BOLTON'S DINER DOES ITS BIT FOR FIREMEN FIGHTING BIG BLAZE

Bolton's Diner opened its doors Wednesday morning shortly after three, to serve coffee and doughnuts to firemen and volunteers engaged at fire-fighting at Back Mountain Lumber Company.

Andrew Broody, disaster chairman for Wyo. Valley Red Cross, who had phoned Mr. Bolton to ask him to serve food, was astonished when Mr. and Mrs. Bolton would accept nothing. Mr. Broody, attempting to pick up the tab for the Red Cross, at 7 a.m., found that Bolton's Diner was making a free-will offering.

"It's the least we can do," said Mr. Bolton.

Girls carrying pitchers of hot coffee and trays of doughnuts came to the scene of the fire-fighting when firemen found themselves unable to leave their apparatus for a snack.

Mrs. Bertha Squier Was Nicholson School Director

Mrs. Bertha Brown Squier, well known in this area both because of her eighteen years of service on Nicholson School Board and her relationship to her son, Lester B. Squier, supervising principal of Lake-Lehman Joint Schools, died at her home in Fields Brook Sunday night after a prolonged illness.

She was buried Wednesday in the family plot in Nicholson Cemetery, following services conducted by Rev. Thomas S. Snyder, pastor of West Nicholson Methodist Church.

Mrs. Squier, 77, was closely identified with her community. She belonged to West Nicholson Methodist Church; Order of the Eastern Star, Arbutus Chapter; and West Nicholson Grange 321.

Her husband, Marshall, is former treasurer and Wyoming County Commissioner.

The couple celebrated their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary Christmas Eve.

She was the former Bertha Brown, daughter of the late James D. and Ada Smith Brown. A native of Nicholson Township, she lived there all her life.

In addition to her husband, she leaves her son, Lester B. Squier, a son, Richard, at home; a foster daughter, Mrs. Mildred Decker, and five grandchildren.

Damages in excess of $2,000 on each of two counts are asked in a suit started at the courthouse last week by Patrick J. Finnerty and his minor daughter, Mary Claire, 37 Wood Street, Pittston, for loss of a tooth and injuries to two others in a mishap on a midget automobile track.

Defendants are George A. Bittenbender and his wife Lucille, Dallas, owners and operators of Lolly Pop One Quarter Midget Raceway, State Route 177, also known as Memorial Highway, Dallas.

The girl was injured September 6, 1959, after renting a midget automobile, according to the complaint filed by Attorneys B. Todd Maguire and Thomas F. Burke. She was riding on and around the midget track when her little car collided with a section of the guard or fence surrounding the track. Her injuries included loss of a tooth, a broken tooth and one pulled away from the membrane, besides contusions and lacerations of the mouth.

It is alleged defendants were careless and negligent in failing to instruct users of the midget automobiles and in failing to equip the vehicles with safety straps and brakes, failing to cushion or pad the guard rail and failing to have the race-track properly supervised by audit personnel.

Complaint lists expenses of $261 incurred for medical and dental care.

Four Hundred Attend Outing

Democrats Gather At Sacred Heart Park

More than 400 attended the Back Mountain Democratic Outing at Sacred Heart Park Saturday evening and enjoyed the fellowship and good food.

The dining and dancing area were beautifully decorated with streamers and soft lighting. Tables were lined with patriotic coverings, and food—hamburgers, hot dogs and steaming corn—were served throughout the evening. Waitresses catered to the diners.

Along with local candidates, State and County candidates were presented, but there were no speeches.

Music and dancing were enjoyed and there were still 150 persons there when the Outing broke up at 1 a.m.

Those in charge of arrangements were: Tony Hudak, Bernie McDermott, William Pressman, Marty McEnroe, George Cave, Dean Weale, Walter Davis, Robert Boyle, Welton Ferrar, John Gosart, Tony Wisniewski, Margaret McDermott, Nancy Cave, Ida Davis and Ann Ondish.

For two consecutive years the Back Mountain committee has reported the highest percentage of new members enrolled in YWCA. The "Homemaker's Holiday", adult program available in the Town and Country Branch of the YWCA and Shavertown Methodist Church, is due in part to the response, and Mrs. Lull has stated that it is the hope of her committee that 100% re-enrollment will be the result of this year's effort. Membership is open to all women and girls.

The first Fall series of the "Homemaker's Holiday" classes will begin Tuesday, September 19 with early coffee at 9:30 a.m. Instructions will be given in millinery, Braille, first aid and survival, bowling, Della Robbia wreaths, beginner sewing needlecraft and art. Supervised playroom facilities for pre-school children will again be available with a registration fee required for the first child only in each family.

Solicitors for the drive were invited to a picnic luncheon last Thursday at the "Wishing Well", home of Mr. and Mrs. Aston Davis, Bear Creek, marking the beginning of the enrollment effort. Reports will be made at the YWCA each Thursday.

1. Notify the telephone, light and gas companies so that they can discontinue your service before you lock up.
2. Notify the water company to shut off service; then drain all plumbing so the pipes are empty.
3. Pour one gallon of kerosene into toilet bowl, to prevent it from rusting or breaking.
4. Cover all chrome fixtures in kitchen and bathroom, as well as the burner-unit of the kitchen stove, with a coat of Vaseline petroleum jelly as a protection against rust.
5. Pack linens and bed-covers away in closets and bureau.
6. Cover all furniture.
7. Close and lock all windows and shutters.
