

Below Average Corn, Hay And Potato Crops

Pennsylvania's corn for grain crop today was estimated by the State Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Service at 41.1 million bushels on a basis of surveys completed during October.

Dewey O. Boster, chief statistician, said this figure is nearly a third under the 1961-corn yield and one-fifth below the 1951-60 average. Anticipated low corn yields and the hay storage during the summer drought prompted the harvesting of silage of many corn fields that had been planted for grain.

Absence of severe frost in most sections and improved soil moisture enabled corn generally to reach maturity. Rains also improved prospects for fall seeded grains and hay, and lengthened the pasture season.

Hay production figures remained unchanged at 2,455,000 tons, off 40 per cent from a year ago, and lowest of record going back to 1875.

Potatoes for 1962 were estimated at 6.9 million hundredweight, 17 per cent below 1961 and 15 per cent below average. Yields dropped 11 per cent on top of a 6 per cent decline in acreage.

Late summer Cobbler production was estimated at 594,000 cwt., an average yield of 165 cwt. per acre. Fall production was estimated at 6.3 million cwt., an average of 180 cwt. per acre. The set was reported lighter than normal throughout the state, but the tubers were of good size and excellent quality.

Growers in northern tier counties were harvesting an excellent quality crop. No disease or insect damage was reported.

During the last week of September movement of potatoes to storage was quite heavy in the western part of the state. However, in the eastern part the situation was reversed with most stocks moving directly to processors. Potatoes in eastern counties, very high in speci-

Fire Guts Home On Mountain

Fire Truck Drops Over Wooded Bank

Only the shell of the Walter Bartlett home on Deats Mountain was left standing yesterday afternoon, when fire, presumably starting in a defective chimney, gutted the two-story frame structure.

Kunkle and Noxen firemen, unable to get close to the building with their trucks, ran hose for a considerable distance.

The house is three miles off the main highway 309 between Beaumont and Lutes Corners. There is no telephone.

The middle-aged couple lived alone. Alan Dymond, at the foot of the mountain, phoned in the alarm at 1:40. By 4 p.m. the fire was out.

At last reports, the Kunkle pumper was still on the scene. In maneuvering to get around a car left in the hilly woods road, the heavy truck dropped partially over the bank. Fred Dodson, Tom Landon, and other firemen, were still working to extricate it.
