Four hundred years young, Pensacola is Florida's year-round playground and ever-blooming flower garden. The Magic Circle auto tour leads across to Santa Rosa Island, its glamorous beaches and crumbling ruins of Fort Pickens, built between the Spanish-American and World War II on the sites of sieges and battles from Spain's first settlement through the Civil War.

From here you drive along the Gulf of Mexico's 100-mile "Miracle Strip" of snow-white sands to enjoy water sports and fishing at Fort Walton Beach and Destin; then to booming Panama City, where battleships are being cut up for scrap and civic pride centers on a multi-million dollar ultramodern Center and marina built over the water.

The route north is to DeFuniak Springs with its spring-fed lake and missile-like Confederate Monument; a piney woods hunters paradise around Crestview; and back to Pensacola via a pleasant land of rivers, inlets and lagoons.

For a culminating treat there is a visit to the Naval Air Station where, on occasion, the Blue Angels Flight Team puts on its show of pattern jet flight aerobatics. Venerable Fort San Carlos, located within the station's gates, originally was built by Spain in 1559 — its history one of capture, destruction, rebuilding.

New England Lad Makes Best Time For Local Track
140 Racers Entered National Quarter Midget Races Here
Approximately 140 children from the United States and Canada entered cars in the National Quarter Midget race held at Lollipop race track, last week end.

Droves of families, equipped with mechanics, operators enthusiasm and hope for the little racers, arrived from New Mexico, Ontario, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Oregon, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

One racer has attended five national races this summer which have taken him across the United States. Five tents, pitched near the race track, housed several families. Occupants of a tent set up behind Crown Imperial Bowling Lanes rushed unexpectedly with bag and baggage to higher ground when a cloud-burst sent water streaming down the hill and into their tent Saturday night.

Other families slept in station wagons or registered at local motels. Area around the track was covered with a sea of beach umbrellas which shaded picnickers and observers from blistering heat.

A record time (7.36 seconds) for the Lollipop Race Track was turned in Sunday in the A-Open Division by Donald Kenison, Marlboro, Mass.

Local winners are: Henry Funke in Dallas, 2nd place in 2nd race in B-modified class; Benny Maskalis, Kingston, 3rd place in the same race; Drew Bittenbender, 1st place in the fourth race of B-modified and holder of the top time trial (7.71-seconds).
