Master Mason Leaves Enduring Memorials

Dallas' master stone-mason died Saturday morning at his home in the Roushey Plot. Monuments to William H. Martin abound throughout the area. Stone walls, stone houses, stone fireplaces, cobbled patios, an enduring memorial to a man who saw beauty in the rugged native stone of Pennsylvania, who paused in fitting a stone expertly into its appointed place to say "Isn't that a beautiful stone? I've never seen a more beautiful stone."

Mr. Martin could build a fireplace that would unflinchingly draw, no matter what direction the wind blew. The impressive stone wall around the Newberry Estate on Pioneer Avenue was his work, as were many of the stone walls on Lake Street.

Over the years, parking areas have been increased to provide space for a steadily growing congregation. Rev. Ralph Weatherly, rector emeritus of Grace Church, and substitute during the early part of this year when the congregation was without a pastor, will be present for the installation, together with many other clergymen from the Diocese.

He was buried on Monday in Warden Cemetery, Rev. William Watson, pastor of East Dallas Methodist Church, conducting services from the Disque Funeral Home.

Bishop Of Diocese Of Bethlehem To Install Prince Of Peace Rector

This Sunday afternoon at 4, traditional ceremonies conducted by the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Warnecke, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem, will make official the status of Rev. John S. Prater as rector of Prince of Peace Episcopal Church.

The public is invited to attend this first Institution Service held in the edifice.

The Prince of Peace Church, in the beginning a mission church under the aegis of Grace Episcopal Church during the ministry of Rev. Ralph Weatherly, became a self-supporting parish in 1961, when Rev. William Williams was rector.

When the congregation was first formed, Shavertown Fire Hall was the meeting place. Since the edifice was built, a parish hall has been constructed, and this hall, though adequate at the time, was expanded in 1957 to satisfy the needs of a growing congregation.

Over the years, parking areas have been increased to provide space for a steadily growing congregation. Rev. Ralph Weatherly, rector emeritus of Grace Church, and substitute during the early part of this year when the congregation was without a pastor, will be present for the installation, together with many other clergymen from the Diocese.
