jected into the evening's entertainment.

It was noticed by most of the students that very few teachers enjoyed participating in the swinging style of the twist.

Various tastes were displayed by the many types of gowns. Some were billowing floor-length, and others were short formals, but all were exceptionally beautiful. Most of the fellows were attired in summer tux.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Junior-Senior Prom queen by the class president, John Dana. Several minutes elapsed between the time of the announcement and the ascension of the queen, Diane Stash.

She was crowned and presented with one dozen long-stemmed red roses. A dance was then dedicated to Diane and her escort, Robert Margaret Fowler, Janice Thompson and Gail Mosier await their dates at the star-spangled entrance to the ballroom.
