

Prize-Winning Lake-Lehman Band Plans Spring Concert April 13, 14

The prize-winning Lake-Lehman Band, known in New York as "The band that doesn't move its eyeballs," plans its spring concert for Friday and Saturday evenings, April 13 and 14 in the Lehman gymnasium.

John Miliauskas' band, which won three trophies last year, two from Sherburn, N. Y. and one at the professional football game between the Browns and the Eagles in Philadelphia, where it performed between the halves and was nationally seen on television, has made a number of records. These will be on sale at the concert. Their sale will help a return trip to Sherburn, where Lake-Lehman Band will again march in a parade heretofore exclusively reserved for New York State bands. Last year it took first place in marching competition.

Band members practice for two hours each Monday night, parents cooperating by helping with transportation. It is a strictly business band, each player determined to reflect glory upon his outfit. One of the most appealing pictures the Dallas Post has ever published was the picture of the brass section making its round of Christmas joy on a zero night just before the holidays in 1960.

For six years Mr. Miliauskas has been directing the band, for the past three the combined band, since jointure was affected.

Richard Williams, in high shako, leads off. For six years Mr. Miliauskas has had a male drum major. This year, some of his key players are seniors, among them Dick.

The spring concert will feature some specialties. Narrators for the two novelties will be Richard Williams and Stephen Arndt.

Appearing in a trombone trio, will be Timothy Swanson, Joan Fielding, and Eunice Oney; a saxophone duo, Ronald Davenport and Francis Garrity; a trumpet trio, Larry Carpenter, Jay Ruckel, and Adam Gardecki.

Accompanist is Mary Ann Laskowski.

The program will open with appearance of the Junior Band. In this division, Linda Mekeel and Shirley Evans, fifth graders, will play a flute duet; Paul Niezgod and Jim Zbick, also fifth grade, a trumpet duet.

In the senior band section, color guard and twirlers will be featured. Many band members have played in the Brass Choir, West Side Conference Band, Northeastern District Band, State FFA Band, and All-State Band. Marguerite Hackling, clarinet, has played in West Side, Northeastern, and All-State; Jay Ruckel, trumpet, Brass Choir, West Side, and Northeastern, also Timothy Swanson and Joan Fielding, trombones.

Band officers are: Timothy Swanson, president; Sandra Yellitz, vice president; Beverly Lord, secretary; Kay Williams, treasurer; Mary Ann Laskowski, public relations.

No marching band would be complete without its color guards and its twirlers. Marie Hardisky is drum major. Flag twirlers are: Marilyn Livezey, Kay Williams, Gail Kelly, Pam Raklewicz, Joyce Spencer, Marsha Williams, Wendy Allen;

Twirlers: Marie Hardisky, Lorelei Briggs, Evelyn Devens, Diane Crumley, Danno Paul, Helen Dugan, Sharon Farver, Beverly Bonning, and Ruth Adamshick.

Librarians are Judy Slimak and Marlene Fedor.

30th Community Concert Series Features Roberta Peters, Stern

With Roberta Peters, famous Metropolitan Opera coloratura soprano, and Isaac Stern, America's great violinist, heading the 1962-63 Concert series, Wilkes-Barre Community Concert Association promises one of the finest concert series ever offered as their 30th anniversary present to the area.

Announcement of the four outstanding concerts being planned was made by Mrs. Ray W. Turner of Dallas, President. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, with Paul Paray conducting, will return for the second consecutive year and the outstanding two-piano team of Whittemore and Lowe, will also be scheduled.

Both Miss Peters and Mr. Stern will be making their first appearances in this area. Miss Peters has been heard at the Metropolitan this season in several of her most famous parts including the title role in "Lucia di Lammermoor".

Mr. Stern has only recently completed an extensive series of appearances in Western Europe and in Israel. In the latter country, he was the prime mover in instituting the first Israeli Music Festival which features such artists as Pablo Casals, the Budapest Quartet, and Rudolf Serkin, whose appearance in Wilkes-Barre is scheduled for May 7th, also under Community Concert auspices. Return of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra for a second successive year was dictated by the numerical requests received from the audience that heard the orchestra on its visit to Wilkes-Barre in November of last year. During its entire thirty years, the Wilkes-Barre Community Concert series has presented a symphony orchestra on its program every year.

Current members may renew their subscriptions now. Campaign for new members began April 2.
