Dallas Seniors Fifty-three Years Ago

Fifty-three years ago the Class of 1909 graduated from Dallas Borough High School at Commencement exercises held in Dallas Methodist Church.

For three years it had attended classes in the two-story structure that still stands on Huntsville Road in Dallas Borough, now used as a grade school building.

Under the tutelage of the late Asa Lewis, principal, it was now prepared to face the world, knowing full well that it would have to forge ahead through its own initiative with no unemployment com-compensation to ease the struggle.

contractor valedictorian of the class; Edith Lauderbach, Mrs. John Jeter, Center Hill Road, Dallas; Lena Hallock, sister of Ralph Hallock, now Mrs. Edwin Marsteller, Wyoming; Harman C. White, deceased brother of Mrs. Grace Rustine, became a physician and held a high place in the Veteran's Bureau in Washington, D. C.; Pearl Holcomb, deceased; Louise Fisher; Caroline Morris, now Mrs. Howard Caperton, Dallas, was salutatorian of the class; Ralph Davenport; Mable Mott, now Mrs. Fred Clemow, Sweet Valley.

Recall To College Position Causes Longing for Quiet Life

FROM THE WILKES COLLEGE AND BEACON

According to Mrs. Gertrude Allen Doane, she will retire from her position as Dean of Women "for the second and last time." For those who were not here at the time, Mrs. Doane retired in 1959 after five and a half years of service to Wilkes. Concerning her return to Wilkes after a year and a half absence, Mrs. Doane remarked that "It was an unexpected year but a pleasant one. Now, my professional life has ended in all fairness to Wilkes College."

Since her return to the college, Mrs. Doane, with her charming and gracious personality, has given guidance and assistance to students with personal and academic problems. In addition to her duties as Dean of Women, she again assumed the position of faculty advisor to Theta Delta Rho and the assembly committee.

Upon completion of her duties at Wilkes, Mrs. Doane expects to spend the summer at her home in Idetown. She and her husband anticipate constant visits from their family. As Mrs. Doane stated, "I will have time to enjoy my grandchildren." Dr. and Mrs. Doane have eight grandchildren. After an eventful summer, Dr. and Mrs. Doane will spend the winter in Florida with their son.

While she is at home, Mrs. Doane will return to her interest in the bird sanctuary which enhances her backyard. Another hobby which delights her is the maintenance of the beautiful flowers surrounding her home.

"I will be able to renew friendships for which I have been unable to find time because of my full-time position here," Mrs. Doane added that "I will also have time to pick up the loose ends of my extracurricular activities in the community." Her plans include her active participation in welfare work at the state and local levels.

field, Pennsylvania and began her studies for a teaching career at Mansfield State Teachers College. After her graduation from Mansfield, she did advanced work at Emerson College, Boston, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Doane has been a prominent figure in welfare circles, serving as a member of the State Advisory Committee for the welfare of children in rural areas, a member of the Child Welfare Committee and the Planning Council of the Wyoming Valley Community Chest.

She was also a member of the Board of Public Assistance in Luzerne County, a member of the Executive Board of the Northeastern Heart Association, a member of the State Advisory Committee on Child Adoptions and president of the Children's Aid Society of Tioga County. Mrs. Doane is also past president of the Wyoming Valley Women's Club and the Pennsylvania State Medical Association's Women's Auxiliary.

The Doane family includes three sons, all doctors; a daughter, and eight grandchildren. During this past week, Mrs. Doane was feted at a TDR Senior Banquet.

Rural Branch Of Nesbitt Auxiliary To Man Contry Store For Festival

Rural Branch, Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, will present "The Country Store" booth at the Fifteenth Anniversary Garden Festival on the hospital lawn June 27. Women from Orange, Dymond Hollow and Center Moreland have been sewing, crocheting, knitting, weaving, and preserving for months in anticipation.

The Country Store will be located on the left side of the main entrance steps. There will be samples of rhubarb conserve, cherry, strawberry and raspberry jam, marmalade, elderberry, quince, wild grape and crab-apple jellies. Honey in the comb and real old-fashioned baking molasses and whole-wheat flour from local mills can be had as well as pickles, sweet and sour.

For a different and refreshing beverage, buttermilk churned fresh that morning and iced will be sold by the glass, and to go with it cheese and crackers.

Reminiscent of the old Country Store era will be these articles, all handmade-woven and crocheted rugs, quilts, delightful clove-scented hair-loom pomanders; pine and balsam needle pillows; great grandmother treasured; also in daily use was soap she made herself.

At the notions counter, laces from a local mill, pearl and bone buttons (almost antique), and beautiful scintillated enameled ware.

From farm and garden, fresh eggs, strawberries, lettuce and radishes. White blanch logs for your fireplace, black woods soil, tree seedlings, and to make your garden grow, sheep and rabbit fertilizer.

All this and much more has been donated by members, kind friends and merchants. Come and visit us and the 13 other colorful booths on June 27th.

Mrs. Harold Davenport, Festival Chairman of Rural Branch is assisted by Mrs. Helen Dymond, Mrs.

Draper Schoonover is procureur chairman. Anyone wishing to contribute to Country Store may either or any other member of Committee. Mrs. William James president of Rural Branch.

Congressman Dan Flood Is Awarded Service Pin

Congressman Daniel J. Flood has been awarded a twenty-year Service Pin and Certificate of Appreciation for his services to the Selective Service System, General Lewis Hershey, director of Selective Service, has announced.

General Hershey stated that award was made to the Congressman for his long and outstanding service as a member of Local Board 98, Wilkes-Barre, and particularly in his uncompensated capacity as an advisor to registrants.
