Sam Thompson Will Be Buried In Arlington

Former Dallas Man Succumbs After Heart Attack In Florida

(Contributed)

Friends and old neighbors in the Back Mountain Area were saddened Sunday morning by word of the death of Samuel W. Thompson, 68, resident of Dallas for several years, but more recently of Lakeland, Florida.

In 1957, after Sam had suffered severe heart attacks, he decided to make his home in the South where it was easier for him to breathe.

They bought a bungalow in Lakeland, left the Valley they had come to love, and settled down to a relaxed and easy life in the South.

But they left their hearts in the Back Mountain—and every summer, come sunny weather and early July, they and their paralyzed little wire-haired terrier drove north in time to revisit old friends and attend the Library Auction.

Sam was one of the 100 "Friends of the Library" to contribute $50 to launch the purchase of the Library building.

Last week Clara, alone in Florida, wrote friends from the hospital. "Three weeks ago Sam suffered another severe heart attack. He is critically ill and doesn't know me. The doctors say there is nothing more to do. I can't believe this is really happening."

A telephone call to the hospital Friday brought only the hollow response: "Sam has given up. He says: 'I am just too sick to fight anymore!'"

Clara's brother and dad arrived by plane Saturday evening at 10:30. At 5 a.m. Sunday, Sam died peacefully.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Samuel W. Thompson came to Kingston National Bank from Guaranty Trust Company, New York City, having previously been with Rutherford National Bank, Rutherford, N.J.

He served as a lieutenant during the Mexican border disturbance and during World War I and liked nothing better than to joke about the trials of a "short second lieut" giving orders to a tough top sergeant. His interest in military matters led him to become a student of the Civil War.

In Luzerne County, he was active in organizing Kingston Kiwanis Club. He was a member of the Masonic Order, Shrine and American Legion.

He was devoted to his wife and seldom was seen without her; even when he played golf, Clara was there watching. While living on Lehman Avenue, the Thompsons were members of Prince of Peace Church.

He is survived by his widow, the former Clara Bengna, of Rutherford and a sister, Olive, Mrs. Tracy Gerrity who made many friends in Dallas when they were here on visits.

Masonic funeral services were held Tuesday night from Thornton Funeral Home, Lakeland. Military services will be conducted today, Thursday, with burial in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

Clara's brother will go with her by train to Arlington; her father, who has been ill, will await her return in Lakeland.
