Holstein Herd Unharmed When Roof Caves In

Awakened by a commotion from their herd of 25 Holstein cattle Wednesday morning at 2, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Prutzman, Hillside Road, Huntsville, were astonished to discover that their barn roof had collapsed, causing damage to the extent of $5,000.

Located in a sheltered area, where snow is slow to melt, it is believed accumulated snow was responsible for the cave in.

The cattle, sheltered beneath the main floor of the barn, were unharmed.

A hay elevator on the first floor was demolished, looking as though a steam roller had run over it. A truck in an adjacent part of the main floor suffered only minor damage.

A mammoth supply of hay, stored in the hay-mow was covered with debris. Friends and neighbors were helping clear it away yesterday, making preparations for the carpenters mans have made plans to have just a section of the barn rebuilt to store the hay necessary for the cattle.

The two-percent commission which will apply during the discount period for tax collection, will be increased to three-percent during the net period and four-percent during the penalty period.

Only two directors voted against the resolution. They were both from Franklin Township.

The new commission rates will be uniform in the four townships comprising the Dallas Union School District, but they will not take effect until 1962 after the election of all tax collectors this fall.

Presently Arthur Dungey, Dallas Borough collector, is paid a straight five percent commission; Theodore Poad, Kingston Township, receives four percent; Wilson Ryman, Dallas Township, four percent and Mrs. Nellie Eaton, Franklin Township, three percent.

Reduction of the percentage paid to the collectors will restore their annual income from tax collections to just about what it was before the School Board raised the school millage last year.
