

Ninety Seniors Graduate From Lake-Lehman Schools

Judge Harold C. Kessinger addressed the largest class in Lake-Lehman history on "Tuning In On the Future" at Commencement Exercises Tuesday night in Lehman High School Gymnasium. A capacity audience attended the ceremonies.

For the class of ninety, for the faculty and for the audience it was an historic occasion. The Class of 1962 is the last class to graduate in the old building.

MARILY WOODLING, EDITOR
JANE DELKANIC, ASSISTANT

Miss Estelle O'Donnell of the Lehman Commercial Department died last Thursday, June 5, in Mercy Hospital.

Miss O'Donnell, a former resident of Kingston, was born in Scranton and a member of the St. Ignatius Church, Kingston. She was educated in Wilkes-Barre Public Schools and College Misericordia.

In 1943 she became a member of Lake-Lehman High School faculty where she headed the Commercial Department. She was also the Junior Class Sponsor and Roundtable advisor, Lake-Lehman yearbook.

She was liked and respected by not only the faculty but by those students who had the privilege knowing her personally.

Funeral services were held Friday morning, June 8.

Mrs. Anthony Marchakitus of the Language Department at Lehman will attend classes at Bucknell University for seven weeks this summer.

Mrs. Marchakitus will be taking the course under the N.D.E.A., National Defense Education Act plan. Her studies in Spanish will consist of advance conversation, teaching techniques, and laboratory work.

Mr. Frank Rash of Lehman Science Department, will also attend a seven week course at Rutgers University under the N.D.E.A. plan.

Miss Marion Huttenstine, of the English and Journalism departments at Lehman will attend a two-week course at Rutgers University on Journalism. This seminar is sponsored by the Newspaper Fund, Inc. of New York.

June 24 through June 29, Miss Linda Gosart and Miss Pat Kansky of Lehman will attend a Journalism course at Penn State.

The girls will stay at Simmons Hall and attend classes in the daytime. In the evening they will be free to do as they please; recreation will be provided for them.

In September the Lake-Lehman Newspaper Staff hopes to succeed in starting a new journalism system. Miss Huttenstine, the journalism advisor, introduced the program which was approved by the editors of the Crusader.

Well, another school year has slipped by and today Lake-Lehman students will say good-bye to friends and teachers until Septem-

Mary Frantz Outlines Plans For Antique Section Of July Auction

Yesterday afternoon, members of the Library Auction Antique committee were guests of chairman Mrs. Charles Frantz at her home in Jackson Township.

Two nice antiques, if possible one of them a piece of furniture, is the quota of each member of the antique committee.

Regulations for management of the stall in the Barn are the same as for last year, with nobody but committee members permitted in the locked enclosure. Mrs. Cardon will again stand by the auctioneer to steer him on value and back ground of special antiques offered over the block.

Members, in bringing their donations, are asked to jot down points of interest about the things, especially if there is local history involved.

Because the Barn will be crowded and because of the value of antiques, members will keep their donations in their own homes until the week before the Auction. The Barn will be open for their reception June 30 and July 1, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Some exceptionally nice colored glassware will go over the block. And the display table will again be a colorful focus for Auction fans.

The Early American bench now being decorated by Helen Gross, an expert in the field, is getting along nicely. It is the item which the antique committee will chance off.

ber when everyone will be ready for another year of good, hard work, this time in a new school. Until then, I'll say so-long.

The Antique Committee has attained such size this year that it was found advisable to appoint an executive committee. These members will serve: Florence Frantz, Eloise Titman, Louise Rutherford, Charlotte Cardon, Jody Moyer, Doris Pierce, and Mary Frantz

Grandson To Manage Stroud's Fruit Farm

Dick Stroud, who graduated from Lake-Lehman High School Tuesday night, is taking on the management of his grandfather's fruit farm on the Ricketts Glen highway. His younger brother Donald, still at Lake-Lehman will assist. Clifford Stroud's untimely death while spraying his apple trees after the heavy freeze in early May, left a business which had been in the family since his own father's days. Mrs. Stroud, reports Mrs. Stroud, have destroyed part of the strawberry crop this year, and fruit seems lighter than usual because of late frost damage. The Stroud place is noted for its fine fruits.

Herbert Jenkinse Are Married Forty Years

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jenkinse, Maple St., Trucksville, will celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary on July 3. The couple was married July 3, 1922 in Nazareth, the bride's uncle, Rev. M. M. Dry performing the ceremony.

There are two sons, Evan of Cranford, N.J. and Doran, Rahway, N.J.; also seven grandchildren.

Flood-Lights Installed At High-School Parking

Authorized by Dallas School Authority in January, outside lighting for Dallas High School illuminated the vast parking area for the first time on Monday night, the day before Commencement. Board members who had stumbled around in the dark all winter, locating their cars by instinct, were pleasantly surprised when they emerged from their June meeting, to find the entire lot as bright as day.

Six mercury luminaires on tall standards were installed by K. W. Rolands of Plymouth at his contract price of $5,970.

Small evergreens which had not weathered the winter in the long plot dividing the parking area, were replaced by Rave's Nursery.

Pupils Register Today

Registration for new students to be admitted to the Dallas School District will be received today from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Kindergarten registration will be made at Westmoreland Elementary School, Lehigh St., Trucksville.

Registration for Junior High School and Senior High School will be made at the respective buildings.

All new students are asked to bring birth and vaccination certificates with them.

In the case of secondary school students, it will be necessary for them to submit a transcript of their previous education, in the form of a report card.
