Mrs. William Krimmel Burned About The Face

Mrs. William Krimmel had her hair and eyebrows singed and her face burned Sunday morning when excess gas ignited on a gas stove at Prince of Peace Church while she was helping with other women to prepare breakfast for the Men's Club.

For a time she was almost in shock and was given first aid until Dr. Henry Gallagher arrived and after treating her took her to her home on Overbrook Avenue.

Mrs. Krimmel said she had noticed that butter in a pan was not melting and observed that the gas jets were out. She turned them off and then relighted them. When she did there was a flash of flame from gas that had apparently accumulated while the jets were out.
