It Was A Great Day For Hospital Auxiliary

It was a perfect day Wednesday for the Fiftieth Anniversary Festival of Nesbitt Memorial Hospital.

I was there the biggest part of the day and not being needed to work, I had a chance to see everything and to see the fine work all of the Auxiliaries did to make this Festival a huge success. All the Auxiliaries did their part and had fine representation, but I know only two or three women from them. Being a member of the Shavertown Branch, I must "blow our horn," as the saying goes.

I really believe that about eighty per cent of our members were present at some time during the day, as I could look around, and at one time count ten or twelve ladies from our Branch visiting and working very hard, then other times seeing members among the large crowd. Our Branch had three booths, the plants and flowers, drygoods and needlework, and artificial flower arrangements.

For me, it was an exciting day, and a great joy to feel I belong to such a fine group of women, who do so much good for the hospital.
