McShea Conducts Government Case

Concludes Inquiry Of Steamship Lines

Roger A. McShea III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger McShea, Demunds Road, Pa., Hearing Counsel for the Federal Maritime Commission in Washington, D.C. has successfully concluded a government investigation into the activities of several transatlantic steamship companies by persuading the Commission, that United States Lines, Home Lines, Compania Espanola de Navegacion, and Compania Transatlantica Espanola (Spanish Line), during the years 1954 and 1955, entered into and carried out a secret agreement fixing rates in the Spanish/United States trade.

Brilliant Counsel

ROGER MCSHEA

Such agreements violate the United States Shipping Act of 1916, by the terms of which all international ocean-going commerce involving either exports from or imports into United States ports, is subjected to the regulation of the United States Government, specifically the Federal Maritime Commission.

The main duty of the Commission is to protect American exporters, importers and those who are more indirectly involved in foreign trade, from unfair and discriminatory activities of ocean-going steamship companies.

The Commission's Report in Mr. McShea's case, one of several investigations instituted as a result of the much publicized Report of Congressman Emanuel Celler's inquiry into Monopoly Problems in Regulated Industries, was issued on August 30, 1962.

Mr. McShea was engaged by the maritime agency after his graduation from Georgetown University Law School in October, 1961. He graduated, cum laude, from the University of Notre Dame in 1958 after a five-year tour of military duty from 1950 to 1955, during the major portion of which he served as a navigator and commissioned officer in the United States Air Force both at home and abroad.

Mr. McShea's father, Roger A. McShea, Jr., a lifetime resident of Pennsylvania, is Vice-President, Financial of Pennsylvania Gas and Water Company.

Raises Huge Potatoes

Boyd Meade, Upper Demund Road, Dallas Township has come up with what looks like a record-size potato. In a small backyard garden with the use of ordinary fertilizer and a smattering of cow manure, Boyd dug up yesterday a beautiful thin skinned, white potato that measured 6 1/2 inches by 5 1/2 inches and weighed 2 lbs. and 7 ounces. A meal for the whole family out of one potato.
