

Junior-Senior Prom

Here she is—the lovely Queen of the "Rendezvous of the Stars," Diane Stash, and her escort Robert Tupper.

During intermission, Photographer James Kozemchak caught this group at the foot of the stairs in the Club Lounge, left to right, front row: Judy Besteder, Barbara Urban, Carol Meyers, Kathy Kenny, Audrey Bolonis, Jackie Churry, Mary Lou Barma; Second row: Carolyn Blassick, Sandra Hoover, Betty Jean Davis and Gloria Grant.

William Printz, Nancy Sieber, William Norwig and Gloria Dolbear make a happy group during the pause between dances. Nancy was co-chairman of the Rendezvous along with John Wardell, chairman. Refreshments were cokes, mints, pretzels and potato chips.

Tupper. As they danced, her short gown of yellow chiffon was admired by all.

The climax of the Prom came when Bobby Baird led his orchestra into the last two songs of the evening, "I'll Be Seeing You" and "Good-night, Sweetheart." As the strains of the latter died away, many wistful couples left the ballroom and headed for their respective parties. Thus ended our "Rendezvous of the Stars."

In Explanation

Her lips were so near
That—what else could I do?
You'll be angry, I fear
But her lips were so near—
Well I can't make it clear,
Or explain it to you.
But—her lips were so near
That—what else could I do?

Ten-Year Plan

Lumbermen and paint and varnish manufacturers have formed a joint research committee whose aim is to perfect a trouble-free exterior coating for lumber siding which will last ten years.

Finish Paneling

Wallpaper lacquer is one of the best finishes for walls paneled in prestige woods like west coast hemlock and Douglas fir. Wallpaper lacquer adds no gloss or sheen.
