Matter of fact, we know you will!

Pennsylvania Holstein Convention At Hotel Sterling Nov. 15 And 16

Holstein breeder from all parts of Pennsylvania will attend the Eighth Annual Convention of Pennsylvania Holstein Association at the Sterling Hotel in Wilkes-Barre November 15 and 16. William L. Conyngham, Trucksville, Convention Chairman, reports that this will be one of the outstanding conventions of the association.

The opening Thursday afternoon session will feature a Milk Marketing Conference with Joe Taylor, Dairy Science Specialist, Pennsylvania State University, as moderator. Members of the panel are Myron Clark, American Dairy Association; H. R. Geisinger, Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers; F. R. Swicker, Holstein breeder; Dr. A. J. Pollard, New York-New Jersey Market Administrators Office.

The Thursday evening feature is a Smorgasbord and an informal mixer.

Dairymen are naturally early risers and their convention will be no exception. Friday's session will start with a breakfast program that includes R. Gilbert Porter, Beacon Milling Co., and Wally Wagoner, Farm Director, WNBFTV, Binghamton, N. Y.

Obie Snider, Imler, Pa., president of the State Association, will be in charge of the business meetings during the morning and early afternoon.

The main convention speaker, who will be on the program Friday afternoon, is Horace A. Backus, Mexico, N. Y., head of the R. Austin Backus cattle sales organization.

The convention banquet at 7 p.m., Friday evening, will be the closing session. Cecil Kreyson, Jr., Editor of the Tunkhannock Republican & New Age, will be the banquet speaker.

The dairyman's wife has a bit of a vacation treat in the Ladies' Program on Friday when they will visit historic Sweetland House and attend a luncheon and Fashion Show.

The Holstein Breeders of Northeastern Pennsylvania, who will be hosts for the convention, are going "all out" to make this convention a success. Convention Chairman Conyngham reports that over forty Holstein breeders and their wives will be involved in the planning and hosting committees.
