FISHERMEN FIND TWO RED SHOULDERED HAWKS

A pair of young red shouldered hawks which Donald Weidner and his neighbour, Lewis Buckingham of Lehman Avenue found Saturday afternoon while fishing along Tunkhannock Creek both died shortly after the men brought them home in an attempt to save them.

The hawks, about five inches high, had apparently fallen out of their nest and into the stream when the anglers found them drenched on the stream bank.

One of the hawks died Saturday night and the other late Sunday after Edward Gdosky of the State Game Commission took it.

It is believed the hawks became chilled after their fall in the stream or they might have been saved.

Rome, Bonnie Rood, Margaret Rood, Marshall Rumbaugh, Richard Todd, Howard Weiner, Linda Wimmer, Donna Zelkas.
