HOW NEW STAMP WAS ISSUED

We are living in exciting times and have witnessed some wonderful events, but I dare say, that the orbital flight of Astronaut John Glenn, raises highest.

Our government must have been pretty sure that the flight would be a success, for months ago the Post Office Department made secret plans to issue a four-cent stamp to commemorate America's first orbital space flight.

The plan was executed under strict security precautions so that only a few officials and a handful of government engravers and printers were aware of it. All the work of preparing the stamp was done after hours behind locked doors.

More than 300 postmasters, including Wilkes-Barre Postmaster William W. Davis, were sent sealed packages to hold for further instructions.

Then, on Tuesday, February 20, at the moment John Glenn was being retrieved from the Atlantic Ocean, postal inspectors in the 300 stations were notified by telephone to open the sealed cartons and make the new stamps available for immediate sale.

Thus for the first time in history, a stamp went on sale all over the nation on the first day of issue at the exact hour the event it memorialized was being enacted. This stamp will surely become a "must" in any stamp collector's collection.

Shavertown

This past week has been one in which the world of television played a great part. More women have complained that they didn't "get a thing done". In our book Colonel Glenn is tops, not only as an astronaut but as a good cleaning, God-fearing Christian family man. A friend of ours had the most annoying thing happen the day of Glenn's press conference. The television went completely black—the reason being a burned-out picture tube. A radio sure does come in handy in situations like this.

It was a great privilege to be part of the Heart Drive. While Mommy prepared the Sunday repast, Daddy went door-to-door acquainting neighbors concerning this worthwhile endeavor. He was warmly greeted by all and was very successful in his solicitations. While playing the part of a Samaritan by taking care of a relative's dog, Mr. Martin stepped in to break up a fracas between two dogs and was severely bitten on the hand by one of them. The bite necessitated five sutures, a hurried call to Dr. R. E. Crompton who was in Church and a tetanus shot. (Not necessarily in that order). In the excitement Mr. Martin fell on the ice and is now suffering from a bruised back.
