THREE-POINT SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

We were getting ready to attend the Charge Sunday School picnic Saturday night when I got a call from Valley Crest that one of the patients had been put on the critical list and was still conscious. So I dashed across the valley to minister to her. Got back in time so we all went to the Garden of Eden for the picnic supper, a little late but all had finished eating.

Garden of Eden is a place I had never seen. It was an ideal spot. I looked around for Adam and found him, Adam Young. It was a delight to visit with this long-time friend again. He and daughter Marion were there.

They live at Shavertown but keep their membership and attendance at Carverton church. Adam tells me his roses, tomatoes and corn have never been better and he takes delight in them. Know something about Adam? His peace and happiness are not derived from the roses, tomatoes and corn but rather from an inner sense of peace with God and in God with whom he and his family have walked in Christian fellowship for years. That sense of God shines in their faces and is reflected in their interests.

Adam has had his 85th birthday and is drawing nearer to the time when he will know the God with whom he has fellowshiped all the years, better than ever. He has something to look forward to. Those who know Adam Young and his daughter will, I think, know what I am talking about and agree with my observations.

At Mt. Zion church Sunday Pastor Reid baptized Gwen April Thomas, infant child of Roy and Peggy Thomas.

Also at church there was a guest singer, Grant Rivenburg from Maine, N. Y., who sang a duet with our Catherine, "Take My Hand Precious Lord." Something about their singing that number that also gets me down deep. They sang it for me at home later. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Rivenburg and daughter Lydia and a niece Helen attended Mt. Zion church and afterward were guests for dinner. They are long-time friends from Maine.

John and Marilyn Jenkins were in for the week-end visiting Mrs. Jenkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lewis. They are living in Boston. John, with five others, are with the Navy District Legal office which handles the Navy's legal problems for the New England district.

Last Sunday morning I was guest preacher for Rev. George Dickinson at Larksville at 9 and Plymouth at 11. This will continue for two more Sundays. I got to Plymouth from Larksville in time to sit in with the men's Sunday School class in the Plymouth kitchen where Harry Beacham leads in some lively discussions. That class of men seem to relish having their statements challenged by Harry, and Harry will throw out some questions which will startle the men into discussion. He has asked me to tell the class about Valley Crest next Sunday.

ORANGE

You should see the liveliness of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bedford's youngest. If one takes the baby's hands she'll walk right up with a smile. Oh yes, she is still — when she's asleep!

Jean Emanuel (Mrs. Bob Dymond of Long Island) says she likes my Dallas Post column but wishes it had more Orange items in it. So do I. But I don't get over that way often enough. If someone would call me up and tell me the goings-on I'd get it in. Here was some news to me — Jean has three children — Bobbie, Gale and Leigh. Well, I just can't keep up with the procession of the children coming, growing up and having children of their own, all in so very few years!

Stanley Jones tells me that the Franklin-Northmoreland Township Ambulance Association is in need of building up its funds. And to that end is sponsoring a Farmers Dance Friday night at Panti's Park on Cummings Pond. Marie Duffy is in charge of refreshments and Karl Besteder in charge of soft drinks. Contributions to the Association will be welcome.

AT 50TH REUNION
Joe Perry tells me that he recently attended the 50th reunion of his class at Penn State. From which he derived considerable pleasure. Joe says his arthritis is "changeable, like the weather." But he's not one to make a lot of fuss when the change is not in the right direction.

There's never a dull moment at Joe and Frieda Perry's right now. Their daughter Catherine who is now Mrs. William Gray was there with her husband. Mr. Gray is a Presbyterian minister and with his family returned from Scotland June 13. He was doing some studying there. The children are Ann, Danny and Eddie, a lively trio. Bill and Priscilla Perry's children from next door were around too, Willy, Sammy and baby creeper Margaret. Will and Sammy were wearing college T-shirts with Penn State 19?? on them. Shows where the minds of parents and grandparents lean!

Also with the Grays was a Scottish lassie friend, Jean Cozier. I believe they said she was a child's nurse. Mrs. Grace Evans Neil (Mrs. Harold) and daughter Marcia from California have been visiting the Evans relatives around Orange and are now driving back across the continent.
