Folk Festival Will Feature Dutch Customs

The nation's folk festival capital—Kutztown, Pennsylvania—is preparing for its annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival to be held July 1 through July 8, according to the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

More than 100,000 persons are expected for the 1961 event, the nation's largest folk festival. As in the past, the folk culture of the Plain Dutch (Amish, Mennonites and Dunkards) and the Gay Dutch (Lutherans and Reformed) will be featured.

An added attraction for 1961, the culture of the Bush Meeting Dutch will be presented. This sect holds religious camp meetings or "bush meetings." The Dutch word for woods is "bush."

Another addition will be a special feature pertaining to the customs of courtship and weddings among the Plain Dutch and the Gay Dutch. Craftsmen will again be busy during the 8-day festivities, making baskets, brooms, barrels and fish nets.

Other sidelights of the celebration are stage and movie presentations, a panorama of horse-and-buggy farming in the Dutch country, the old-fashioned baking of bread, and cider-making with an 18th century press.

Kutztown, on U. S. 222, is midway between Allentown and Reading.

Occupancy Tax Reminder For Resort Operators

With the 1961 summer resort season about to get under way, the Pennsylvania State and Use Tax Bureau today directed attention of vacation spot owners and operators to their responsibilities in collecting the four per cent occupancy tax prescribed by law.

John P. Gray, Director of the Sales and Use Tax Bureau, said that the initial step for newcomers in these seasonal enterprises is to register immediately for occupancy tax licenses. Requiring these licenses are operators or owners of hotels, motels, summer cottages, cabins, lodges, boarding houses and adult camps. Those operating throughout the year continue to make returns on present schedules.

Under the law such establishments must collect four per cent tax on rentals. However, where person or persons who contract to remain at one establishment for thirty days there is no tax, such patrons being considered "permanent" residents under the law.

Gray said that where boarding houses or resort operations offer meals in package deals two returns must be made: One showing the tax collected on meals, the other the amount received in occupancy tax. In both categories the tax is four per cent.

Items Girls Need At Penna. 4-H Congress

Seven Luzerne county 4-H Club girls will attend the Pennsylvania 4-H Club Congress at The Pennsylvania State University, June 27 - 30. Each of these girls will want to select a wardrobe that needs a minimum of care, observes Ruth Darbie, extension home economist. Garments of crease-resistant fabrics are fine, but not a necessity. Equipment for pressing clothes will be available to take a sleeping garment and a robe, soap and a soapdish, washcloth, bath and hand towels, toothbrush and paste, hairbrush and comb, bobby pins, cosmetics and deodorants, clothesbrush, and needle and thread.

For campus activities, she'll want comfortable walking and play shoes. She'll also need school dresses, blouses and skirts, change of undergarments, and smart accessories and socks that harmonize with her dresses. She should include a raincoat and a sweater or lightweight coat. She may wish to bring camera, alarm clock, nail care kit, facial tissue, sun lotion, and shower cap.

Two Fishing Booklets Issued By Commission

Two publications which will be of assistance to Commonwealth fishermen and boaters in selecting water areas where they can enjoy their sport have been issued by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

The 24-page booklet, "Fishing Waters in Pennsylvania," lists the fifteen most popular fishing waters in each county, and also denotes the species of fish to be found in each of the waters listed.

The leaflet, "Public Fishing and Boating Properties and Facilities" includes a listing of ninety-two fishing and boating facilities either owned by the Fish Commission or under long term leases or easements. The leaflet also describes the acres or miles of fishing waters available from the respective facilities. In addition, launching, docking, parking and sanitary facilities available are noted.

Single copies of these publications, which were prepared by the Conservation Education and Public Relations Division, may be obtained free by writing to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission in Harrisburg. Requests for two or more copies of the booklet will be filled at ten cents per copy.
