DA

Mr

Long

with

Split

ton .

some

son-II

Burna

is rec

fore !

Mir

six m mout.

Mr.

newly

Tom,

Mr.

reside

street

Pai

and

Truck

their son,]

from where

Mr. I

lurgis

turing

Mr

cently

move

Aven

pont

Mr

Loyal

zona

seven

Black

High

man

Force

Forty

Shall

and

Shall

Hospi

retur

and

Mr

Mr

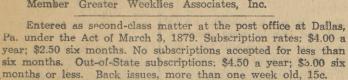

Mr

Mr

THE DALLAS POST Established 1889 "More Than A Newspaper, A Community Institution

Now In Its 71st Year" Member Audit Bureau of Circulations

Member Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association Member National Editorial Association Member Greater Weeklies Associates, Inc.

When requesting a change of address subscribers are asked to give their old as well as new address. Allow two weeks for changes of address or new subscription to be placed on mailing list. The Post is sent free to all Back Mountain patients in local trospitals. If you are a patient ask your nurse for it. We will not be responsible for the return of unsolicited manuwripts, photographs and editorial matter unless self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed, and in no case will this material be held for more than 30 days. Unless paid for at advertising rates, we can give no assurance that announcements of plays, parties, rummage sales or any affair for raising money will appear in a specific issue.

Preference will in all instances be given to editorial matter which has not previously appeared in publication.

National display advertising rates 84c per column inch. Transient rates 80c.

Political advertising $1.10 per inch. Preferred position additional 10c per inch. Advertising deadline

Advertising copy received after Monday 5 P.M. will be charged at 85c per column inch.

Classified rates 5c per word. Minimum if charged $1.00. Editor and Publisher-HOWARD W. RISLEY Associate Publisher—ROBERT F. BACHMAN cociate Editors-MYRA ZEISER RISLEY, MRS. T. M. B. HICKS

Sports-JAMES LOHMAN Advertising-LOUISE C. MARKS

Editorially Speaking:

A NEW EYE ON ALL OF US

Want to know "What the Tax Collector has in Store for You?" U.S. News & World Report tells the story, under that title. It is based on interviews with officials of the Internal Revenue Service. And the gist of it, as a subhead says bluntly, is that "a real crackdown is coming on the man who fails to report and pay taxes on all his

In Secretary of the Treasury Dillon's phrase, we are on the verge of a "new era" of tax collecting. And a major reason for it is that modern miracle—the electronic computer. These machines can be arranged to do practically anything in the realm of mathematics and analysis —and now, it seems, they are going implacably to work on the taxpayer who chisels, practices fraud, or simply "forgets". In U.S. News' words, taxpayers's reports will be instantly "matched with other reports received on taxpayers' incomes. Offenders will be trapped - automa-

This automation of the taxpayer will come into being on a gradual basis. First in line will be those in the Southeastern states, where machine processing will take affect next year. By 1966 the system will be extended to the entire country. So the big questions, as the magazine puts it, are these: "What kinds of unreported income will be found? How many taxpayers will be caught? What will happen to them? Will thousands go to jail? Would it be wise to check for omissions on past returns and

The answers to these questions run about like this: First of all, unreported income consists primarily of dividend and interest payments. Under the law, a firm paying more in dividends or $600 a year interest must report it. The new machines will keep track of these payments, as well as others. According to one survey, more than half of the taxpayers involved had failed to report bank interest on their tax returns.

If you get caught for failure to report income, the minimum cost will be tax owed, plus a 5 per cent negligence penalty, plus 6 per cent annual interest. From there on, it depends on your degree of culpability. What is known as "civil fraud" brings a 50 per cent penalty. And you can be heavily fined and sent to the penitentiary. But criminal charges are brought only in flagrant

As for the number of delinquent taxpayers the machines will reveal, comparatively few, says U.S. News, will be hit with serious charges. Most will be guilty of small offenses or unintentional oversights.

Finally, if your income tax reports have been less than adequate or honest can you clean the slate by confessing? As the magazine explains, it all dépends on the circumstances. If it's a borderline case, and the delinquent taxpayer voluntarily discloses his error prior to an official investigation, and if he has the proper records, IRS will probably go easy. That is, he'll just have to pay the overdue taxes, plus the standard penalties and interest. In extreme cases, of course, he can, so to speak be given the works.

To sum up, we live in the electronic age. And those buttons and bulbs and computers are going to be giving your tax returns a swift, cold, and critical eye.

BELT TIGHTENING INDICATED

Taking over of taxable properties in Kingston and Dallas Townships, for relocation and widening of the Luzerne-Dallas highway and establishment of a State Park at Carverton, will inevitably result in higher school taxes for Dallas School District.

Properties paying good revenue will no longer be listed in the tax duplicates. Eventually, the new road and the new park will bring greater housing development to the Back Mountain, with resultant increase in revenue, but it looks now as if there might be a lean time before advance in revenue catches up with advance in cost.

Costs of operation, in the face of slowly advancing spirals of cost of living and salary increases, are certainly not going to shrink.

In fact, they are going to increase. The Senior High School is already using its space to the best advantage, with no extra rooms available, and scheduling managed efficiently but with not much margin.

Could be, balancing the budget will take a considerable bit of belt tightening.

Rogers Is Promoted KARLSHUHE, Germany (AHTNC) Mrs. Eldon H. Rogers, Dallas R.D. 2, recently was promoted to specialist four in Germany where he is Specialist Rogers, a pole lineman in the battalion's Company B in Today's youngsters don't leave Karlsruhe, entered the Army in footprints on the sands of times-September 1960, received basic train- just tire tracks.

ing at Fort Dix, N.J., and arrived overseas the following February.
The 20-yearold soldier is a 1960 Robert D. Rogers, son of Mr. and graduate of Westmoreland High 1942.

civic affairs. His chief interest lies in scouting. If you can't hear a pin drop, a member of the 25th Signal Bat- chances are there is something very Marie, 12; Andrea, 11; Christine, 9; wrong with your bowling. Germaine and Maureen, 7; Cynthia,

Rambling Around

Looking at By The Oldtimer-D. A. Waters

With GEORGE A. and CALORIE CONSCIOUS viewers even later.

EDITH ANN BURKE

where his wife. Pamela, so tragically met her death from an overdose looking for a Riverside Drive pent-buying a mountain 2,200 feet high in Harriman, N. Y., for the purpose of building an observatory. Dave suit. The owners of J. Fred Muggs, the chimp he had on the show,

are suing him for half a million

How has Dave recovered from

"About half-way," is the way he describes it. "You get over something like that when you do.

simply because I don't feel like

"I took Betty Furness to dinner

ARTHUR GODFREY is joining the nightclub parade, as headline of the Stardust Hotel bill in Las Vegas, Feb. 19 to March 4. One thing is certain, he isn't doing it because

THE DANNY THOMAS SHOW

has been renewed by its sponsor one night to discuss business and the next day all the columnists had the shock of his wife's death?

You can't hurry it.

us engaged," he said.

he needs money.

of his own next season.

with Julia Andrews on March 5 as the "poor man's Mary Martin-Ethel Merman Show". CBS is taping it for an hour-long TV special for a

The whole idea was born when Julie appeared as a guest on the Garry Moore show sometime ago.

Bob Banner, who produces the

'Garry Moore Show" and "Candid

Camera," was quick to realize what a perfect combination they'd

Julie and Carol will carry most of the hour, with a male chorus

Carol is giving up her CBS radio

"I'm a visual comic," she ex-of singers and dancers for support.

show at the end of this month.

plained, " and I just don't like radio.

It's not my medium. And I'm frustrated working in it. If I spend

10 minutes doing something I'm unhappy about, it seems longer than 70 hours doing the work I

Carol has been offered several

But she's turned them all down.

"I have all the best of TV on the Garry Moore Show," she explained,

But everyone, even Garry Moore is wondering if Carol will come back to the show which she helped make

Garry didn't expect her back this season but he's very happy that

Carol has two responsibilities-bringing up her sister, Christine, a senior at St. John the Baptist

School in Mendham, N.J., and supporting her grandmother who lives

Appointment of William Nicoll,

41, as manager of Sears, Roebuck and Co. in Brooklyn has been announced. He is the husband of the

'A native of Pittsburgh, Nicoll joined the merchandising firm in a management training program

there in 1946, following three years

He held a variety of supervisory posts in stores there and in 1952 accepted an assignment as operating superintendent of the company's

Fenway store in Boston. Two years later he became operating superintendent of Buffalo area stores and in October, 1958, came to New York as manager of Sears Fordham Rd.

Nicoll is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. He won his degree in business administration in

He has been active in Bronx

The couple have seven children,

Sell Quickly Through

The Trading Post

6, and William, 2.

service in the Air Force.

former Cynthia Poad of Dallas.

Former Dallas Girl's

Husband Is Promoted

such a success, next season.

she is happy with his show.

'and none of the headaches."

series of her own.

on the Coast.

is an amateur astronomer.

should watch CBS on Thursday, be a description of a journey from Thread the needle". is entitled, "The Fat American," an examination of why Americans Liverpool, or nearby, to London, diversions were playing billiards, Dr. Paul Dudley White, the fam- 1836. The writer, Mary or May ous heart specialist, will be a guest, Vorty, was evidently an unmarried ner described by Jane Austen. She DAVE GARROWAY was back for refers to herself as an old woman a one-time visit on the "Today" show of eighty-one (backwards) which to celebrate the show's 10th an- may mean eighteen. The only name mentioned which is familiar In the six months since he left now locally is Boyd. She refers to the show, Dave has sold his house- Uncle Boyd and numerous cousins the narrow, six-story brownstone and other relatives, almost all of

The family members started out of sleeping pills last April. He's in an omnibus (which we thought was a modern word), then rode in house where he can get air and a phaeton, a coach, a gig, a cockle sun. For weekends he's thinking of shell boat, on a donkey, and walked and walked and walked. Occasionally the walking is varied a little by such words as rambled, but the meaning is clear. Appar-Garroway is also fighting a legal ently the people visited had plenty would get out of regular television very dirty. The scenery was mostly Never let a personal journal lie | On one of the estates they were around. You never know who may keenly interested in some bees read it a hundred years hence, or kept in hives. In a group of young folks they played games including, Recently the Editor handed me "Catching wild horses around the Jan. 18, at 10 p.m. The program a small book which turned out to Mulberry Tree, Drop the glove, and and other points in England in May warming by a bright fire, singing, and playing cards. For the latter, the pastor turned up one evening and Harry Reasoner is the commen- girl reared under the general man- with his long legs encased in zebra silk stockings. He played cards with them and appeared to enjoy it.

They took a lot of interest in an ple even to mention.

But the greater part of their interest was in the churches. They visited one over a thousand years old and climbed a dark and dusty tower. The view was flat and uninteresting and they had to put in a lot of time brushing off the cobwebbs and finally had to go home. It rained the last five miles they had to walk and they were 'sopped". They attended numerous services where there was good music by orchestra and organ. On one Sunday she reports two indifferent sermons.

But she was thrilled by a service in Saint Pauls. Seven thousand of this world's goods, at least their children sang, then with choir and houses and pursuits sound like it. organ, they all sang the 100th The country houses were all large psalm, Coronation Anthem, Halewith ancestral picture galleries, lujah Chorus, God Save the King, large gardens, parks, shooting pre- Psalms 113 and 104. They were serves, musical entertainment, etc. so far away that they could not They were on intimate terms with hear a single word of the bishop's the clergy, some of whom were sermon. She carefully enumerates members of the royal family in at-At Somerset house they saw tendance. Being specific in deny-"I haven't gone out with anyone paintings of The Battle of Trafalgar, ing that she had started it, she ers, The Field of Waterloo, and Mischievous, which were played several others with the comment from time to time. By present day McDowell, California. "What a warlike taste is it not?". standards, they would be too sim-arcade or museum in which was a highy successful year, exhibited a microscope, then new, 125 years? Probably for sometits assets reaching a million durwhich would make a common flea thing else originally in the same ing August. Shavertown firemen look as big as an elephant, and book. The journal, written in ordered $1,000 of new equipment show a drop of water filled with ink, which is somewhat faded and for fighting possible fire due to moving living things. There was a hard to read took only a small raids. Stanley Davis was installed lecture and experiments on oxygen part of the book. The owner then as president. for next season—which quickly ends the Dover Strait proved disap- writer wrote more exciting inci- York.

all the speculation that Danny pointing. The water was calm and dents later in life, too hot to keep. Then on page 73 starts a recipe stallation of fireplugs in Dallas black boats and dirty warehouses. for Black Currant Cordial" written Borough SID MELTON and Pat Carroll, who They visited an orphan asylum and in ink in an older or a different play the night-club owner and his an infant school. A Sunday school hand. There are over forty pages wife on the Danny Thomas show, maintained by the generosity of of recipes one of which is entitled are developing into quite a team. some elderly ladies was particularly "Recipe for Sweet Dreams" signed Danny, whose production complinteresting. Every Whitmonday Mary Vorty 1873 who may be the any has launched Dick Van Dyke they gave the children a dinner of original author. Various other YMCA work at Fore Slocum. and Joey Bishop, is said to be inter- hot pudding, beef, with mustard names appear below recipes, apested in Jan Murray for a show and pepper and horseradish, which parently the source. The later ones, one dated 1915, are written in pen-CAROL BURNETT describes the They were permitted to visit the cil in another, or even several Carnegie Hall concert she's doing outer part only of a mine working. different kinds of handwriting.

(Events exactly 100 years ago this week in the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.)

THOMAS SCORES HEAVILY

At Mill Springs

Zollicoffer Dies in Battle; Rebels Lose 425

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Jan. 19— A decisive Union victory has been scored at Mill Springs, a crossroads hamlet on the Cumberland River some 40 miles to the south.

First reports to reach here were that Union troops under Brig. Gen. George H. Thomas Brig. Gen. George H. Thomas routed an entrenched Confederate force under Maj. Gen. George B. Crittenden, with Southern forces estimated at 125 dead and 300 wounded.

Among these dead was Brig. Gen. Felix K. Zollicoffer, recently relieved by Crittenden of command of the 4,000 Southern from troops still in Kentucky.

ern troops still in Kentucky. Zollicoffer reportedly was shot from his horse after get-ting too close to Union troops he believed were his own men.

* * * AIDES OF Gen. Thomas estimated Union losses at 40 killed and 200 wounded. Southern units, retreating in panic from resolute charges by Thomas men, left their dead and injured on the soggy battlefield.

Gen. Zollicoffer's body was the Cumberland by boat.

recovered and sent under a flag of truce through to lines to the regrouped Southern forces.

An estimated 8,000 troops— —4,000 on each side— were The brief, bloody battle opened at dawn after Crittenden, alerted to a Union advance, marched 10 miles north from Mill Springs to attack. They stumbled onto Federal patrols and, with any chance of surprise melted, started shooting. Thomas' troops poured into the wet dawn from their tents and quickly stemmed the ad-

WHEN ZOLLICOFFER fell dead from his horse, his breast torn open by at least 10 bullets, his two regiments took off in confusion. Further Union charges routed the rest of the cluded two Cavalry companies, a Mississippi regiment, three Tennessee regiments and an Alabama regiment, intended as honors in the Mexican war.

The alert Union pickets who broke up the advance were 4th and 12th Kentucky, 2d Minnesota and 9th Ohio. While fleeing, the Confederates abandoned most of their small arms and, to the delight of their opponents, hundreds of haversacks filled with corn pone and bacon.

These rations were consumed on the spot by the Union soldiers. Those fugitives who eluded

The victors captured more than 150 wagons and about 1,000 norses and mules, along with 11 pieces of heavy artillery, a variety of garrison equipment and five stands of Confederate

GEN. THOMAS, the victor, is an 1840 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Although a Virginian by birth, he remained loyal to the North after Fort Sumter. He served as a colonel of volunteers in the Shenandoah Valey before making brigidier and taking command of the Union's Kentucky force. Crittenden is the son of Sen.

den Compromise fame, who remained loyal to the Union at Gen. Crittenden's brother Southern units engaged in-uded two Cavalry companies. North and is now in the Union army. Like Thomas, Gen. Crit-

(Copyright, 1962, Hegewisch News Syndleate, Chicago 33, Ill. Photo: Library of Congress.)

Only Yesterday

Ten, Twenty and Thirty Years Ago In The Dallas Post

IT HAPPENED 30 YEARS AGO:

Drilling was abandoned on gas well on the John Montross property in Eaton Township. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hoyt lost fifteen month old child, the third time in four years that the parents lost a son as a result of Rev. G. Elston Ruff, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, had an article in the Lutheran, official magazine of the church. Orange took Trucksville 33 to 20, the fourth straight win for Orange in the Rural League. Dallas High School cagers sported new uniforms in blue and gold.

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was stoutly advocated as a money-saving proposition. Chuch roast was 121/2 cents per pound; butter, 25 cents; potatoes,

49 cents a bushel; eggs 23 cents a The barn of Andrew Steltz at Maple Grove burned to the ground, endangering Maple Grove Church

Rev. Rassmussen preached his final sermon at Beaumont Baptist Church before leaving for Chicago.

IT HAPPENED 20 YEARS AGO:

James Mason, husband of a Dallas girl, Ila Mason, was shot down The Battle of Corunna, The Wreck- recites various pranks she terms by a Japanese plane over the Pacific, and invalided home to Fort

First National Bank of Dallas reelected all officers and directors. Why was this old journal kept It was a highy successful year, and hydrogen, and a player piano- turned it over and started paging | Fred M. Kiefer was guest of from the other cover. Seventy-two famed Arctic explorer Anthony Fi-A ride in a cockle shell boat on pages are missing. Maybe the ala at the Explorers Dinner in New

Below zero weather delayed in-The epidemic of measles at Idetown and Lehman was tapering ertown Methodist pulpit to enter Mrs. Asa Holcomb, 87 years old, recalled that cranberries once grew in the marshes at Huntsville. Hamburg was 25 cents a pound; chuck roast, 25; coffee 32 cents; bread, 2 large loaves for 17 cents; ovsters. 31 cents a pint.

Skating was fine at Harveys Lake, no snow on the glare ice. Married: Alma Emma Crispell, to Ernest Samuel Brown, Rose Darcy to Nolan Montney. First Aid Classes were being set up, and everybody was knitting Air raid drills were held in the Alonzo Bailey Center Moreland, Mrs. Elizabeth Erb, Trucksville's oldest resident, celebrated her 92nd birthday by starting to knit another

IT HAPPENED 10 YEARS AGO:

pair of warm socks for the Red

Dial conversion was under way at Commonwealth Telephone Co., and hundreds of people visited the new building on Lake Street. More than 650 telephone executives, civic leaders, bankers, businessmen and executives of Sordoni Enterprises gathered for a dedication dinner In a supplement, all members of the Commonwealth Telephone Company were pictured, illustrations forming a huge A. and J., with a linesman up a pole for the dot. Splendid pix of Andy himself on the front page, and an editorial. Emory Kitchen was believed dead. He was presumably drowned in the Coosa River in Alabama when the speedboat in which he was riding capsized. Joseph Podrazik was employed by the Dallas Borough-Kingston Township school board to teach industrial arts.

Rural Building and Loan elected E. J. Staub president. The January thaw was in full swing, after some record breaking sub-zero weather. Groceries were just about as expensive as they are today, meat slightly less. but not noticeably.

Kenneth Cosgrove. Gloria Gretchen Krampf to James Work. Florabelle Brown to Joseph Smith. Ernest L. Reese was on Midway Island as a radio man.

Chauncey Shaver, 73, died at Harveys Lake. Mrs. Marv Sutliff died in Lehman aged 83.

Mrs. Mitchell Jenkins headed the Book Club. Shavertown topped the Church

SAFETY VALVE A DESERVED SPOT

Thank you for the coverage you gave to our Christmas Cheer Basket project. It made our hard work-

> Mrs. Wilfred A. Ide, Pres. Harveys Lake Women's Service Club

From

Pillar To Post...

Repercussions from Pillar To Posts:

About that Bull Durham column-Henry Ward, manager of Dallas Acme, remembers the Bull Durham tobacco and the hand-tailored cigarettes, but not in relation to cowboys. When he was a kid is Maryland, the engineer in the cab of a locomotive used to wave to him with a bag of Bull Durham, tightening the string with his teeth as he puffed past, up the long grade. Mr. Ward thinks the engineer probably lit the cigarette in the fire-box. You couldn't do that on a modern Diesel," says Henry with a nostalgic gleam in his eye.

Mrs. William Lloyd, Shrine Acres, says she's fed up on hearing about the high cholesterol level of husbands in general, and is delighted to read about a husband who is not only permitted but encouraged to work on his own woodpile, just because he wants

Mrs. Lloyd, dropping by the Post the other day, recalled to mind an incident better left buried. She said, "Remember that time you appeared in my T-V program? That was the all-time

Will I ever forget it? She wasn't a married woman at that time, but she was just as good looking as she is today, no more, no

She sprung it on me, right in the middle of an interview. "Is your husband still living?'

With a mental eye on that agile and rambunctious male, I faced the camera and blurted out, "God, YES." Given time to think, I might have softened it slightly, such as "Not only alive, but kicking, constantly," or even a mild, "Dear me, yes."

It is a tribute to the future Mrs. Lloyd that she did not get heaved summarily off the air, along with her guest, but she stood well at the broadcasting station, and after all, she could not be held responsible for a guest's derelictions. Misled by a thatch of wild white hair, and a deceptively serene appearance, she had no way of knowing in advance that the owner of the thatch had been exposed to life in the Army as well as life at the Dallas Post, and was apt to revert to type in times of stress.

"Can't you EVER stop writing about your children and your grandchildren?" Come now, what else IS there to write about? Ask any grandmother of twenty-one grands, and just be thankful that this grandmother does not carry around a flock of snapshots with her, and ram them down your throat.

"Writing must be such a delightful hobby." Hobby, me eye. It's what keeps the wolf from baying too loudly

How do you get started on writing a column?" Elementary. You stick your neck out, the axe descends. If you're smart cookie, you don't ever start.

Then there are those people who say, "Reading Pillar to Post is like sitting in a rocking chair in front of an open fire, with a cup

This is likely to result in a feverish exchange of recipes. "How do you make your rice pudding creamy? Do you start with cooked rice or uncooked, and do you use a little nutmeg or just vanilla? How about raisins?"

Or, "Well, you don't want to roll out your molasses cookies, you get too much flour in them that way. Just drop them on a well greased cookie sheet, flatten them slightly with the sugared bottom of a tumbler, and be careful not to bake them too long. They ought to turn out light and puffy."

(And if you don't recognize Mrs. Joseph Schooley's touch with molasses cookies, you've missed something.)

'You know, you ought to get your slang up to date." Oh rats, what's 1962 slang got that 1922 slang didn't have? Twenty-three and a big skidoo for you.

"Why don't you SAY something about the current craze for doing the Twist? It's nauseating."

Lady, lady. The righteous folks who used to do the Charleston, the Bunny-Hug, the Turkey-Trot, and Shake the Shimmy, are now complaining because their grandchildren are disconnecting their backbones doing the Twist. For my money, these acrobatics work off a lot of steam . . . and in public.

Next time you write something about a large man hauling back from the brink of a precipice by means of a large car, just mention that the car was a Dodge, will you?" OK, L. L. Richardson, here's a spot of free advertising for you.

And so it goes. You can't win. But when you're going to pass a significant milestone on your next birthday, you don't even want to. You take it out in ordering a large slab of plywood to stiffen your mattress, you get out the heating pad to pamper your sciatica, and you unlax with a whodunit, one eye on the alarm clock which will rouse you at the crack of dawn to grind out more priceless gems for the Dallas Post.

SO, IT'S 1962!

Signs of advancing age:

An inability to stand on one foot and insert the other foot into an overshoe without wobbling. A regretful goodby to that midnight cup of coffee, unless laced with a couple of sleeping pills. A realization that ham and cabbage, though toothsome, is not the recommended diet for a late dinner.

A farewell to steak, except when run through the A sigh of relinquishment when the deep dark chocolates are passed around, and a firm NO to the very idea of

A retreating hairline. A candid look into the mirror: where DID those lines

A pause at the foot of the hill. It is far steeper than it used to be and about a half mile longer. Counting steps helps: 980, 981, 982, one foot after the other. An arrival at the crest, completely blown. A slothful attitude toward the television. After all, the program will change after awhile, and it is too much trouble to hoist a sluggish body out of that contoured davenport. It takes a series of rocks back and forth, like rocking a car out of a snowdrift. Better to burrow into oblivion under a blanket of escape literature, closing the ears firmly to the commercials, swimming to the surface when the chosen program moving the china clippers and relegating them to a chilly bath of Polident. (It is important at this point to stay away from the mirror.)

The horrible discovery that the grands think you danced with George Washington.

An overpowering impulse NOT to stay up and welcome the New Year in.

Harry Bogart Elected Justice Of The Peace

tion as toll collector for the Penn- time. sylvania Turnpike Commission.

For The Biggest Bargains READ THE POST CLASSIFIED

Thursday night's zero weather closed the gap at Warden Place, and new era, but at times it feels more like the morning after.

Married: Dorothy Mae Davis to A surreptitious look around and about, before re-

A reluctance to admit that you are middle-aged until

Lake Completely Frozen

Harry Bogart, former Kingston Harveys Lake is now frozen over Tax Collector and Supervisor, has completely, with ice-fishing going been elected Justice of the Peace on at Alderson. The area's other ing committee very happy to be in Berwick where he now resides. major body of water, Huntsville featured on the center of the front Mr. Bogart has also taken a posi- reservoir, has been frozen for some

Every day may be the dawn of a