

Wide Range Of Activity Planned For Sunday Open House At Retreat

Visitors to Retreat State Hospital this Sunday afternoon may join with the patients' choir in a Sing Along With Mitch, or may enjoy an exhibition of folk dancing. Information booths staffed by hospital personnel will direct visitors, and other booths will show what is being done in the areas of the hospital not open on Sunday to the public.

Programs will start at 1:30 and 3:30. In between times, a series of guided tours will be conducted to show visitors as much as possible of the facilities and work of the institution during annual Open House. Luzerne County Medical Society Auxiliary is collaborating with Retreat staff in putting on the annual event.

Refreshments will be served. Occupation Therapy department's invitation to all area high schools to submit poster work of students, was headed by St. Ann's Academy, Meyers High School, and Wyoming High School. Orrie Fred, a student at Meyers, took first place in competition. Posters will be on display. To find out the latest angles of patient treatment and rehabilitation, Sunday's Open House is the answer.

State Abandons Forest Fire Work Here To Volunteer Crews

Control of brush and forest fires in the Back Mountain area has been pretty much left to local volunteer fire companies.

This is the consensus of many local fire chiefs who say that the State Department of Forests and Waters has practically abandoned the Harvey Fire Tower located on Chestnut Ridge back of Irem Temple Country Club.

For many years the tower was manned during the hazardous forest fire season of spring and fall but that has not been the case in recent years.

There are also no organized forest fire crews in the Back Mountain area as there were for a number of years, when trained crews with specialized equipment were operating in Dallas, Kunkle and Noxen.

Now much of this work is handled by volunteers who leave their occupations to respond to the many brush fire alarms in Kingston, Dallas, Jackson, Lehman, Lake and Noxen Townships.

Fred Dodson of Harry Smith Company at Kunkle is of the opinion that the breakdown of trained fire crews came about because of the low wages paid fire fighters by the State Department of Forests and Waters.

Alvin Shaffer of Dr. Henry M. Laing Company, says interest in the Dallas Forest Fire Fighting Crew of which he was once a member, waned for lack of leadership. Young men lost interest because wages were only 85c per hour for hard dirty work and crews had to wait six months or a year before they received their checks.

"Now volunteer firemen fight all of these brush fires as a matter of civic duty at great inconvenience to themselves and with no reward except the satisfaction that they have prevented as much property damage as possible.

Kunkle Firemen Plan Supper

Harry F. Smith Fire Company is making big plans for its famous Chicken Supper to be held Wednesday, May 16 at Kunkle Community Hall.

birth of their first child, Edmund Charles, born April 16, at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital. The new arrival weighed eight pounds, eight ounces at birth. Mrs. Castellani is the former Janice Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Barnes, Huntsville, Mr. Castellani is the son of Mrs. Josephine Castellani, Sweet Valley.

Edmund Charles is the first grandchild of Mrs. Josephine Castellani and the first great-grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. William Castellani, Plains. He is the eleventh grandchild of the Ernest Barnes, Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Thurza Barnes, Lee Park.

Mrs. Castellani was formerly employed at the Pennsylvania State Institution at Dallas and Mr. Castellani is employed at Boonton, N. J. with the Gold Seal Builders Construction Co.

Serving, family style will start at 5, with plenty of delicious gravy, and everything. At the previous chicken supper more than 400 were served.

The following Sunday, May 20, the Firemen will hold Open House from noon through the afternoon at their newly completed 36 x 40 addition to the Fire House. The building is of concrete block construction and is equipped with two-way radio.

The Company is named for Harry S. Smith, son of Mrs. Fred Smith of Kunkle, who was killed during World War 2.

John Link Gets Big Trout Off His Dock

John Link, Harveys Lake, caught a beautiful 27-inch Lake Trout, weighing 7 1/4 pounds at the end of his dock on Saturday. He now has it on display at his Tavern at Warden Place.

John observes that the older anglers are the ones who are catching the nicest fish this season. "They don't seem to get excited or go in for fancy poles and bait. They just know how to catch em."
