Community Welcomes Elder John G. Wirth

Elder John H. Wirth of San Diego has joined Elder Joseph L. Bankhead as representative of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in this area, following transfer of Elder M. Vern Davis to Summit, N.J.

Elder Wirth comes from San Diego. Prior to becoming interested in missionary work for the church to which his mother has always belonged, he worked as a deep-sea fisherman off the Pacific Coast in quest of albacore, and in the construction business.

The Mormon church requires two years of missionary work from its selected young men, and without remuneration. Elder Whitehead, with two college years behind him, and a certificate in accounting, expects to transfer his credits to a University, perhaps Brigham Young, and complete his education. Elder Wirth expects to go to college upon completion of his required two years in the mission field. Elder Davis will also complete his university education.

Right now, these two young men would like to move from Kingston to the Back Mountain. They are looking for a very small apartment, or perhaps two rooms with kitchen privileges. They promise to be neat, they're out most of the day and evening, coming back only to eat and sleep. See the Trading Post.
