

THE SEASONS

by Mrs. Mary L. Craig

There are two seasons which I love best of all; they are spring and fall. I love spring, for it is the time when all things begin to awaken after their long winter sleep. Standing on a windy hill with the warm gentle spring winds blowing, you look down on a world of wondrous nature beginning to come alive. In the streams the ice is melting from their banks. In the middle clear water is running; hear it sing like happy children's laughter as it goes merrily on its way.

The snow has melted from mountains and hillsides, and the once bare trees no longer are brown; their buds are starting to peep from limbs and twigs. Our song birds have come back again; what a beautiful sight to see them hopping here and there looking for seeds, or maybe the warm rains have brought other food for them. What a glad sound to hear their chirping, whistling, and warbling again. How busy the little creatures are, building nests. You may see one with a piece of string, grass, or a feather, some even with mud in his mouth. How cleverly they weave their homes with only their bills by patting the mud to make it solid for their new families. How soothing are their soft, sweet choruses when shades of evening start to fall.

The fields have put on a new carpet of light green which will become darker with time. Over yonder watch the lambs as they run and jump. They act like circus clowns; I wonder if it is leap frog, follow the leader, or "with a baa-baa, I'll race you to the goal." My memories carry me back to my son, how he loved spring. At his first sight of spring when the peep toads were starting to sing, it would be a mad dash to the small streams and creeks; then look out, my pins and spools of thread, no matter what color, disappeared like magic. How many times I watched him sitting patiently with a bent pin and a spool of thread, to hear him say again, "I'll get a big one Mom, one of these days and he will be a big one." Now the dear boy is sleeping on the hillside. One spring day he slipped peacefully away to join the Skipper. He had called his dad Skipper from the time he made him paper boats and had whittled a sail boat from the limb of a tree. The sail was one of my best pillowcases which they snatched from the clothes line. The skipper had gone over the great divide two years before and was waiting for his loved son to clasp his hand and together guide their boat into the harbor and on to the shore of no return.

The summer, oh yes, we have fun in that season. You become sunburnt like a tomato and peeled like an onion. There's swimming; you swallow a gallon of water; your hair is as straight as a string and looks like wheat straw; you look like a floor mop. Picnics too, oh yes, the ants make a road in the potato salad; the flies think they were invited to taste the beans. You swat a mosquito here, now there, and last but not least a bee has put his mark in a funny place. You load up on soda till your seams begin to split. At night the hot dogs and hamburgs have a war of their own in your stomach. You have lost a gallon of sweat or a pound or two. Your feet feel like a bed of coals. What fun!

Then September is here the golden month, the beginning of fall. The trees are now dressed in red, yellow, gold, and brown. The asters, mums and the late roses have decided they are going to join this riot of colors. The corn is cut and the pumpkins are ripe in the fields with all their shades of yellow. In the country kitchens there are the smells of apples, fresh popped corn, or sweet cider.

In the meadows, woods, and mountains you hear shots, a brrr, and a whist of wings. A light snow has fallen that makes good tracking. Whee, there goes a rabbit. Got him.

The woods are bare now; food is scarce; the deer come closer. How you have waited a whole year for this time. My, how fresh you were when you started out this morning, but dusk has fallen and you wonder who is the more tired, you or the deer. A good night's sleep and up again at dawn the next morning to try your luck again. No luck, but there's always another year.

The squirrels, chipmunks and ants are not the only ones who have been busy storing nuts and seeds for the winter. Everyone helps to gather walnuts, butternuts, and hickory nuts. You dry them and crack them for goodies, sometime cracking fingers too as well as thumbs.

Thanksgiving is here at last. There has been baking and candy making for a week. Mom has baked apple, pumpkin, and mince-meat pies. The chickens are stuffed and ready for the oven. Grandma has outdone herself this year on the candies. Tables are set to the last spoon; think you can't hold any more; wait, the candy. You are not going to pass that up now. With a sigh both hands with sore fingers dig in.

Wait! There are still two more beautiful sights of nature's fall season. The Northern Lights, another one of God's great wonders. They fill the sky with all the colors of the rainbow sometimes forming circles small then large or straight paths up and down as if the flood lights from the whole world had been turned on.

But best of all, you hear the honking way up high. Some day when white clouds are drifting by or maybe on a clear cold night with the full moon, do you like to look up at the sky to see the wondrous sight or are you too busy with worldly things? My dear the sight that will fill your eyes is wild geese always in V formation, a big captain on both of the wide ends and another captain where the V slims down to a point. These captains are never gentle when formation is broken. They push, peck, and shove a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sands, and a cattle breeder in her own right. She is reluctant to part with the young bull, but business is business, and $5,000 for a baby bull isn't hay.

Prize Bull Calf Sandsdale Rocket Masterpiece Goes To Ontario

At Woodstock, Ontario, breeders of fine cattle welcomed two fine products of the Ralph Sands Farm at Carverton. Open house this coming Sunday, will present Rocket Masterpiece and his companion, Rosafe Supreme Reflection (v.g.) to interested breeders of the Oxford and District Breeders' Association of Woodstock.

Attend PTA Leadership Conference At Gettysburg

Pictured here, attending the Summer Leadership Conference of Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers at Gettysburg College are: Mrs. George Daniels, District Manager, District 7; Mrs. Thelma C. Culp, Lake-Noxen, Program Chairman, District 7; Mrs. Harold Moore, President Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers.

ger, District 7; Mrs. Thelma C. Culp, Lake-Noxen, Program Chairman, District 7; Mrs. Harold Moore, President Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Attention, skin divers who wear false teeth: Your problem is discussed in a new U.S. Dept. of Commerce publication entitled "Underwater Swimming"; price, $3.00. Women have set a record for membership in Congress; the total is now 19. JPK will get an $8.3-million-dollar jet plane under a $12.5 billion military procurement bill

Work Progressing

Workmen this week began the construction of the new front for the building in Shavertown which will be occupied by Back Mountain Branch of Wyoming National Bank and the new Shavertown Postoffice. Considerable interior work has also been completed. Occupancy is not expected before fall.

"If the four-day work-week ever becomes a reality, then who's going to compensate us for the two coffee breaks we'll no longer have?"

FORTY FORT THEATRE

THUR. - FRI. - SAT.
Troy Donahue
Claudette Colbert
"Parrish"
SUN. - MON. - TUES.
Continuous Sun. 3 - 11
Jeff Chandler
Carol Lynley
Return To Peyton Place
Cinemascope and Color

LUZERNE THEATRE

THURS., FRI., SAT.
Elvis Presley - Hope Lange
"Wild In The Country"
Cinemascope & Color
SUN. and MON.
Continuous Sun. 2 - 11
Rock Hudson - Kirk Douglas
"The Last Sunset"
In Technicolor
TUES. and WED.
Robert Mitchum - Martha Hyer
"The Last Time I Saw Archie"
GIFT NIGHTS
Choice Crystalware or China

DALLAS OUTDOOR THEATRE

WED. - FRI. 9:00 THUR. - SAT 10:30
ELVIS PRESLEY
SINGS OF LOVE TO HOPE LANGE
TUESDAY WELD
MILLIE PERKINS
JERRY WALD'S
WILD IN THE COUNTRY
CINEMASCOPE
COLOR BY DE LUXE
WED. - FRI. 10:45 THUR. - SAT 9:00
New... greatest adventures of Robin Hood!
COLUMBIA PICTURES presents RICHARD GREENE · PETER CUSHING
SWORD OF SHERWOOD FOREST
A HANMER FILM PRODUCTION · MEGASCOPE · Eastman KODAK
SUNDAY - MONDAY - TUESDAY
THE SPECTACULAR LOVE STORY THAT THRILLED MILLIONS!
DAVID SELZNICK'S MARGARET MITCHELL'S
GONE WITH THE WIND
CLARK GABLE · VIVIAN LEIGH
LESLIE HOWARD · OLIVIA DEHAVILLAND
A SELZNICK INTERNATIONAL PICTURE · RELEASED BY METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER INC.

Everybody Drives But Father
A pedestrian, according to an Oklahoma Senator, is a man with three grown children and one car. What about the man with one car and one wife?

SUBSCRIBE TO THE POST

STAR-LITE DRIVE IN THEATRE

TUNKHANNOCK, PA.
Thur.-Fri.-Sat, July 27-28-29
One Showing Each Evening.
Come Early
(Plays 1st Friday Evening)
DORIS DAY · REX HARRISON · JOHN GAVIN
Midnight Lace
in Eastman COLOR
MYRNA LOY · RODDY McDOWALL
HERBERT MARSHALL · NATASHA PARRY · JOHN WILLIAMS
HERMIONE BADDELEY
A ROSS HUNTER-ARWIN PRODUCTION
A UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL RELEASE
(Plays 1st Thur. and Sat. Evs.)
AUDIE MURPHY · JOHN SAXON
POSSE FROM HELL
in Eastman COLOR
SUNDAY-MONDAY, July 30-31
(Plays 1st & 3rd Each Evening)
WALT DISNEY'S
One Hundred and One Dalmatians
in Eastman COLOR
JIM BROWN · FRANCES RAFFERTY
A Tiger Productions Picture · A Universal International Release

POSSE FROM HELL

in Eastman COLOR
SUNDAY-MONDAY, July 30-31
(Plays 1st & 3rd Each Evening)

WINGS OF CHANCE

WINGS OF CHANCE
DANGER RIDES WITH EACH TAKE-OFF!
Walt Disney's
One Hundred and One Dalmatians
in Eastman COLOR
JIM BROWN · FRANCES RAFFERTY
A Tiger Productions Picture · A Universal International Release

COMING SOON

COMING SOON
Last Time I Saw Archie
Snow White and The 3 Stooges
From The Terrace
Grass Is Greener

THE SEASONS

THE SEASONS
brought to you by Mrs. Mary L. Craig
There are two seasons which I love best of all; they are spring and fall. I love spring, for it is the time when all things begin to awaken after their long winter sleep. Standing on a windy hill with the warm gentle spring winds blowing, you look down on a world of wondrous nature beginning to come alive. In the streams the ice is melting from their banks. In the middle clear water is running; hear it sing like happy children's laughter as it goes merrily on its way. The snow has melted from mountains and hillsides, and the once bare trees no longer are brown; their buds are starting to peep from limbs and twigs. Our song birds have come back again; what a beautiful sight to see them hopping here and there looking for seeds, or maybe the warm rains have brought other food for them. What a glad sound to hear their chirping, whistling, and warbling again. How busy the little creatures are, building nests. You may see one with a piece of string, grass, or a feather, some even with mud in his mouth. How cleverly they weave their homes with only their bills by patting the mud to make it solid for their new families. How soothing are their soft, sweet choruses when shades of evening start to fall. The fields have put on a new carpet of light green which will become darker with time. Over yonder watch the lambs as they run and jump. They act like circus clowns; I wonder if it is leap frog, follow the leader, or "with a baa-baa, I'll race you to the goal." My memories carry me back to my son, how he loved spring. At his first sight of spring when the peep toads were starting to sing, it would be a mad dash to the small streams and creeks; then look out, my pins and spools of thread, no matter what color, disappeared like magic. How many times I watched him sitting patiently with a bent pin and a spool of thread, to hear him say again, "I'll get a big one Mom, one of these days and he will be a big one." Now the dear boy is sleeping on the hillside. One spring day he slipped peacefully away to join the Skipper. He had called his dad Skipper from the time he made him paper boats and had whittled a sail boat from the limb of a tree. The sail was one of my best pillowcases which they snatched from the clothes line. The skipper had gone over the great divide two years before and was waiting for his loved son to clasp his hand and together guide their boat into the harbor and on to the shore of no return. The summer, oh yes, we have fun in that season. You become sunburnt like a tomato and peeled like an onion. There's swimming; you swallow a gallon of water; your hair is as straight as a string and looks like wheat straw; you look like a floor mop. Picnics too, oh yes, the ants make a road in the potato salad; the flies think they were invited to taste the beans. You swat a mosquito here, now there, and last but not least a bee has put his mark in a funny place. You load up on soda till your seams begin to split. At night the hot dogs and hamburgs have a war of their own in your stomach. You have lost a gallon of sweat or a pound or two. Your feet feel like a bed of coals. What fun! Then September is here the golden month, the beginning of fall. The trees are now dressed in red, yellow, gold, and brown. The asters, mums and the late roses have decided they are going to join this riot of colors. The corn is cut and the pumpkins are ripe in the fields with all their shades of yellow. In the country kitchens there are the smells of apples, fresh popped corn, or sweet cider. In the meadows, woods, and mountains you hear shots, a brrr, and a whist of wings. A light snow has fallen that makes good tracking. Whee, there goes a rabbit. Got him. The woods are bare now; food is scarce; the deer come closer. How you have waited a whole year for this time. My, how fresh you were when you started out this morning, but dusk has fallen and you wonder who is the more tired, you or the deer. A good night's sleep and up again at dawn the next morning to try your luck again. No luck, but there's always another year. The squirrels, chipmunks and ants are not the only ones who have been busy storing nuts and seeds for the winter. Everyone helps to gather walnuts, butternuts, and hickory nuts. You dry them and crack them for goodies, sometime cracking fingers too as well as thumbs. Thanksgiving is here at last. There has been baking and candy making for a week. Mom has baked apple, pumpkin, and mince-meat pies. The chickens are stuffed and ready for the oven. Grandma has outdone herself this year on the candies. Tables are set to the last spoon; think you can't hold any more; wait, the candy. You are not going to pass that up now. With a sigh both hands with sore fingers dig in. Wait! There are still two more beautiful sights of nature's fall season. The Northern Lights, another one of God's great wonders. They fill the sky with all the colors of the rainbow sometimes forming circles small then large or straight paths up and down as if the flood lights from the whole world had been turned on. But best of all, you hear the honking way up high. Some day when white clouds are drifting by or maybe on a clear cold night with the full moon, do you like to look up at the sky to see the wondrous sight or are you too busy with worldly things? My dear the sight that will fill your eyes is wild geese always in V formation, a big captain on both of the wide ends and another captain where the V slims down to a point. These captains are never gentle when formation is broken. They push, peck, and shove a little

FORTY FORT LUMBER CO.

OPEN HOUSE

Sat. & Sun. - 2 To 7 P.M.

This ... THE INSTITUTE FOR ESSENTIAL HOUSING VACATION HOME

Located In Hemlock Gardens - Warden Place, Harvey's Lake
1/2 Mile Back Of The Catholic Church (See Map Below)

THE "BUTTONWOOD RIDGE" MODEL

Modern, compact yet designed to give you the roominess and privacy of a big house. Here you get a huge living-dining area and up-to-the minute kitchen. Two big bedrooms have cross ventilation, room for either twin beds or double, large closets, recessed vanities and plenty of wall space.

Furnished & Decorated By The BOSTON STORE
NOW! ... For The First Time ... We'll Build You A Custom Built Home For:

- * NO DOWN PAYMENT
- * 100% FINANCING
- * NO EXTRA CLOSING COSTS
- * Pay Less Per Month For A Livable House Than Buyer Would Pay For "Shell" Alone.
- * LOW MONTHLY PAYMENT
- * 17 DIFFERENT DESIGNS AND PLANS

If You Own A Building Lot Anywhere

I. E. H. HOMES
For EVERYONE

- * 2-3 Bedroom Homes
- * Vacation Homes
- * Lake Cottages
- * Retirement Homes

FORTY FORT LUMBER CO.

Murray and Dilley Sts. Forty Fort
"THE FRIENDLY LUMBER YARD"
BU 7-3171

LEONARD'S In The Gateway Shopping Center Opened Every Night Until 9...

125.00
OTHER OMEGAS FROM 69.50
Automatically TELLS BOTH THE DATE AND THE MINUTE
Omega Calendar Watch
Wyoming Valley's Largest Jeweler
Leonard's
DIAMONDS · WATCHES · GIFTS
"Shop The Leonard's Nearest To You"
61 SO. MAIN ST. OF THE GATEWAY

SANDY BEACH

FRI. & SAT. July 28 - 29
"Cimarron"
Glen Ford - Maria Schell
Anne Baxter
The Story of a Man, a Land, a Love!
FRI. and SAT. 9:40 P.M.
also
"Music Box Kid"
Ronald Foster - Luana Patter
FRI. and SAT. 8:40 P.M.
SUN & MON. July 30 - 31
Return To Peyton Place
Jeff Chandler - Eleanor Parker
Carol Lynley
SUN. and MON. 9:30 P.M.
also
"High Powered Rifle"
Willard Parker - Allison Hayes
SUN. and MON. 8:40 P.M.
TUES. and WED. Aug. 1 - 2
"Can Can"
Frank Sinatra - Shirley MacLaine
Maurice Chevalier
Louis Jourdan
A Picture Worth Seeing Over and Over Again.
TUES. and WED. 9:30 P.M.
also
"Oklahoma Territory"
Bill Williams - Georgia Falbot
TUES. and WED. 8:30 P.M.
COMING
THURS. - FRI. & SAT.
Aug. 3 - 4 - 5
"By Love Possessed"
Theatre open everynite
Beach open Everyday.