

Lake-Lehman High School

By MARY ANN LASKOWSKI

WELCOME:

The morning of the 6th is the biggest day in September for students of Back Mountain Schools. The night brings thoughts: "I wonder who will be my teacher", "Will my classmates have changed much" and most important for girls, "I hope my outfit will be as attractive as the other girls!" I suppose parents hear this every year, but to a student these questions are important and have much bearing on the year's activities.

As morning arrives everyone is excited. Finally at school, you see all the old faces, along with some new ones, and then the questions are answered.

When you look around the old building, you see that while you were on vacation, someone was working to make your school days pleasant. Rooms have been painted, floors polished and everything made perfect for your reentrance.

This is what will be happening at Lake-Lehman Schools, but I wonder how the students will react as they enter the new Dallas Senior High School? They have a whole new world. There is a little bit of envy in the minds of the students at Lake-Lehman. They also might have been able to enter a new school if it hadn't been for a few so-called taxpayers!

As the day wears on, everyone receives papers to fill out, schedules to follow and books for the year's learning. Each of us goes home at closing time bursting with things to tell their parents.

This is the excitement of the first day of school.

FOOTBALL:

It seems odd that we are back to school for a few days and already we are able to attend a football game where the students can show their loyalty to the school they attend.

The squad has been practicing for some weeks and is anxiously waiting to start the league games.

We have 55 boys out to learn, not only the rules and regulations of the game itself, but to learn something that will last them far after their high school days—sportsmanship. I'm sure our head coach, Mr. Edward Edwards along with his assistants, Mr. Arthur Nuss and Mr. John Zelaskas, will do their very best to bring glory to the school along with honors to each player.

The first game is Saturday with Nescopeck on our field at 2 p. m. Be sure you are there to support this new team on to victory.
