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

College Misericordia is deserted for the summer. All students left on Tuesday for the long vacation.

Sandsdale Spot Rock Hill Is Best Producing Cow In Luzerne County

Ralph Sands took a beating in his recent bid for reelection as Kingston Township Supervisor but it will take an exceptional dairyman to equal or surpass his record with Holsteins.

His prize six-year-old Holstein Sandsdale Spot Rock Hill has just made the highest record of any cow in Luzerne County for the year 1956 and according to James Hutchison, former county agent, the highest record ever made by any cow in the history of Luzerne County.

"She will be," according to Hutchison, "one of the highest if not the highest producing cow in Pennsylvania this year."

And here's that record according to DHIA tests—on 305 days milking, 23,699 pounds of milk; 1016.6 pounds butterfat; 4.3 test. Last year her record for 286 days was 21,770 pounds milk; 923.9 pounds butterfat; 4.24 test. She bettered everything this year.

Ralph forgets all about elections when he talks about Spot Rock and why shouldn't he. In 1952 she was the first prize two-year-old at Bloomsburg Fair. In 1953 she was the first prize three-year-old and best uddered cow at Bloomsburg. In 1955 she was the second aged cow and the second best uddered cow at the famous Black & White Show at Harrisburg, then she went on to take first prize aged cow at Bloomsburg. In 1956 she was second aged cow reserve senior, reserve grand champion and second best uddered cow at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg.

A few weeks later she produced a bull calf on January 20. This calf was the top selling bull at the Pennsylvania State Holstein Sale in Harrisburg on October 19, 1956.

Over the years Spot Rock has produced two sets of twins. Ralph named one pair Rock and Rye. Sandsdale Sovereign Rye, is now the highest record heifer to be offered for sale at the super-duper

President Johnson reports that interest is keen in this year's show with the local Horsemen's Club taking an active part. Johnson has appointed Joe Ellsworth as general chairman; other chairmen will be announced shortly.

Cloudless Skies For Memorial

Atty. Fleming Speaks At Woodlawn Graves

Dallas Memorial Day Parade formed at the American Legion Home, Main Highway at 9:30 yesterday morning, proceeding to the Memorial tablet in Central Dallas where Rev. Frederick Eidam, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, gave the memorial prayer, and buglers from Westmoreland High School Band played taps. A Boy Scout from Troop 281 and a Girl Scout from Troop 169 laid the commemorative wreath.

At Woodlawn Cemetery, Rev. Russell Lawry, pastor of Dallas Methodist Church, gave the invocation after playing of the National Anthem by Westmoreland Band.

Following remarks by Commander Joseph Kravitz, Atty. Robert C. Fleming spoke, following closely the framework of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Human liberties, he said, after 180 years of freedom sparked by Patrick Henry's immortal words, "Give me liberty or give me death," were challenged by the spreading wave of totalitarianism, and eternal vigilance must be our watchword to preserve our precious heritage of freedom for our children and our children's children.

Six members of Daddow Isaac's Post 672 formed a firing squad. When the volley had died away, Taps was sounded by the Westmoreland buglers.

Marchers retained their places in line until disbanding at the Legion Home.

Dallas Township police, marched immediately behind the Dallas Borough Police car. Dallas Legionnaires were followed by Harveys Lake Post and Auxiliary.

Westmoreland Band directed by Lester Lewis was next in line, followed by Boy and Girl Scout troops, including Explorers, Troop 281 Scouts and Cubs, Brownies 108, and Girl Scouts 169.

Kunkle Fire Department led by the fire car and truck, had a marching delegation of sixteen men in white shirts and dark trousers.

Dallas firemen brought up the rear, with Nort Bert, fire chief, and Henry Peterson, president of the fire company, in charge of the pumper.

Leslie Barstow headed Explorers, William Baker and Arthur Miller the Boy Scouts. Cubs were led by Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. Charles Mahler, Mrs. Howard Wiley, Mrs. Doris Mallin; girl scouts by Joan Flack; Brownies by Mrs. Betty Parry, Mrs. Mary Kelley, Mrs. Lewis Reese, and Mrs. Joseph Schneider.

Paul Shaver was parade marshal. Public address system, Bill Guyette.

Dallas Borough police: chief Russell Honeywell, Al Shaffer, William Bert, Ray Titus and Victor Cross. Dallas Township: Chief James Gansel, Irvin Coolbaugh, and Jay Bloomer.

Rev. Eidam's prayer embodied the spirit of the day:

"We bless Thy glorious name, O God, for the devoted sacrifice of Thy servants who have laid down their lives that we might live. We humbly pray that they may not have died in vain. Help us, oh Lord, that we may reach a measure of devotion such as those who gave their last full measure of devotion. We beseech Thee that we, like those who have gone before, may give and never count the cost—fight and
