14th Flaming Foliage Fete

Pennsylvania's autumn leaves, with more colors than any other state, will be honored at the 14th annual Flaming Foliage Festival at Renovo on October 13-14.

Renovo, in the Bucktail Canyon among the Allegheny Mountains, is located in one of the most scenic areas in the East. It lies 55 miles northwest of Williamsport on U.S. 120.

Saturday's program will include a "parade of queens," contestants for the title of flaming foliage queen, high school bands and other marching units. The Queen's Ball, highlight of the day, will be held at Renovo High School at 9 p.m.

A full schedule on Sunday calls for numerous events at Hyner Airport where the queen will be crowned: A varied program of music and remarks has been planned. Dr. Eric Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, will deliver the principal address.

Tina Nichols, 1961 queen from State College, will crown the 1962 winner. Miss Pennsylvania, Crystale Martin of Milton, will be present. The 1962 queen will receive a scholarship presented by Senator George B. Stevenson of Lock Haven.

Sees Pa. Farms As Year-Round Vacation Mecca

Pennsylvania farms can very well become a mecca for city dwellers seeking a relaxed year-round vacation resort, State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning said recently on the basis of current population trends and farm facilities in the state.

"Over 2.7 million people live in the rural areas of the Commonwealth," Dr. Henning said. "Much to the surprise of most people, our state has the highest total rural population in the nation. In addition, our farms are highly diversified and are important to the economy of all areas in the state."

"It would appear to me," the Secretary continued, "that a great vacation and tourist potential is just waiting to be developed in our rural areas. We have the climate, the land, the facilities, and the people."

He suggested that farmers could convert large farm homes into "dude ranches" thus offering restful vacation homes and possibly featuring horseback riding, hiking, or just taking it easy by feeding the chickens. Farms also could offer the type of vacation resort that would allow a family to relax together. Another advantage of farms for vacation sites is their proximity to all urban areas.

The Secretary singled out Lancaster County as an impressive agricultural area and commented:

"The farm scene in Lancaster County is one of great diversity. Not only do the farms contribute heavily to the overall agricultural situation in the state, but they have earned a reputation as a tourist attraction for the area."

"Agriculture is important in nearly all our counties and if tourists are interested in specialties, they can find fruit orchards in Adams, Erie and Franklin Counties, dairy farms in Lancaster, Bradford and Susquehanna Counties, sheep in Greene and Washington Counties, livestock and poultry in Lancaster and York Counties, and potatoes in Lehigh and Erie Counties."

"It is not too far from reality to believe that the children's song, 'Old MacDonald had a Farm,' will become the future vacation call for urban dwellers all over the country."

Many points of interest are available in the mountainous area near Renovo including four state parks: Hyner Run, Kettle Creek, Ole Bull and Sinemahoning, as well as the Bucktail Canyon. The canyon is named for the famed Civil War Bucktail Regiment. Organized in Smethport, members of the regiment wore deer tails on their caps.

A new 50-page booklet in four colors on Pennsylvania's autumn foliage is available free from the Travel Development Bureau, Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, Harrisburg 1, Penna.

266 Litter Bug Arrests Made In Pa. In 3 Years

Police have arrested 266 litter bugs since the enactment of the Anti-Litter Law in 1959, the Department of Highways said.

A total of 256 convictions resulted with the remaining 10 cases discharged. This is record of 96 percent convictions.

The law provides for a $100 fine on conviction for the offense.

The Department for many years sought to end the practice but it was not until the $100 fine provision was enacted that the campaign became effective.

A previous act passed in 1956 provided for a $50 fine.

Erection of the green and white anti-litter sign on the State highway system has been credited with the better observance of the law, the Department states. The State Police enforce the law vigorously.
