Out Of This Building Will Come A New Church

Members of Dallas Free Methodist Church congregation have started the long hard job of salvaging the lumber from one of the abandoned buildings at Trucksville condemned to make way for the new Luzerne-Dallas highway.

They have until May 1 to complete the work. Here Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Smith are assisted by Harry Bigelow in removing partitions.

The lumber will be stored, if an available barn or shed can be found, until the congregation is ready to start construction on a new church. Among the others who are helping are: Rev. Paul Hosier, Dallas, District Superintendent of the Free Methodist Church; Tom Gansel, Sweet Valley, a member of the congregation, and boys from the Sunday School Classes who help to pull nails.

Rev. Smith said all except the bearing partitions will be removed from the first and second floors and then the work of removing the roof will start. "Right now", he said, "we have to quit rather early because there is no electricity in the building, but soon we will be working on the outside and then we can work until dark every day."

Rev. Smith would like to have all of the volunteer help he can get. He is especially anxious to find some place to store the lumber. He is always home between 12 and 1 and can be called then. The rest of the day, he and Mrs. Smith are using hammers and pinch bars to tear down the building as quickly as possible.

Rev. Smith would like to have all of the volunteer help he can get. He is especially anxious to find some place to store the lumber. He is always home between 12 and 1 and can be called then. The rest of the day, he and Mrs. Smith are using hammers and pinch bars to tear down the building as quickly as possible.

Rev. Smith said all except the bearing partitions will be removed from the first and second floors and then the work of removing the roof will start. "Right now", he said, "we have to quit rather early because there is no electricity in the building, but soon we will be working on the outside and then we can work until dark every day."

Members of Dallas Free Methodist Church congregation have started the long hard job of salvaging the lumber from one of the abandoned buildings at Trucksville condemned to make way for the new Luzerne-Dallas highway.

They have until May 1 to complete the work. Here Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Smith are assisted by Harry Bigelow in removing partitions.

The lumber will be stored, if an available barn or shed can be found, until the congregation is ready to start construction on a new church. Among the others who are helping are: Rev. Paul Hosier, Dallas, District Superintendent of the Free Methodist Church; Tom Gansel, Sweet Valley, a member of the congregation, and boys from the Sunday School Classes who help to pull nails.

Death Comes Instantly To Stephen Root

Death came instantaneously Monday afternoon to Stephen Root, as he worked happily about his yard in Noxen, clearing it for spring. He collapsed between one breath and the next.
 Services will be conducted from the Nulton Funeral Home this afternoon at 2, with burial in Orcutt Cemetery, Rev. John Gordon officiating.
 Mr. Root, 67, had not been ill. He belonged to Noxen Methodist Church. He was a retired employee of the Noxen Tannery.
 A native of Evans Falls, though spending most of his life in Noxen, he was son of the late Lyman and Elizabeth Mock Root.

He leaves his wife, the former Kathryn Irene Stubbs; a daughter, Mrs. Walter Winnie, of Gibson; a sister, Mrs. Leona Sorber, Wyoming; a brother, Alfred, Dallas, proprietor of Root's Transfer; granddaughters, Kay, Mabel, Diana and Deborah.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. James Miers, of Newark, Delaware; a son, Claude, Petersburg, Virginia; three grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Lola Rogan, Whitestone, N. Y.; a brother, Walter Allen, Wisconsin.

Pallbearers were Fred Dodson, George Landon, Basil Frantz, Franklin Patton, Donald Cosgrove, Ronald Spencer.
