AND FROM DALLAS POST AUGUST 17, 1959 Editorially Speaking:

Cream Puff Justice

The parole of three of four thieves, three of them brothers, last week by Judge Bernard C. Brominski was not popular in the Back Mountain Region — either with its police or its citizens.

The decision of Judge Brominski to parole of Trenton, N. J., of Philadelphia and of West Wyoming immediately after he had sentenced them to serve 11½ to 23 months in Luzerne County Prison will do little to stay the reign of terror that has swept the Back Mountain Region and Luzerne County for the past several months.

Apprehension of these men after they had robbed a number of Back Mountain homes including that of Caddie LaBar came only by accident after long and baffling investigation by State and local police.

The men who were making a business of robbing here and selling their loot in Philadelphia confessed to their crimes on March 9.

Paroles of this sort are a miscarriage of justice and must be discouraging and disheartening to conscientious police officers who work their heads off to solve crimes. They undermine the confidence of all of us in the ability of the Courts to do their part in discouraging crime.
