Speedminder Cruisers Serve To Check Motorists' Speed

Motorists mind their speed and generally keep within the posted limits, at least when they are within sight of the Commonwealth's new Speedminder Cruisers. O. D. Shipley, Commissioner of Traffic Safety, reported today that public reaction to the new vehicles with the oversized, roof-mounted speedometer clocks has been "very satisfactory." The Cruiser fleet, consisting of eleven vehicles operated by the Bureau of Traffic Safety, first made its appearance on the State's highways during the July Fourth Weekend. The special cars patrolled the key travel arteries continuously over the four-day holiday. "We would like to think that the cruiser patrols were a factor in Pennsylvania's low traffic death rate over the Fourth," Shipley stated. The Commissioner said that Bureau field representatives who drive the Speedminders observed that motorists generally stayed at or below the posted speed limits when within sight of the Cruisers. "Reports reaching me indicate that three Speedminders have had a dramatic impact on drivers," Shipley said. "The reaction of the motoring public has been overwhelming approval of the cars and their purpose." Shipley emphasized that the cars have "nothing to do with radar nor do they have any enforcement function, as some people seem to believe. "These cars are meant to do just what their name implies: Remind drivers to check their speed and adjust it to conform with safety and the law. I believe they are fulfilling this function with great effectiveness." Shipley noted that Cruiser drivers also render assistance to travelers with car trouble or asking directions.

Game Commission Promotes Field Man

Pennsylvania Game Commission has promoted two of its field men, Executive Director M. J. Golden announces. Roy W. Trexler was advanced to the position of supervisor of the agency's Northeast Division, thus becoming the field administrator heading the wildlife management program in the 13-county area. Trexler assumes the post vacated by Carl C. Stainbrook, who retired June 30. The newly appointed supervisor was born in Macungie, Pennsylvania, January 14, 1914. He has served the Commission and the people of Pennsylvania in wildlife capacities since 1937, when he was commissioned a deputy game protector. Trexler has demonstrated his capabilities in several phases of the work. Following graduation from the Game Commission training school in 1942 he served as a district game protector in York County until 1948, except for four years of service with the Army during World War 2. In 1948, he was promoted to the position of conservation information assistant on the headquarters staff of the Southeast Division. From 1952 to 1956 he served as Pittman-Robertson area leader for the Southeast and Northeast Division, in charge of land management work conducted with Federal Aid Funds. Early in 1956 he was promoted to Land Management Assistant on the Southeast Division headquarters staff.

Bounty Payments Decline Bounties were paid from the Game Fund for valid claims presented during the Game Commission fiscal year ending May 31, 1961 on the following predators: Gray foxes 7,586 Red foxes 15,502 Great-horned owls 1,222 Proper claims presented during the 12-month period totaled 6,395 and payments totaling $98,462 were made. During the previous fiscal year 6,620 claims were honored and total payments amounted to $102,691 for 8,207 gray foxes, 16,087 red foxes and 1,103 great-horned owls. During the year ending May 31, 1959 claims honored totaled 8,887, and payments totaling $111,919 were made for the following: 9,004 gray foxes, 17,667 red foxes and 1,047 great-horned owls.

Woodchuck Hunting Hours Woodchuck (groundhog) shooters are advised: The Game Law states the hours during which the animals may be hunted, July 1 through September 30, are 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. Hunting hours for the "whistle pigs" other than during July August and September are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., EST. The woodchuck is classed as a game animal in Pennsylvania, therefore may not be legally hunted on Sunday.

Second 1961 Sale Of Skins A recently compiled record shows that, during spring this year, the Game Commission sold 124 raw furs and skins to high bidders for $496,50. Most of the lot were pelts acquired through confiscation or seizure by Game Protectors in the pursuance of their duties. In April of this year the Commission received $3,352.90 from the highest bidder for 1,874 deer hides Game Protectors collected and preserved during the several preceding months. The sums accruing from both of these sales were deposited in the Game Fund, the only source supporting the Commission's wildlife management program.

Unwelcome Birdlife Grackles damaged Bedford County crops more than crows, late last spring," says Game Protector William Shaffer. "Not only are they destructive pests, they rob other birds' nests. Early in June I watched a grackle kill a young song sparrow newly out of the nest." Horseshoe Club's Race The point-to-point race held on Sunday by Back Mountain Horseshoe 4-H Club was a success and fun for eight riders that entered. The twin challenge trophies were won by Mr. Anthony Bogden and Jim Post. Special thanks from the club go to Henry's Jewelry Store, for donating the trophies, and to Orchard Farm, for the use of the grove.
