Here's What Happened 341 Years Ago When First Thanksgiving Was Held

PEMBROKE, Mass.—The Pilgrims of Plymouth had reasons enough for holding a Thanksgiving celebration in November, 1621. They had survived a visitation of death that had taken half their numbers since coming to America. They had been delivered from Indian hostility. They had endured famine all Summer long while desperately laboring to raise a strange grain. That crop was now harvested—20 acres of Indian corn.

Now, in golden Autumn days, ducks and geese in untold numbers had suddenly appeared in Plymouth—manna from Heaven for the 25 children and 23 adults of the settlement. They must give thanks as a people to the God of Heaven, and so Governor Bradford had set a day for the great event—a day of prayer and feasting in the public square of their palisaded settlement. They would set an example for the heathen Indians and so they had invited Massasoit to be their guest at the festival.

Their impulsive invitation had hinted that the Indian king might share in their bounty. They had expected the king's brother, Quaquana, and a few of his chief captains as guests, little dreaming of the fierce competition that would assail easy-going Massasoit for inclusion in the royal party. Massasoit could not say no to Indian braves clamoring for a free meal. When the royal party appeared on Watson's Hill, across Town Brook, on the morning of the great day, there were no fewer than 90 hungry Indians in the party.

Pilgrim leaders were appalled at their predicament. The wild fowl they had killed and dressed, the lobsters that they had gathered, the bushels of clams that they had dug could prove but a snack for this multitude. The friendly Indian, Squanto, was sent to parley with the Indian king to head off the 90 hungry savages. Massasoit, however, rose to the occasion like the great sachem that he was. He had come to attend a banquet and a banquet there would be!

Turning to his followers, he made a speech, commanding them to return to the forest for deer and wild turkeys.

"No catchum, no eatum," added Squanto, impressively. For Three Days

The mighty hunters of Pokanoket soon returned in triumph with five slaughtered deer and wild turkeys innumerable. Indian cooks joined their hosts in this mighty barbecue.

When all was in readiness, gray-bearded Elder Brewster rose to give thanks to God. His eloquent prayer, thanking the Almighty for all His manifold mercies, may have seemed tedious to hungry children and to

Girl Scout Seasonal Program Is Outlined

Seasonal Girl Scout program was outlined Wednesday at a meeting of the Neighborhood Committee held at Dallas Methodist Church, Mrs. Vincent Makar presiding. Mrs. Fred Daley had charge of the opening ceremony assisted by Mrs. Harvey Kitchen, Mrs. Elwood Ide, and Mrs. C. Vaskas.

Christmas favors will be due December 20. Each troop is asked to make one ornament for the Girl Scout tree in the United Fund window. Be sure the troop number is on the ornament which must be at Girl Scout office by December 13.

All money from the Girl Scout Calendar sale is due December 1. If any troop wants a fine service project for the holiday season why not help the Marine Corps with the "Toys for Tots" campaign. They need help in the washing and dressing dolls between December 5 and 15th. Leaders are asked to call scout office and leave the address to which the dolls are to be delivered.

Senior Kickoff Tea was held Sunday, at the Girl Scout office. Mrs. Joseph Neizgoda will be the Juliette Lowe trainee in the Back Mountain District.

The Annual Council Dinner meeting is to be held January 8 at 6:30 at Coughlin High School. Reservations are due with the neighborhood chairman before January 3.

Present were Mesdames Regis Brice, Paul Menapace, Edgar Darby, Fred Daley, Frank Gelsleichter, Donald Smith, Elwood Ide, Darrel Crispell, Russell Lawry, Harvey Kitchen, Harry Crawford, Wesley Boyle, Harry Peiffer, Oliver Troup, Jr., C. Vaskas, Richard Smith, N. Scouton, Victor Smith.

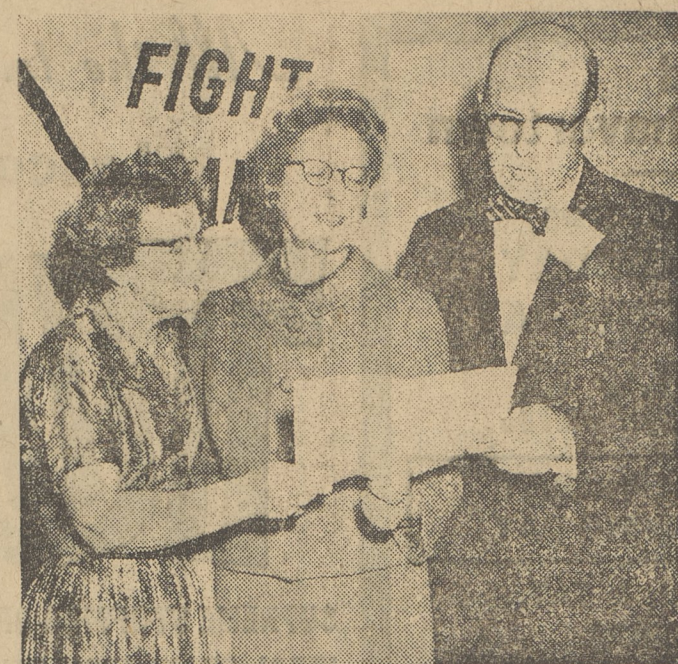

ravenous, uncomprehending Indians, but the prayer ended at last. Pilgrims and Indians ate until they could eat no more.

The Pilgrims were puzzled when the Indians set up their teepees on Watson's Hill that evening. Yet next morning when Massasoit and his ravenously hungry followers returned to the palisade, the Pilgrims realized that another barbecue was expected. So there was a second feast. Back Next Day

Again the Indians settled down that night on the nearby hill. Again next morning they returned for a third orgy of feasting. True to their tribal custom, the Indians ate until the last turkey drumstick was gnawed to the bone. Only then did they gather up the mats of their teepees, their bows and arrows, and vanish into the forest.

Thus the Pilgrim fathers observed their first Thanksgiving Day in America and cemented a friendship with Massasoit that was to endure for half a century.

Cancer Crusade Collects $54,000

Dr. Charles Burns, president of the Luzerne County Unit, American Cancer Society, checks the annual report with Mrs. Robert Perry, center, president of the Pennsylvania Division, and Miss Natalie Yori, RN, a member of the Luzerne County Unit's Board of Directors.

The report showed $54,224.08 in contributions from the annual Cancer Crusade with the Back Mountain area's total at $3,771.21. Robert W. Laux, Midland Dr. Dallas Twp., widely known Realtor and Insurer, was lauded by officials of the Luzerne County Unit, American Cancer Society, for his leadership in the annual Cancer Crusade which netted $54,224.08, the largest amount in the unit's participation in the Cancer Crusade.

Dr. Charles Burns, president, explained that Mr. Laux accepted the chairmanship after the death of Willits Coleman and accomplished an outstanding record with an enthusiastic group of volunteers during the Cancer Crusade.

"The support of the public enables the Luzerne County Unit to render services on an accelerated basis with more patients receiving assistance than ever before," Dr. Burns stated. In reviewing the annual report, Dr. Burns called attention to the fact that the Luzerne County used over 50% of its 1961-1962 expenditures for the care of cancer victims in Luzerne County as compared to a national average of 20% in this field.

Another highlight of the report was the treatment of more than 200 persons and providing more than 100,000 dressings for 119 patients in the year's time.

Dr. Burns noted that among the special programs offered by the Luzerne County Unit, more and more victims are relying on the Rehabilitation Program which offers instruction in Esophageal Speech given by Mrs. Carl Nitsche, speech therapist.

He praised the efforts of volunteers, both in the fund-raising division and working with cancer victims.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott is executive director of the Luzerne County Unit.

Rural Carriers Help Survey Of Farm Livestock

Farmers Asked To Answer Cards Now Being Distributed

Postmaster Edward Buckley has announced that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing 1962 Livestock Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about November 17. Livestock cards will be placed in the mail boxes of a sample group of farmers served by Dallas Post Office.

This Livestock survey is one of two which the Post Office and Agriculture Departments cooperatively conduct each year. The other one takes place in May.

The November Survey provides basic information to Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service in Harrisburg, for estimating livestock numbers on farms, livestock production, the size of the pig crop this fall; the calf crop; the lamb crop; chickens raised; the milk cow numbers on farms. Reports from a cross-section sample of farmers provide the cornerstone for reliable and accurate forecasts.

To be sure this locality is well represented in the State-wide survey, Postmaster Buckley urges each patron receiving a livestock card to fill it out and return it to the carrier.

Rural Carriers participating are: Route 1; Lewis Reese; Route 2; Sheldon Drake; and Route 3; John Juris; Route 4; Albert Bellas.

Ambulance Meeting

Annual meeting of the Dallas Community Ambulance Association will be held at the Dallas Branch Building on December 9. Amendments to By Laws will be made.

How to have extra money

while you're in a HOSPITAL

If you're hospitalized this year (your chances are 1 in 8), perhaps your family will have plenty of money to get along. Or maybe they won't. Only you know the answer. But quite often, when the wage earner is hospitalized, most families badly need some extra "emergency money" coming in every week from their insurance company.

Townend To Direct Fallout Workshop

Col. Frank Townend, Yeager Avenue, is coordinator for a workshop today, for members of the building industry, covering the entire fallout shelter problem.

The workshop will be conducted at 1 this afternoon at Kingston Armory by Professor Lester Boyer, Jr., Pennsylvania State College. The professor is a graduate of the special course in Fallout Shelter Analysis.

Inviting "key personnel" in the construction industry, such as architects, engineers, builders, and contractors, Col. Townend said, "The present international tensions have stimulated active interest in civil defense, especially in self-protection measures." The workshop will cover the entire fallout shelter problem, including methods for identifying, improving, constructing, and improvising both community and family fallout shelters. Also, it will help to dispel misinformation now prevalent about fallout shelter problems.

The Luzerne County workshop is one of 200 being conducted this week throughout the country under auspices of the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense.
