Reels In His Deer On A Nylon Line

Apple tree-sitting for ten afternoons running, netted Charles Hayes of Linear a beautiful young six-point buck, which he reeled in on the end of a 100 yard nylon fish line, attached to the point of an arrow.

Charlie, hunting with Jim McCoog (Jim got a nice buck last year during bow and arrow season), hitched his arrow to a reel bearing a superlight nylon line, the type used in shooting carp.

The deer passed within twenty yards of Charlie's perch in an apple tree down beyond Mooretown, Wednesday evening just before dusk. Charlie drew his 57 pound bow, and hit the bullseye.

The line leaped from the reel. Charlie and Jim, waiting for ten minutes, slid their fingers along the line. It stopped where it had broken, wound around a twig, but began again a few yards further on, leading the archers to the kill, about 110 yards beyond the apple tree. White nylon fish-line, says Charley, is the answer to lost arrows. Charley never hunted until four years ago, when he moved to Dallas from Philadelphia. This was his first kill: The buck dressed out at 80 pounds.

Lehman I.O.O.F. Auction

Household goods, farm equipment, antiques, plumbing supplies and dishes are among the items to go over the block. Myron Baker will head auctioneers; Alan Major is general chairman.

Runaway Truck Crashes Walls

Five Ton Load Of Tossed Green Salad

A runaway five ton truck from Cleveland, loaded with tomatoes and lettuce for Scranton shot up Dr. Arthur Grant's steep driveway in Trucksville Monday morning at 2. The truck knocked over two stone retaining walls, and came to rest on its left side on a steep bank, its wheels in the air, high above the sharp grade leading downhill to the Carverton road traffic light.

The driver, pinned behind the wheel by the weight of his wife, managed to open the passenger window, crawl out, and assist his wife through the window.

Taken to Nesbitt hospital by a passing motorist was Mrs. Fred Williams, 21, X-Rays revealed a fractured hip. Her husband was not seriously injured.

The engineering feat of lowering the precariously balanced truck to the road below, was accompanied by using skids, sliding the truck on its side before righting it on the highway. At 5 p.m. Valley White Truck Company towed the truck to Forty Fort.

Herbert Updyke, Chief of Police of Kingston Township, said that the truck blew a right front tire at the Y, where Pioneer Avenue joins Highway 309. Attempt to make the vehicle take the curve resulted in snapping of the steering post. The truck thundered up the Grant driveway and crashed the retaining wall. Tomatoes and lettuce were removed before the truck was hauled away.

Justice ANNE X. ALPERN

For a Full Term On The Supreme Court Of Pennsylvania

The politically independent Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, published in the home city of both candidates for Justice of the State Supreme Court, writes—

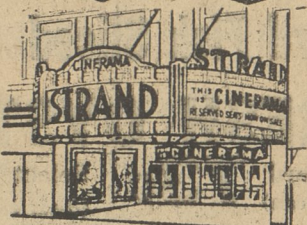

"... where Judge O'Brien is wearisomely hesitant, Justice Alpern is decisive; where Judge O'Brien is lethargic, Justice Alpern is tirelessly industrious; where Judge O'Brien is an apologist for existing slipshod administration, Justice Alpern is an advocate of improvement and modernization."

VOTE NOVEMBER 7TH to keep a great woman justice on our Supreme Court. Justice Alpern's name will appear in the Democratic column only.
