

Floral Design Is Mrs. Ide's Hobby

spent on gathering and arranging the beautiful cartful of flowers. Everything was in readiness with Mrs. Ide and her companion, Mrs. Sterling Barnes, seated gracefully among the gorgeous blooms, attired in peasant costumes. All of a sudden something snapped and over backward tipped the two-wheel farm cart, tossing out flowers, Mrs. Ide, companion, et al. No one knew the difference when the cart reached the parade grounds for all was quickly gathered up and restored . . . but of course, Mrs. Ide, perfectionist that she is, has always felt the flower cart looked a mess. In spite of this mishap, the horse drawn flower cart will always be remembered as one of the lovely highlights of the July 4th Lehman parade.

When asked if the cart would be entered in this year's parade, Mrs. Ide said "definitely no." Twice as enough, she said, and then added with a sign that Old Dobbin had passed away and she didn't know where she could possibly find such a perfect sleepy old flower cart horse again.

And so, you see, there are many aspects to flower arranging. One learns much . . . meets interesting people . . . attains much pleasure and satisfaction . . . has unusual experiences. Mrs. Albert Ide recommends it highly.

Save Money

When you build a wood patio deck, you can save money by not painting it. Simply let the Douglas fir planks weather naturally. In about a season, they will bleach to an incomparable shade of silver.

Color for Deck

If you want color for your patio deck, introduce it by painting the deck railing or choosing colorful garden furniture. Painting Douglas fir deck boards will only add future maintenance.

Pool Pavilion

If you have a swimming pool, you'd be smart to build a small garden pavilion at the poolside for a cooling off spot. The structure can be a simple post and beam affair with a trellis style roof. Cover the top of the trellis roof with reed matting or vines for shade. Use sturdy Douglas fir for the pavilion.

Livable Loveliness

Kitchen cabinets built of west coast hemlock lumber are in demand because the wood's delicate champagne shade and fine vertical grain complement any color scheme.

SHORT AND SWEET

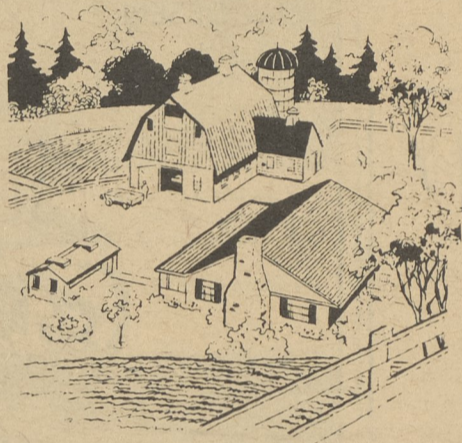

Isn't this the time of year you see small boys followed by Louisville sluggers? . . . President Kennedy will be 45 on May 19 . . . A current liquor ad shows Walt Whitman grinning over a fifth. The great poet was a teetotaler . . .

Don Scott of Snyder, N. Y., asks: "Isn't inflation merely a drop in the buck?" . . . The mighty elephant is sensitive to colds. An eminent U. S. zoologist says an effective prescription is composed of a bucket of gin, diluted with water and mixed with ginger . . .

An American Airlines survey shows that 50% of the U. S. population has never been up in a plane . . . The face of the late Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, founder of the Federal Reserve System, will appear on the new $50,000 bill . . . Ever met a school child (or adult) who knew all four verses of the Star Spangled Banner? . . .
