It Was A Grand Night For Dancing At Junior-Senior Prom

RIGHT It was a grand night for dancing. A dull overcast day had turned bright as the sun broke through the clouds just a few hours before the boys began picking up their dates. Here in the crowded ball room at Irem Country Club you can spot Sue Kelley and Bill Bowers in the left foreground; Libby Cleasy and her escort (right); Grace Ann Bachman and John Marks, (center); that's Jack Eck and Betsy Mason, (far right center). George Hall, (left), and Willard Smith, with their dates, Donna Howell and Beverly.
