Rev. Edmondson To Speak At Sweet Valley Church
Rev. R. W. Edmondson, pastor of Shavertown Bible Church for sixteen years, and field director of Bible Missions to the American Indians, will be guest speaker at the First Christian Church, Sweet Valley, on Sunday at 7:30 p. m.
Rev. Edmondson recently spent two months surveying the Navajo Indian mission field. Many of the Indians live under the most primitive conditions, although quite a few of today's modern conveniences are available.
Bible missions to the American Indians has as its purpose to assist, in all practical ways, selected Protestant fundamental missionaries, and to interest Christian young people to dedicating their lives to missionary service.
The public is cordially invited.

David D. Evans, 64 Dies In His Sleep
David D. Evans, 64, died quietly in his sleep sometime during the early morning hours of Thursday, at his home on Ridge Street, Shavertown. He had not been in rugged health for several years, but was perfectly able to be about, and had even driven to Meshoppen the previous Sunday. He was discovered by his daughter, Mrs. John J. Dalton.
He was buried Monday afternoon in Denison Cemetery, Rev. Robert D. Yost conducting services from the Williams Funeral Home.
Afflicted with arthritis, which finally prevented him from climbing poles as an electrician with the Glen Alden Corporation, he retired after a 34 year employment seven years ago. His yard and garden were his pride. He kept up the place, and did some painting as well as gardening last summer.
He was a native of Edwardsville, son of the late Daniel D. and Margaret B. Davis Evans. In 1933 he moved to the Back Mountain.
He was a member of Shavertown Methodist Church; Kingston Lodge 395, F&AM; Caldwell Consistory; and Local 466, UMWA.
Surviving are: his widow, the former Hazel Frantz; a daughter, Mrs. Dalton, Shavertown; a brother Daniel, Shavertown; two grandchildren; two sisters: Mrs. Berton Riley, Shavertown; Mrs. Oscar Friis, Riverside, California.

Notice To Clergymen
Clergymen are again reminded that notices in the Church page, running week after week without change, will be discontinued unless the Dallas Post is notified that they are still correct. Frequently, changes occur in schedules, and members of a congregation get the wrong information. Much space is given to church announcements. The Post expects pastors to cooperate by keeping their notices up to date.

Dallas Methodist WSCS Executive Board Meets
Dallas Methodist WSCS executive board, meeting Monday afternoon at the church, laid plans for the approaching meeting on Tuesday of the WSCS. Assisting Mrs. Herbert Marley as hostesses at the 1 o'clock dessert which will precede the business session, are Mesdames Floyd Ide, Fred Welsh, John LaBerge and Edwin Stair.
An invitation is extended to all women to attend the second session of the current study program under leadership of Mrs. Raymond Kuhnert, this morning from 10:30 to 12. The Interfaith meeting is also scheduled for today at Temple Israel, 2 p. m.
Mrs. William Baker, Sr., presided; Mrs. Clarence LaBar led in prayer; Mrs. Lawrence Britton presented the minutes.

Military Rites
Services for William Barnard, 45, of Lovelton, were held Thursday afternoon from the Nulton Funeral Home, with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery. Tunkhannock American Legion Post conducted rites at the grave.
Mr. Barnard was pronounced dead on admission to Tyler Memorial Hospital Monday night after suffering a heart attack at his home.

Rev. Ralph Weatherly
Rev. Ralph Weatherly, retired rector of Grace Episcopal Church in Kingston, is temporarily talking services at Prince of Peace until Rev. William McClelland is replaced. Rev. Weatherly moved to Mt. Zion when he left the pastorate in Kingston, and has supplied pulpits upon occasion since that time.

THINGS I DON'T KNOW

by REV. CHARLES GILBERT

This is being written after being up since 6:30 to watch John Glenn orbit the earth. The flight as everybody knows was postponed.

I understand nothing of the sciences involved in any of those steps. It thrills me that men are poking their way into the depths and the heights to find out all they can about everything. I believe God favors that. He created the mind of man chock full of curiosity.

Look at that TV! I don't understand anything about it. Nor about the telephone. When I was about eight years old I asked a neighbor please to telephone the hospital to find out how my father was. It was a crank telephone, crude. But I don't know how it works—or worked.

In 1922 I put on headphones at a neighbor's and listened for the first time to a radio program. Terrible, but wonderful. How did it work? I dunno.

In 1897 I saw my first automobile—leading a parade in Binghamton. Since 1922 I have driven cars and still don't know what electricity is, only that a gasoline engine can't run without it.

How foolish I would be if I waited until I understood all about it before using electricity! I push a button, the lights come on; but I have had no answer to my question, "How does the juice down at the power plant know that I pushed that button to come running to my house to light my house?"

For over forty years I've been a minister. Read the Bible and said my prayers ever since I can remember. Thought about God a lot. Ought to know about Him. And how God answers prayer. And what magic words to use to get God's attention.

No, I don't know all about religion either. What do I know? Not much of anything. I've written lots of magazine articles, given lots of talks about prayer, but nothing about how it can work. Mostly I could tell about what has happened during years of experiments with prayer.

What a dumb egg I would really be if I didn't do all I can with prayer—like electricity—even though I don't understand all about it! From my experience with prayer all my life I think I shall continue to pray about everything under the sun and on every occasion until, well, I am an old man, "it may be in a better land!"

The first requirement for an author is to know what he writes about. This on "Things I Don't Know" may not even get in. I'm surrounded by Nature in her complete yearly cycle. When the buds begin to sprout I could write a whole page on "What I Don't Know About Nature About Me!"

Mrs. Hildebrant Will Be Missed

Everybody Loved That Sunny-Hearted Lady

Mrs. Margaret Hildebrant, long time resident of Dallas, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, West Dallas, early Thursday morning, going peacefully to sleep. A sufferer from diabetes, she had had a severe heart attack five years ago. Until a few days before her death, she had lived in her own home on Norton Avenue, where Rev. and Mrs. George Pickett, renting an apartment, cherished her as lovingly as if she had been a member of their own family.

She was buried Saturday afternoon in Hollenback Cemetery, Rev. Pickett assisting Rev. Russell Lawry at services from the Disque Funeral Home. Pallbearers were grandsons William J. Jr., J. Karl, and David A. Thomas; a grandnephew William Thomas; and friends Paul B. Shaver Jr., and Joseph Kernag.

In 1951, Mrs. Hildebrant, who always loved a social gathering, entertained all the friends who were once employed at General Hospital during her own employment there. Since that date, five of the friends had passed away: Lila White, Anna Nelson, Bessie Burke, Ida Tosh, and Elizabeth Barber. "Maggie" is the sixth to go.

"Maggie" couldn't bear to miss an auction. Each year she sat in the front row, taking it all in, delightfully. And she loved to find her name in the Dallas Post. When many another elderly woman might shrink from publicity, "Maggie" ate it up. "There's Maggie, getting her ad in the Dallas Post again," the family laughed, enjoying it along with her.

Everybody loved Mrs. Hildebrant. She was completely outgoing, enthusiastic extrovert, interested in everything and everybody. She was spared a tedious illness. But not even an illness could have sapped her cheerfulness. Dallas will miss her, and the Library Auction will never be the same.

Last Saturday, after a visit to her doctor, she knew that her days were numbered, and she went to

Theodore R. Dix Dies At Chester

Word has been received here of the death of a former Dallas man, Theodore "Ted" R. Dix, 73 at Crozier Hospital on January 24. His home was at 2 W. Mowry Street, Chester.

He had had extreme respiratory difficulties for the past two years and during the last two weeks his condition worsened and he contracted pneumonia.

Mr. Dix was a metallurgist and had worked in Delaware County and Wilkes-Barre. He was a graduate of Chester High School and Drexel Institute of Technology.

He was a former Professional baseball player and played with the Upland Team of the Big Four League and the Florida League.

During the thirties when the family lived in Dallas, Mr. Dix built the home owned by Paul Griffin on Lehman Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Dix were active in community life and with their two sons, Donald and William, were members of Dallas Methodist Church where Mr. Dix was a member of the Choir. For a while, he was a salesman with James F. Beseker in the automobile business.

After leaving Dallas, Mr. Dix's wife died in 1947. Later he remarried and his second wife Ruth B. who survives him, "A gracious and good lady," who in the words of her daughter's home, to spend her last hours.

A native of Wales, Mrs. Hildebrant was born February 10, 1882, daughter of the late James E. and Rachel Martin Trigg. She migrated to this country with her parents at the age of five. She resided in Wilkes-Barre prior to moving to Dallas 50 years ago. Mrs. Hildebrant was a member of Dallas Methodist Church, the church choir, the Ladies Aid and Brickell Bible Class. She also was active in the Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Also surviving are a son, William Thomas, Philadelphia; a sister, Mrs. Amos Shenk, Miami, Fla.; three grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren.

Dear Maggie: We hope you will like your ad in the paper. We love you.

What does your family use for money

when Dad is disabled?

Think how fast debts mount when paychecks stop, as they sometimes do during a long illness. That's why any family that depends on a salary for living expenses—needs Disability Income Insurance on the wage-earner. Monthly benefits (tax free) for any covered accident or sickness, can be as much as 75% of your regular salary. In cases of permanent and total disability, benefits under some plans continue for life. May we give you full details about Disability Income Insurance? No obligation.
