

A Bicycle Built For Two

All the Daisies in the Back Mountain can bid on a bicycle built for two at the Library Auction. Tandem bikes are a rarity these days, though Dicks and Daisies used to pedal their way around the countryside before the turn of the century.

Gloating over a new consignment of new goods in the background are Doc Jordan and Jack Stanley. Basking in the spotlight are the tandem bike and a power lawn-mower, backed up by cartons that haven't been opened, in front of the Auction Barn. Bid on the tandem today or tomorrow or Saturday. Who knows when it will appear on the auction block?

Teacher's Pay Up 18%

Pay for teachers and administrators in Pennsylvania's public school system has increased 18% over the past five years, the State's Bureau of Research revealed in a report issued last week.

In 1956 the average pay for an employee in education was $4,649. The same employee in 1961 receives $5,507. But administrators still take home larger pay checks than class room teachers, $7,454 to $5,309.

Compared with the average salaries of teachers in other states with comparable populations, Pennsylvania's pay-scale ranks next to last. Only Texas pays less, with an average of $4,530. California ranks first with an average salary of $6,765 for its teachers.

Success is relative—the more success the more relatives.
