Back Mountain Kennel Club Show Tomorrow At Armory

Elmer Williams' prize dachshund, Christ Dachs Jeffrey, two and a half years old, will compete in the Back Mountain Kennel Club Show tomorrow at Kingston Armory. He has fourteen champions in his pedigree.

Entered for competition are 363 dogs, among them over thirty from the Back Mountain. Obedience trials and junior showmanship classes will be part of the program, as well as a full schedule of judging for all American Kennel Club breeds.

The show will be open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Judging will start at 10 o'clock and, since it is a bench show, spectators will be able to see all the dogs in the show either in the rings or on the benches up to 3:30 in the afternoon.

Sixty different breeds or varieties are entered from fifteen states, including Florida, Texas and Illinois, as well as Canada and Japan. They will be judged by a panel of twelve nationally known amateur and professional judges.

Food and refreshments at the show are being provided by the Durbin Sunday School Class of the Dallas Methodist Church, with proceeds going to the building fund.

Robert Jewell, Shavertown, and Dr. William Wicks, Trucksville, are co-chairmen of show committee. Working with them are Mrs. Edward Eber and Mrs. Alvah Jones as co-chairmen of the Advertising Committee; Mrs. A. Lee Stuart, trophies; John Carpenter, food; John M. Robinson, Jr., and Sargo Toni, gates; Donald A. Smith and A. Lee Stewart, publicity; and Mrs. William Wicks and Mrs. Robert Jewell, hospitality. Mrs. Janet Bergman is president of the club and Mrs. Thomas B. Robinson, secretary.

Undeclared Scotties Looking For Seventh Win At Nescopeck

The high-flying Lake-Lehman Scotties, victorious in six straight, go after number seven tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with Nescopeck on the latter's gridiron.

According to Coach Eddie Edwards the Nescopeck team is one that remains a mystery to him and his team. Nothing is known locally of the team as far as records go.

Edwards could give us only one statement: "They always put a scrappy team on the field."

This was proven the past two seasons. Nescopeck won two years ago by one touchdown and last year the Scotties were victors by one point.

The down river boys are coached by a former professional football player.

This could turn out to be the toughest game on the Scotties' schedule since the opener against Forty Fort where the Scotties pulled a 21-20 upset. If it turns out to be a breather, it may be the last for Lehman takes on undefeated Wilkes-Barre Township the following Saturday.

In rolling to six victories Lehman has tallied 193 points while the opposition has scored 52.

The Scotties' attack is led by their stellar tailback "Joltin'" Joe Lopasky who leads all regional scorers with 17 touchdowns. When the "dynamic" Lopasky isn't scoring it seems as though he has his hands in on the play either with a long pass or else on a hand-off. Joe gets plenty of assistance from his other tailback, Don Walters. Don is also a dependable ball carrier and is usually good for yardage when called upon.

Up front Lehman has a good offensive and defensive line. With big linemen such as Captain Russ Steele, Rish, Kutz and Dubil (just to mention a few) it is rugged for the opposition to do much on the ground.

Speaking of defense once again we must mention the name Lopasky.

Trap Shooting Is Good Fun For Sportsmen Of All Ages

Contributed by Overbrook Gun Club for The Dallas Post

Shotgun shooting has been in existence for several years. Numerous types of target shooting have been injected into the sport since its beginning. One of the most interesting shooting games has been live bird shooting. Although this has been, more or less, a thing of the past, clay bird shooting has taken its place and is now one of the top sports of the average gunner.

Trap shooting has become very popular among young and old ranging from the average farm boy to the wealthy industrialist. It is one of the safest games involving firearms throughout our entire Wyoming Valley and Back Mountain Area. However, there are a number of would-be sportsmen as well as veteran sportsmen who have never participated in this wonderful scattering game only because they do not know what Trap Shooting consists of, namely, that there are different classes they can shoot in. One class is for the expert marksman and one is for the poor marksman. It means that the best shooter in his particular class can win prizes.

For the novice interested in shotguns, the field of shotguns ranges from 20 to 12 gauge and are practical for the purpose. However, there are a number of better grades of shotguns commonly known as trap guns available on the market to suit anyone's needs or pocket-book. A high priced shotgun does not always mean a better gun and better scoring. Many shooters, even though they have expensive guns, often revert back to their older gun for better accuracy due to his being accustomed to the feel of the gun.

There are several games for the marksman to enter. One of these is the Lewis Class. This class takes five shooters in a score of 20-25 hits out of 25 shots and puts them in one class. Those shooting 15-20 out of 25 hits are placed in another, and so on; thereby, evenly matching each class and giving everyone an even chance for winning a prize.

Double bird shooting, quail shooting and hit & miss shooting are also games to be entered, when held on Trap Grounds.

There are a number of Trap Grounds available throughout our area and practically all shoots are held during daylight hours. There are grounds which are available for night shooting too. The only one known in this locality which is equipped with floodlights for night shooting is the Overbrook Gun Club.

Many a husband and wife team participate in trap shooting games, and often the woman of the team takes home the turkey as her prize.

For the average hunter, trap shooting improves the marksman's skill when shooting game in the field or woods.

This type of shooting is fast becoming more and more popular day by day and is developing a better class of American Sportsmanship.

Sparkling fall days are among the pleasantest of the year for golfers in links-studded Pennsylvania, home of the oldest golf course in the country still operating.

It was more than seventy years ago that a Clarion county family moved their cows from a lush, green pasture overlooking the Allegheny River and laid out a five-hole course that was expanded to nine holes in 1888. The nine-hole course still commands a breath taking view of the winding Allegheny River near Foxburg, on Pennsylvania Route 268.

Pennsylvania golf courses are noted today not just for their scenic and historic values but for their variety and their caliber. The Young People's Class and Christian Endeavor of First Christian Church, Sweet Valley, will hold a Halloween party in the church hall tomorrow night.
