

Robinhold Now Touring Europe

Dan Was Commodore Of Cornell Crew

A former Dallas boy, Daniel Robinhold Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Robinhold, Camp Hill, is touring Europe this summer following his participation in the Henley Royal Regatta, in England, as Commodore of Cornell University's 150-pound crew.

Dan, who will be remembered as the red headed youngster who used to be Jack-of-all-Trades at the Library Auction Refreshment Stand where his mother, Iola, was for many years Chairman, flew to England some weeks ago to take part in the Regatta. Unfortunately the Big Red came in second only to Harvard by a margin of six inches. Harvard was the only crew to defeat Cornell this season and had previously done so in America before meeting the Ithaca crew in England.

Graduating this spring from Cornell where he took a pre-med course, Dan will enter the medical school of Johns Hopkins this fall. His grandfather was the late Dr. D. Q. Robinhold of Fort Worth.

He never saw a crew race before trying his hand at the sport during his Freshman year, but he made it even though he had to bring his normal 175 pounds down to 150.

His father who played halfback for Cornell in 1925 under Coach Gloomy Gil Dobie, says, "somehow Danny seems to make the weight everytime. I don't know what his formula is" he laughed, "but I know he's a great steak eater."

"Actually Danny became interested in the sport more or less by accident. When he entered Cornell I advised him to take up some sport for health and recreation sake. In high school he took part in track—in the high jump. He never seemed to care much for baseball or football."

"One day he saw a notice on the Bulletin Board asking all men interested in trying out for the crew to report to the boathouse. He has rowed every varsity race for the last three years. He rows in the No. 6 seat."

The lightweight boat swept all opposition until losing by seven-tenths of a second to Harvard for the eastern title in June.

The six-foot-one Danny was in England for the regatta, or he would have attended this year's auction with his mother and dad and sister, Judy.

MATS Appoints Two Lake Men

Schreiner And Garrity On Policy Committee

Major Carl J. Schreiner and Captain Thomas P. Garrity, both of Harvey's Lake, have received appointments to the Military Air Transport Service Air Reserve Forces Policy Committee.

The appointments, made by MATS Headquarters, Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Illinois, designated Major Schreiner as the National Representative and Captain Garrity as the Eastern Divisional Representative. This will entail participation in the formulation of National Air Reserve Policies.

Major Schreiner is Fleet Superintendent for Stegmaier's Brewing Company of Wilkes-Barre and a well known Harvey's Lake resident. Captain Garrity, popular Harvey's Lake Reator, President of Volunteer Fire Companies of the Back Mountain, has been a lifelong resident of Harvey's Lake.

Both of these men are members of the Staff of 92nd Air Terminal Squadron, Wyoming Air Reserve Center, Wyoming, Pa.

Home From Hospital

Dr. Robert Mellman, Shavertown, home from Nesbitt Hospital last week, is feeling improved after surgery, but is not yet able to discharge his duties as superintendent of Dallas Schools. William A. Austin is substituting.

Bishop Hannan, Diocese Of Scranton Breaks Ground For New Novitiate

Bright sunshine after a day that had threatened rain, blessed the breaking of ground for proposed novitiate, juniorate, and provincial buildings, buildings, Sunday afternoon at 4, on land adjacent to College Misericordia.

Cars lined the winding drives leading to the high hill, as friends and relatives of the young Sisters of Mercy for whom the buildings will be constructed, walked quietly to the scene.

Sisters in flowing black veils, sisters in flowing white veils, folded their hands in prayer as Most Rev. Jerome D. Hannan, Bishop of the Diocese of Scranton, performed the traditional ceremony.

Taking part in the procession toward the site of the ground-breaking were professed sisters of the order from Dallas, together with many sisters from dioceses of Harrisburg, Altoona-Johnstown, Brooklyn, and Rockefeller Center; sisters from other religious orders; postulants and novices for whom the buildings are planned.

In the lead were three young boys, Henry Mastalski Jr. bearing the cross, flanked by Dr. H. G. Gallagher's sons Bryan and Philip. Many Monsignor lent their prestige, among them Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Madden, Chancellor of the Diocese, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. James T. Clark, chaplain of College Misericordia.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis A. Costello, pastor of St. Mary's in Wilkes-Barre, gave the main address.

Architect's drawings prepared by Carl J. Schmitt and Son, Wilkes-Barre, show a pleasant grouping of buildings designed to take their place on the rolling hills of Dallas, not far from the halls where the senior Sisters of Mercy will remain in residence, and from the college.

Facilities suitable for 200 young sisters and novices have been lacking. Construction will relieve overcrowding, and provide room for growth.

Plans include a building for use of Mother Provincial Mary de Lourdes and her Council, in administration of the Province of Scranton, which numbers more than 800 Sisters of Mercy.

Building for use of the young sisters will include a chapel, sleeping quarters, library, music rooms, dining room and kitchen, laundry and recreation rooms.

Postulants have a separate wing of a building which will be occupied by the novices.

The entire grouping is a separate entity, yet in complete harmony with college and administration buildings.

Sandsdale Rocket Masterpiece, the six-months old son of one of the greatest milking Holsteins in America—Molly Belle Lyons (ex)—was sold this week by Ralph Sands, breeder for $5,000 to the Oxford and District Breeders Cooperative of Woodstock, Ontario, Canada.

Masterpiece, a magnificent calf, is the fourth son of the seventeen-year-old Molly now in the service of breeding cooperatives. Incidentally Molly, who has produced 200,000 pounds of milk and 7,500 pounds of butterfat, is still being milked daily at Mr. Sands dairy at Carverton.

She has borne six sons and six daughters. Four of her daughters, nine of her granddaughters and six of her great granddaughters are still in the Sands herd.

Of her sons, the eldest Sandsdale Dandy Dewdrop is owned by the Curtis Candy Breeding Association, Chicago; Sandsdale Sovereign Cochran by New York Artificial Breeders Association, Ithaca, N. Y.; Sandsdale Sovereign Tribute, Lehigh Valley Breeders Cooperative, Allentown. Another son, Sandsdale Reflection Master is owned by Austin C. West, Hadley, Mass.

Mr. Sands, who has built one of the outstanding Holstein breeding herds in the east, paid tribute this week to his grand old Molly Belle: "She is the foundation of this herd. Wherever her name is mentioned or printed, it is underscored excellent. She is one of the greatest of her breed in America. I guess you might say, I owe it all to Molly."

Transistors Hum As Cape Canaveral GooFs

Transistor radios, turned low, hummed on every desk at the Dallas Post Wednesday morning, as the staff divided its attention between front page news and the projected flight of astronaut Grissom. Out in the composing room, transistors were tuned to greater volume, to offset the noise of machinery.

It was a good try, but Cape Canaveral weather did not cooperate. Grissom climbed out of his space capsule, and the staff got back to grinding out news for the front page. What did Grissom say when he climbed out of the capsule? Completely unprintable.

New York Annual Conference of the Free Methodist Church, embracing more than thirty churches in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, convened on the B. F. Roberts Memorial Camp Ground, Demunds Road, on Wednesday, will end on Sunday.

Senior Bishop Rev. L. R. Marston of Greenville Ill., presides in all business sessions, including the Stationing Committee meetings in which appointment of preachers will be made.

Conference Superintendent Rev. Paul Hosier of Dallas schedules speakers for evening services at 7:45.

Wednesday, Rev. L. W. Northrup of Greenville Ill., General Secretary of Evangelism.

Thursday, The presiding Bishop, Friday, Rev. Howard Artz, of Spring Arbor Michigan, Assistant to the General Sunday School Secretary. Rev. Artz is promoter of Christian Education in the Great Lakes area.

Plans include a building for use of Mother Provincial Mary de Lourdes and her Council, in administration of the Province of Scranton, which numbers more than 800 Sisters of Mercy.

Building for use of the young sisters will include a chapel, sleeping quarters, library, music rooms, dining room and kitchen, laundry and recreation rooms.

Postulants have a separate wing of a building which will be occupied by the novices.

The entire grouping is a separate entity, yet in complete harmony with college and administration buildings.

Sandsdale Rocket Masterpiece, the six-months old son of one of the greatest milking Holsteins in America—Molly Belle Lyons (ex)—was sold this week by Ralph Sands, breeder for $5,000 to the Oxford and District Breeders Cooperative of Woodstock, Ontario, Canada.

Masterpiece, a magnificent calf, is the fourth son of the seventeen-year-old Molly now in the service of breeding cooperatives. Incidentally Molly, who has produced 200,000 pounds of milk and 7,500 pounds of butterfat, is still being milked daily at Mr. Sands dairy at Carverton.

She has borne six sons and six daughters. Four of her daughters, nine of her granddaughters and six of her great granddaughters are still in the Sands herd.

Of her sons, the eldest Sandsdale Dandy Dewdrop is owned by the Curtis Candy Breeding Association, Chicago; Sandsdale Sovereign Cochran by New York Artificial Breeders Association, Ithaca, N. Y.; Sandsdale Sovereign Tribute, Lehigh Valley Breeders Cooperative, Allentown. Another son, Sandsdale Reflection Master is owned by Austin C. West, Hadley, Mass.

Mr. Sands, who has built one of the outstanding Holstein breeding herds in the east, paid tribute this week to his grand old Molly Belle: "She is the foundation of this herd. Wherever her name is mentioned or printed, it is underscored excellent. She is one of the greatest of her breed in America. I guess you might say, I owe it all to Molly."

Transistor radios, turned low, hummed on every desk at the Dallas Post Wednesday morning, as the staff divided its attention between front page news and the projected flight of astronaut Grissom. Out in the composing room, transistors were tuned to greater volume, to offset the noise of machinery.

It was a good try, but Cape Canaveral weather did not cooperate. Grissom climbed out of his space capsule, and the staff got back to grinding out news for the front page. What did Grissom say when he climbed out of the capsule? Completely unprintable.

New York Annual Conference of the Free Methodist Church, embracing more than thirty churches in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, convened on the B. F. Roberts Memorial Camp Ground, Demunds Road, on Wednesday, will end on Sunday.

Senior Bishop Rev. L. R. Marston of Greenville Ill., presides in all business sessions, including the Stationing Committee meetings in which appointment of preachers will be made.

Conference Superintendent Rev. Paul Hosier of Dallas schedules speakers for evening services at 7:45.

Wednesday, Rev. L. W. Northrup of Greenville Ill., General Secretary of Evangelism.

Thursday, The presiding Bishop, Friday, Rev. Howard Artz, of Spring Arbor Michigan, Assistant to the General Sunday School Secretary. Rev. Artz is promoter of Christian Education in the Great Lakes area.

Plans are under way for the Sixth Annual Center Moreland Barbecue and Auction to be held on the grounds of the Center Moreland Methodist Church on Friday and Saturday, August 11th and 12th. Richard Brunges is general chairman, and committee chairman will be announced. This annual event which began five years ago as a local small-scale auction has grown to the point where it is now a community-wide week end project.

This year's plans call for two nights of full program with enough barbecue chicken to serve 2000 persons and auction items, new and used, small and large to interest hundreds more.

Proceeds are used each year to improve the buildings belonging to the Center Moreland Methodist Church. The first auctions made it possible to purchase the former Northmoreland School House and convert it into a fine church school building. More recently, profits have been used to renovate basement and kitchen of the church, with the latest project rebuilding of the church, a job completed last month with the Reconciliation Service on June 10th. Members and friends of the church have contributed over $20,000 toward the total cost of $40,000. It is the hope of the barbecue and auction committee that they will be successful in raising a substantial portion of the remaining debt on the building project.

Lake-Lehman Band has bid to play in Philly

Lake-Lehman Band, under direction of John Millauskas, has been invited to take part in Walt Michaels Day, September 17, in Philadelphia. Permission has been granted by the joint school board, on condition that proper arrangements can be worked out which will not jeopardize school work or run counter to parental objection. It is a signal honor for Lake-Lehman to have received the invitation.

Two days a week, Mr. Millauskas, under a State reimbursed recreation program, is working with the band, building up a back-log of numbers which will be used during the coming year, starting with the football season. A number of key players in the prize winning band graduated this year, but Mr. Millauskas is training replacements.

Headed For Study In Foreign Lands Under Rotary Program

Westmoreland girls bound for study in foreign lands were entertained by Dallas Rotary Thursday night at a dinner at Irem Country Club.

Seated, left to right, are Annabelle Ambrose, Marilyn Eck, Maryalice Knecht, Doug Ronsand, and Lynne Jordan.

Standing in the rear are Francis Ambrose, Merton Jones, James Knecht, Paul Gross, James Alexander, and Dick Demmy.

Doug Ronsand, student from Norway who has just finished a senior year of high school at Tunkhannock, spoke on what exchange students might expect in foreign countries. Study, study, and more study, is the program. Schools over there, he said, are much tougher than in the United States.

Sailing from Montreal tomorrow morning are the four girls. A fifth Westmoreland student, George Jacobs, flew to the Philippines June 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose, with Annabelle, left Tuesday morning for Montreal; Dr. and Mrs. Lester Jordan, and Mrs. and Mrs. James Knecht, left Wednesday with daughters Lynne and Maryalice; Mr. and Mrs.

Fred Eck started for Montreal with Marilyn early this morning. The Greek liner Arcadia will sail at 11 a.m. Girls will go aboard between 8 and 10 a.m.

Marilyn will stop off in London, to spend four days at a Rotary home before flying to Salisbury in Southern Rhodesia August 3. Annabelle and Lynne are headed for Amsterdam, to study in the Netherlands. Maryalice, who has just completed her junior year at Westmoreland, will study in Sweden.

The other four Rotary exchange students are 1961 graduates. photo by Kozemchak

Tennis And Swim Club Has Strong Start

The Back Mountain area took another step forward in its progress last week when the new Valley Tennis and Swim Club was formally opened.

Located on Harris Hill Road, about a mile-and-a-half North of old Route 115, better known as the Luzerne-Dallas Highway, the new club is planned as a first-rate family recreational facility providing sports and social activities never before available to residents of the region.

Among the facilities for the use of members and guests are a giant inter-collegiate-size swimming pool, a wading pool for children, four playing tennis courts, a practice court, dressing rooms and picnic grounds. Plans include further development of arrangements for archery and badminton. Designed in a modern functional wedge, which provides a greater area at the shallow end, the pool is handsomely equipped with one-meter and three-meter boards, racing lanes and the most modern filtering process. Heated 24-hours a day, the pool is 75 feet long, 28 feet wide at the diving end, and 42 feet wide at the general activity shallow end. It is tied together by an attractive network of concrete deck to a 15 foot wading pool. Both pools are surrounded by luxurious deck furniture.

The dressing house includes hot and cold showers, water fountain, lockers, teen and snack bar, and a well-stocked pro shop with a complete line of tennis and swimming equipment.

The tennis area, nearing completion, includes four green composition, fast-dry courts unique in this area of the state. Capable of drying within hours of the heaviest downpour, they normally provide 25% more playing time in the course of the season. In addition, there is a hard surface practice court, wholly enclosed, designed for use by children for expert instruction and practice.

Head tennis pro and swimming instructor is Bill McClain, of Manchester, Ga., a graduate student at Florida State University and a pupil of Junior Davis Coach, John Powless. McClain is assisted by a competent lifeguard and supervising staff.

The club occupies a 10-acre site, formerly part of the Brownlee dairy farm, surrounded by one of the most magnificent natural settings in the East. Sheltered against the wind on all sides, it enjoys complete seclusion with trees towering over a hundred feet high bordering the grounds. A stream cuts through the property providing an ideal picnic area.

Membership information may be obtained at the club grounds or by contacting Frank Parkhurst III, Miners National Bank Building, Wilkes-Barre.

Preparations Rolling For Sixth Center Moreland Church Auction

Lake-Lehman Band Has Bid To Play In Philly

Lake-Lehman Band, under direction of John Millauskas, has been invited to take part in Walt Michaels Day, September 17, in Philadelphia. Permission has been granted by the joint school board, on condition that proper arrangements can be worked out which will not jeopardize school work or run counter to parental objection. It is a signal honor for Lake-Lehman to have received the invitation.

Two days a week, Mr. Millauskas, under a State reimbursed recreation program, is working with the band, building up a back-log of numbers which will be used during the coming year, starting with the football season. A number of key players in the prize winning band graduated this year, but Mr. Millauskas is training replacements.

Lake-Lehman Band Has Bid To Play In Philly

Lake-Lehman Band, under direction of John Millauskas, has been invited to take part in Walt Michaels Day, September 17, in Philadelphia. Permission has been granted by the joint school board, on condition that proper arrangements can be worked out which will not jeopardize school work or run counter to parental objection. It is a signal honor for Lake-Lehman to have received the invitation.

Two days a week, Mr. Millauskas, under a State reimbursed recreation program, is working with the band, building up a back-log of numbers which will be used during the coming year, starting with the football season. A number of key players in the prize winning band graduated this year, but Mr. Millauskas is training replacements.

Lake-Lehman Band Has Bid To Play In Philly

Lake-Lehman Band Has Bid To Play In Philly

Ricky Dodson Hurt In Wild Bicycle Ride

A wild bicycle ride down Coal Chute Hill in Fernbrook last Thursday afternoon resulted in loss of three permanent teeth, laceration of lips, imbedded gravel, and extensive brush burns and bruises for eight-year old Ricky Dodson. Ricky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dodson, knocked unconscious, recovered sufficiently to stagger to the home of his grandfather, Fred Dodson, where he received first aid.

Dr. Irvin Jacobs treated him for shock at the Lake-Noxen Clinic, pruned gravel from his lips, and closed the lacerations with sutures.

Lies In State At Huntsville

Mrs. Learn Returns To Her Church Home

Mrs. Alverna J. Learn lay in state at Huntsville Methodist church on Monday, returning from Conyngham to take her place once more in the church where she had been a mainstay for so many years.

She was buried in Lehman Cemetery after a congregation of mourners had paid their last respects to a beloved member. Rev. Ray Demming, pastor of Conyngham Methodist Church, where Mrs. Learn had taken an active part for the last six years, in speaking of her, likened her to the salt of the earth which added savor to all with whom she came in contact.

She died at 82, after a two month illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Oberst of Conyngham, with whom she had made her home for the past six years after leaving her native Jacksonville Township.

During her long connection with Huntsville Methodist Church, she taught the BA Sunday school class for 27 years, and held office in the W.S.C.S. At Shavertown Nesbitt Auxiliary, she was equally active, serving as secretary for 25 years. When she gave up this position, she was honored at a farewell luncheon at the Country Club by fellow members. The community felt a deep sense of loss when she moved away.

Her parents were Major G. and Jane Hoover Johnson. Her husband George died eleven years ago, one year after the couple observed the Golden Wedding anniversary. Mrs. Learn remained at Chase for several years after his death, leaving in 1955.

She leaves in addition to her daughter in Conyngham, these children: Mrs. Albert McDonnell, Malvern, N. Y.; Charles G. Learn, Middletown, N. Y.; seven grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren; two sisters: Mrs. H. N. Armstrong, and Mrs. John K. Sharkey, Wilkes-Barre; a brother, Harold Johnson, Harvey's Lake.

Pallbearers were Alfred Rogers, Walter Palmer, George Russell, Wayne Oberst, and George McDonnell. Arrangements by Bronson.

Area Children Enjoy Program

Playground Activity Offers Wide Variety

Children of the Dallas Area gave wide support to the newly installed recreation program by the Dallas School District under Dr. Robert Mellman, Superintendent of schools. The first week's activity saw a total of 1060 participants in the special scheduled events and 830 enjoying the facilities of the four playgrounds in free play.

In visits to each playground, Elaine Kozemchak greeted a total of 200 in Arts and Crafts, Square Dancing attracted 185 youths under Charles James and Joyce Swepensheiser. Nature study by Nancy Hess was enjoyed by 180 pupils.

Wednesday's Social Dancing class has 200 members, and a record high which followed was attracted by 40. Story-telling and Public Speaking supervised by Ann Dorrance had 120 participants.

Elementary, Intermediary, and Senior baseball had 135 players, while basketball attracted 80 boys in league organization and play.

Elementary and secondary tumbling and gymnastics was offered to 50 boys while girls volleyball and softball was played by 45.

Free play was enjoyed by 300 for the week at Dallas Borough, while Shavertown had the next largest number of patrons, 200. Dallas Junior High School and Tracksville had 180 and 150 respectively.

The varied program will be continued through the summer on a regular schedule with many special events planned for each week.

Ice Cream Cabinet

Forty Fort Ice Cream Co. has permission of Dallas School Board to install an ice-cream cabinet in the new senior high school building.

Lake-Lehman Faces Possible School Closing

Unless Construction Is Authorized, Order Will Be Enforced

Lake-Lehman's building program has been warmly commended by Harrisburg, both for its scope and its cost. P.L.B. 40 has been approved, and this morning at 11 an appraiser from Harrisburg will meet with County Superintendent of Schools Eugene S. Teter and administrators from Lake-Lehman to appraise both Lake and Lehman buildings for purposes of revaluation.

Bids were opened by the Lehman Building Authority June 20. On this date, John Hewitt, president of the Authority, stated that though a period of sixty days was allowed before acceptance or rejection of bids, it was his opinion that decision could be made within thirty days, a date which would coincide with appraisal of property today.

All directors in the five-way jointure voted for construction of the new school except Vernon Cease of Jackson Township.

Edgar Lashford, at a recent school board meeting, pointed out that present fire hazards at Lake and Lehman cannot be corrected within the year, and that failure to authorize the building program would jeopardize the school program, as two buildings would have to be closed unless the building project was approved and wheels set in motion.

A breakdown of cost of construction follows: for the new high school, general contract $949,610; plumbing, $224,012; heating, $199,829; lighting, $144,921.

Remodelling at Lehman: general, $63,000; plumbing, $29,843; heating, $11,197; lighting, $12,711.

At Lake: general, $105,000; plumbing, $35,378; heating, $49,100; lighting, $12,711.

Lester Squier, supervising principal, points out that it has been necessary to rent two houses across the road from the Lake building to take care of the overflow of students, and that several rooms in the main building are substandard. There is no room for the Noxen seventh-graders, who would normally start junior high school with the other students of their age group at Lake.

The new senior - junior high school is capable of housing 887 pupils, a capacity which will provide room for foreseen growth of the student population.

Since a school is paid for over a period ranging from thirty-five to forty years, it is of prime importance that it be large enough to take care of all contingencies, and not be outgrown before it is paid for. The cost of construction at the outset is less than cost of adding annexes in the future.

1962 Auction Chairman

Lucky the Dallas Post kept Dick Demmy's newspaper out on the block, ready to slip into the paper again for the Post-Auction issue.

Dick will be the auction chairman next year. He did a workmanlike job this year as co-chairman for Doc Jordan, and his auctioneering was a delight to the spectators.

Statistics on Dick may be had by reference to the Dallas Post, issue of July 6, 1961.

No Verdict Given In Schweiss Trial

No verdict has yet been reached, and no sentence pronounced, in the trial of Kenneth Schweiss, seventeen year old Dallas boy, self-confessed slayer of his father, State Trooper Kurt Schweiss. The boy appeared briefly in court Attorney Vincent tant District Attorney Vincent Quinn stated before Judge Frank Pinola that he had sufficient grounds for a first-degree murder charge. The boy was defended by Attorneys Monroe Houtz and Robert Fleming.