

Brownie Troop 108 Holds Court Of Awards June 5

Brownie Troop 108, Dallas, held a Court of Awards and Tea June 5th at Dallas Methodist Church. Mothers and friends were entertained with songs, poems, piano selection, dance and talks by the Brownies about activities, service projects and trips.

This year the Brownies made their own Hallowe'en masks out of paper bags. Moving pictures were taken at the Hallowe'en party shown by Mrs. Edith Templin at the Tea. Brownies each made a Brownie apron, one of which was modeled by Meme Mohr.

Favors were sent to the hospital, and trips were taken to the Fire Tower, Woodlawn Dairy, Borough Building, and Blue Ribbon Cake Co. The entire troop attended the Girl Scout Festival on Public Square, May 11th.

Amy Hettrick modelled in the March Isaac Long Fashion Show.

Mrs. Calvin Hall of Shavertown, Council Aid for the Back Mountain, presented Brownie pins to: Carol Calkins, Gail Doughton, Christine Grose, Sandra Lamoreaux, and Linda Williams. Absent, Nancy Maier.

Do Peacocks Lay Eggs?

Mary Frantz found four eggs hidden under shrubbery at her farm near Chase, and a peacock (pardon, pea-hen) hovering anxiously about. Mary took the eggs to Donald Maylor, who put them in his Wayside Duck Farm electric incubator. Four weeks later he announced a blessed event—one, not three. Two days later, he became suspicious, and called Mary on the phone.

"Mary," he inquired doubtfully, "DO peacocks have webbed feet?" So now Mary is looking for a mallard who is ducking her responsibilities.

Additional Varieties Of Plants Requested

Mrs. J. D. Hutchison, chairman of Plants and Produce for the July 5 and 6 Library Auction, adds three names to her committee: Mrs. Kenneth Herwig, Mrs. Sheldon Bennett, and Mrs. T. Cope.

In addition to the plants listed last week in the Dallas Post, Mrs. Hutchison and her co-chairmen Mrs. Margaret Dykman and Loren Keller, ask for these plants and shrubs:

Named lilacs, bulbs, rock-garden plants, tuberous rooted begonias, canterbury bells, lupins, coral bells, chrysanthemums, and shasta daisies.

Bowling News Column Will Continue In Fall

The regular weekly "Bowling News" column which appeared in The Dallas Post all winter, will be discontinued during the summer months following this issue.

The most local interest was centered around the various leagues in the area during their regular season, and, since most of these leagues have stopped bowling now, their activities will be followed again in the column when the regular winter season resumes.
