Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Wed Fifty Years Thursday, March 30

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis preferred, despite the pleading of friends and neighbors, to observe the anniversary of their 50th year of marriage, in the quietness of their home.

The Davises were married March 30, 1911, in the Parsonage of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Plymouth. Rev. Owen Thomas performed the ceremony.

They both were born and raised in the area of Plymouth and resided there until 1925 when they moved to Dallas. Mr. Davis began work at the breaker of Loree Colliery at the age of 12 and remained with them until moving to Dallas. From 1937 to 1947 he served as Janitor at Dallas Borough School and won the love and admiration of all who knew him. He was better known as "Pop" and still carries this title. In 1947 he transferred his work to Natona Mills and remained there until his retirement two years ago.

Mrs. Davis has won the heart of everyone who has come to know her. Being a victim of a stroke many years ago, she has had to limit her activities somewhat but runs her home and manages to lighten many a burden and bring on many a smile with the notes and cards sent to shut-ins, children, and those who are troubled. She enjoys good poetry and has a fine collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis had two daughters and one son, of whom only the son survive. He is Alfred, known to most of us as Al, a teacher at the Twin Valley Jointure High School, Morgantown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis received many lovely gifts and cards. Easter Sunday being Alfred's birthday, a family dinner commemorating both events was enjoyed by all.
