Dallas Ambulance needs you, if you are available during the day and would like to be a crewman.

According to Assistant Chief of Police Ray Titus, the situation has become such that none of the scheduled day-crew is available, and men have been found at the last minute.

After 5:30 there is always manpower. The problem is to find crewmembers that can get away from their work during the day.

No one who is interested should pass up the opportunity to help staff this efficient and highly respected organization.
