Arthur F. Smith Seeks Reelection As Justice In Kingston Township

ARTHUR F. SMITH

Arthur F. Smith is again seeking office as Supervisor of Kingston Township. He stands solidly upon his record of twelve years of efficient and loyal service to the people. A Republican, he has no Democratic opposition.

During his twelve years he has black-topped 32 streets and roads in the Township; improved the lighting; erected street signs; managed snow removal and chiding without undue burden to the tax-payers.

For eight years he has been head of the street department and has served as sanitary engineer, checking all new septic tank installations.

During his first year as Road Supervisor, records show that he saved the Township over $3,900.

This past year, following a directive of the Post Office Department, he was instrumental in numbering houses in Trucksville and Shavertown, and changing street signs to avoid duplication of names. Street signs, he says, have to be replaced oftener than you would think. Art makes the signs himself. 87 this past year.

A survey showed Mr. Smith that many residents were not getting enough for their tax dollars in the way of street lighting. Installation of 28 additional lights is now well under way.

Mr. Smith is responsible for erection of the traffic light at Carverton Road and the Main Highway, and for change-over of the push-button type light in central Shavertown to the trip system.

This past winter, in the face of continued blizzards, he found that hiring of bulldozers was necessary in order to restore traffic on badly drifted roads, but in spite of that, cost of snow removal did not equal that of two years ago when Township trucks bore the burden.

Roads and streets blacktopped during the past year include Carverton Road, Church Road, Maple

John Fowler Has Served 24 Years As Justice In Franklin Township

Squire John Fowler of Orange, who has served twenty-four years as Justice of the Peace in Franklin Township and is now seeking his seventh term on the Republican ticket, was visiting old friends in Dallas on Saturday.

Known far and wide for his prize fowl—mainly bantams that take first prizes at all the leading agricultural exhibits in the east—Mr. Fowler has travelled a long way since his birth more than seventy years ago in North Allerton, Yorkshire, England.

Most of his life was associated with the coal mining industry as a mine foreman. He was a foreman for the Lambton-Hilton Coal Company in England at the outbreak of World War I.

He got into that conflict in 1914 as a sergeant with the Durham Light Infantry and saw his first action at the Battle of Mons. Then followed in succession Ypres, the Marne, Loos, Arras, Vimy Ridge, Hill 60 and the Somme. Most of it was trench warfare and Mr. Fowler still bears a bayonet scar in his left leg as the result of close combat with the Germans.

He remembers vividly the first American troops to arrive at the front and paid high tribute to what the doughboys did in the Argonne Forest. During the last days of the war his regiment was in Italy.

"Do you know how we got there?"

he asked, pointing to his feet. "They were the only transportation we had. Wherever we went, and we covered a lot of ground from Belgium to Italy, we hiked."

In 1925, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler came to the United States and settled in West Pittston. Mrs. Fowler's mother had preceded her to America and she had other relatives here.

Mr. Fowler became a mine foreman in succession for Glen Alden Coal Company, Lehigh Valley and Keokee Berge.

Mr. Fowler has two brothers and two sisters in England. Some years ago he went back for a visit. The town looked the same but he didn't recognize a brother and a sister when he met them. He is very proud that eighteen of his nephews are in the British Police Force scattered in various parts of England. That is somewhat of a record, he thinks, for one family.

The Fowlers have two children, John R., Goss Manor and Mrs. Francis (Mary Jane) Smith of Orange.

Mr. Fowler's bantams have won many ribbons, prizes and medals, which he loves to display, but in a box that he seldom shows. They are the Mons Star, Service and Victory medals awarded by the British Army for slugging it out a long time ago in the Flanders mud.

E. E. Richards' Hat In Ring

Opposing Smith For Kingston Twp. Board

EDWARD E. RICHARDS

Edward E. Richards, Staub Road, Trucksville, is opposing the incumbent Arthur F. Smith as Republican candidate for Kingston Township Supervisor in the May primaries.

Mr. Richards states his position, that there is a question in his mind whether a Township Supervisor should also hold the position of Road Superintendent. Such an arrangement, while completely legal, he says, could easily lead to reluctance on the part of the Road superintendent to cast a ballot at variance with those of the other two supervisors.

This does not mean, Mr. Richards continued, that the present superintendent would lose his position if not reelected to the Board of Supervisors. Quite the contrary. Each office should be considered on its merits and filled to the best possible effect from among those qualified to fill it. Separating the two offices, Mr. Richards thinks, would have the added advantage of an additional person to help with solution of Township problems.

Playground facilities, planning and zoning, building codes, adequate water supply, and sewage disposal, are all questions very much to the fore.

Mr. Richards has served Kingston Township as tax auditor since 1956. His term will expire at the end of 1961. As auditor, Mr. Richards reviewed the minutes of all meetings of the Board of Supervisors and the financial records of the Township for each year. He is completely aware of the many financial and administrative problems confronting the Board of Supervisors.

A lifelong resident of Kingston Township, he is a graduate of Susquehanna University, and served four years with the Air Force during World War II.

He belongs to Trucksville Methodist Church, where he is on the Official Board and is secretary of the Men's Club. He is a member of the Finance Committee.

Since returning to civilian life and completing his college education, he has been for the past fourteen years an executive with Columbia Mills,

Crazy Day In Wonderland Planned For Dallas School Grade Children

For elementary pupils of Dallas schools only, Dallas Borough PTA will sponsor the Crazy Day Show featuring puppets from Boston. Dallas Township auditorium has been reserved for Saturday, May 13, 2 p.m.

Only elementary pupils may attend. Adults and high school students are barred. A number of fathers will be selected to keep order in the gymnasium, and assist in the audience participation mechanics.

Space permits accommodation of not even the entire roster of grade school children from the four schools.

Street, Zinn Street, Beech Street, and a short road at Druid Hills. Patching of roads is now going forward.

He was appointed to the Board of Supervisors by William Myers and Philip Pasco, now deceased, upon resignation of Bruce Long. In 1950, the Auditors Board consisting of David Schooley, Fred Malkemes and Herman Sands, appointed him Road Superintendent, a position which he has held ever since.

Quoting Mr. Smith, "I believe in giving people their money's worth. Good roads, good as tax revenue will stand, but no foolish spending."

Mr. Smith has lived in Kingston Township for 34 years, moving here from Scranton, where he was with the Stip Construction Company. Born at S. John's, his parents were, Christian and Elizabeth Smith, now deceased. His wife is the former Ruth Reese of Parsons.

mentary schools, Borough, Shavertown, Trucksville and Township. It will be necessary to purchase tickets early in order to attend.

Parents may drive their children to the program and pick them up afterwards, but they must not plan to attend. Children will be cared for.

Flyers will be distributed to the children, including information on the Mad Hat contest, in which children wear hats of their own making, in competition for prizes.

Don Coyote himself, the much loved children's entertainer, television storyteller, and Indian expert, will MC the show. Stars on the program include Eskawata, the Indian corn-dancer, and Roland Rock, the twelve-foot friendly giant puppet, also Herbert Herbert, the clown.

Crazy Day in Wonderland, Children's Theatre in Boston, is a touring show of comedy, folk music, stories, pantomime, and puppets.
