

Mt. Zion Lightning Hits Preacher's Home

Just how close can a bolt of lightning come without hurting you? I thought it was close enough when I was pastor at Carverton. I was sitting in my upstairs study near the foot of the attic stairs. At the top of the attic stairs was a fuse box where the electric wire went to the barn light. A crash of lightning came and I smelled hot metal. I went up the attic stairs and there lay pieces of shattered and burnt fuses all over the floor. That was close enough!

A week ago Monday night there was a bang-banger of a thunder storm. Lights were out. Then a sudden snap-crash which brought everybody wide awake, asking me downstairs if I were all right. I wasn't very wide awake but answered twice, "Yes, I'm all right." In the morning we found that the phone was dead and on another line notified the office. Later that morning the repair men came and repaired it.

They said the lightning struck our line and the trouble was in the little phone box on the corner of the house. That was about six feet from where I lay sleeping! That was close enough, but it was all enclosed in the phone wire or possibly the lightning rod cable running into the ground beside it. No mark on the house.

Thanks, Lord, for the gift of life continuing! Amen.

Doings To And Around Houses

Jerry Shaffer is painting his house (the former Paul Smith place) white. Doing it himself.

The Prebola place in the woods on the road to Mt. Zion Church is nearing completion. He has had Mr. Everetts in there with his bulldozer grading the grounds.

Norman Lewis is having his house painted a dark red, adding much to the attractiveness of the house among the evergreens.

Nelson Lewis has torn off the front porch of his house and built a modern "stoop", making a neat job of it.

PROGRESS ON ROAD

The Carverton parsonage-to-Sutton Creek road is beginning to get its crushed rock base preparatory to black topping. Don't try driving over that rock stuff if you don't have to. It will take too much out of your car. On the other hand, perhaps that will be all smoothed up by the time this paper comes out.

It looks along our road as if there might be early prospect of beginning to build shoulders and lay the rock base. Again I would say that by the time the paper comes out the road will be that far along.

Letter From Marine

A nice letter from "our marine" Gene LaBar at Cherry Point. Says, "It is a little hard to find things to say as not too much goes on here. I am looking forward to playing football right now. I hope to make a better showing this year than I did last year."

Supply Pastor
Last Sunday morning we all went to Simpson Methodist Church on North Main avenue Scranton where I preached. I think I preached there one Sunday two years ago. One thing that pleased me was to hear that the lady soloist during the school year has a junior choir of
