Mt. Zion

There was so much world shak-ing news over the weekend that it almost overshadowed local affairs. We were thinking of how many people would be affected by rushing events and then we thought of "our" Gene LaBar, our marine down at Cherry Point. We knew that everybody in the Service would be more or less on the alert. Now the news seems to have brightened up some.

Speaking of the LaBars, "little sister" Sharon (who is really grown up enough to sing solos and is generally useful) went down to Philadelphia for her interview at Pennsylvania Hospital where she has applied for admission as a student nurse. We hope for the best for her.

Pastor Reid got a "bug" from somewhere, ran up a fever and his plans to the doctor to let him preach Sunday didn't work. So I preached the rounds, saw a lot of old friends and neighbors from up front, but had no time to greet them. I wanted to get to the next place on time, touched ground two or three times on my space travel, and finished off at Mt. Zion where I did get a chance to shake hands at the door.

Fashion Show And Games Enjoyed By Happy Crowd

Many door prizes ranging from bushels of apples, pumpkins, flowers, a pot of tea bags from Nova Scotia, pens, perfume, and money were en-joyed by members and guests of Dal-las Chapter 396 Order of Eastern Star at the "FASHION SHOW AND GAME PARTY", Dallas Junior High School, Wednesday, October 24. Step-hen Johnson was most happy to be winner of the hand knitted afghan.

Before door prizes were awarded, Diane Myers sang "Autum Leaves" and "Love's a Merchant". Her ac-companist was Virginia Swanson.

Then the versatile Mrs. Agnes Myers cleverly narrated the "Fashion Show", which proved to be a farce, using "The Clothes Day of a Club Woman" as the theme and modeled by Bina Holdredge, Ruth Bennett, Genevieve Fisk, Evelyn Smith, Mary Frances Dendler, Norma Bigelow, Ruth Ambrose, and Virginia Swanson. All this talent made for a hil-arious constant uproar!

Cards and games were played after which tasty refreshments were ser-ved from a tea table decorated with yellow tapers and bronze and yellow mums.

At the close of the evening, of re-laxation and fun a guest asked, "Whn will you have another 'Game Night?' Next year?"
