Dallas In 1916 Had Population Of 700

This article was found in the Industrial, Commercial, and Agricultural Review of Pennsylvania, published in 1916, and found by Francis Dunham, Dallas. It gives a brief resume of Dallas in that era.

"Dallas is a borough in Luzerne County, on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It had a population of 581 in 1910 and about 700 in 1916. It is in a mining region nine miles northwest of Wilkes-Barre. It has express, telegraph and telephone service, several stores, good schools and churches, and is the site for a sanitarium."

Roushey Completes Artillery Course

FORT SILL, OKLA. (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. John L. Roushey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roushey Sr., Trucksville, is scheduled to complete eight weeks of advanced individual artillery training May 29 at The Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla.
